TRUMAN HOLDS 'SELFISH' SLOW RECONVERSION

Denies Problems Are Serious

BY WILLARD EDWARDS

Gilbertsville, Ky., Oct. 10—President Truman today dedicated the $115,000,000 Kentucky dam on the Tennessee river 22 miles above Paducah and urged the development of the other great river valleys of America. This dam, located at the mouth of the Tennessee river, marks the completion of major construction work under the Tennessee Valley authority.

Departing from his prepared text, the President asserted the nation's reconversion problems were "not serious," but assailed "a few selfish men" whom he charged with trying to interfere with that program.

"We are having our little troubles—a few of them," the President said. "They are not serious. Just a blowup after a let-down from war. You remember what a terrible time we had the first two days after the Japanese folded up. Everybody had to blow off steam.

"Well, there is still some of that steam that wants to be blown off. And we still have a few selfish men who think more of their own personal interests than they do of the public welfare. But they are not going to prevail. You are not going to let them prevail. You are going to force everybody to get into this harness and push and pull until that great age I am prophesying comes about.

"We can't do it tomorow; we can't do it next month; we probably can't do it next year. It is going to take some time for us to realize just exactly what we have and what we will do with it.

Let's Go to Work

"Now, let's all go home and go to work. Cut out the foolishness and make this country what it ought to be—the greatest nation the sun has ever shone upon."

Turning to the TVA project, Mr. Truman said now that materials and man power are more plentiful, "the time has come to press forward" with similar valley projects.

America will meet the challenge, the President said, "and we will not listen to the whispers of the timid, that dreams like those of the Tennessee valley are impossible to accomplish."

Model for Other Valleys

The President said the policy of regional decentralization under which the Tennessee river has been harnessed for power, flood control, navigation and other purposes "ought to be followed in the other river valleys as regional agencies are created and set to work."

Commenting to reporters in advance of his address, the President said he had not retreated one step from his advocacy of a chain of regional "TVA's" as proposed by the late President Roosevelt.

Returns to Capital

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—President Truman returned to the capital this evening from a five day trip. He flew here from Paducah, Ky., where he went after dedicating a Tennessee Valley authority dam at Gilbertsville, Ky.

Plan Proposes 6,500 Planes, Say Senators

Replacements to Sail

PARIS, Oct. 10 (AP)—United States army headquarters announced today that 135,000 troops stationed in the United States would start moving into the European theater this month to relieve occupation veterans with more than 44 points.

The announcement said the size of the occupation forces now was "tentatively set at 370,000, including 39,000 officers."

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—The army air forces outlined a tentative peace time program—reported to call for 6,500 planes and 600,000 men—to members of the senate military committee today.

The senators were invited to the Pentagon building for luncheon and a "briefing" by Gen. Arnold, chief of the air forces, and Lt. Gen. Eaker, deputy chief, on their ideas of what size air force should be maintained in the future.

Details Are Told

The army made no announcement of the meeting and some of the senators—including Acting Chairman Johnson [D., Colo.]—told reporters afterward they thought the whole matter was "off the record."

Other senators, however, had not so understood it and related some of the details of what they were told.

These included a planned reduction within a year or less to an active force of 6,500 planes and 600,000 men as compared with a peak war time strength of 65,000 planes and 2,300,000 men.

Called a Minimum

Senators said this was described as an "interim force" but that they got the impression it was also the air command's view of the minimum needed in peace time.

The army calls it a "70 group program." An air group corresponds roughly to a ground force regiment, altho the number of men may vary with the type of planes—heavy, medium, or light bombers, or fighters.

Reveal Peace Time Bases

The senators also were shown a map designating the peace time bases the air forces propose to retain.

This showed Eglin field, Florida, as the AAF center. Maxwell field, Alabama, was listed as the air forces tactical school.

All the stations were described as government owned, or having been offered to the government, except for Truax field, Madison, Wis., which is proposed as a long range fighter station. Negotiations were said to be under way for acquisition of Truax. Truax is owned by the city of Madison. It was leased to the government.

Girl Sentenced to Die; Betrayed 165 Italians

ROME, Oct. 11 [Thursday]—(AP)—Marina Capelli, 21, was sentenced to death by a special court at Parma which convicted her of causing the executions of 165 Italian patriots in northern Italy, the news agency ANSA said today.

PLANE FIRM 'CANS' ARMY WEAPONS FOR 'WORLD WAR NO. 3'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—Just like tomatoes, cannon and machine guns left from World War II. can be canned for World War III. They'll keep for 50 years.

And any time the peace loving nations start trouble, Americans can just open the aluminum cans and start shooting. There won't be any trouble about where to throw the cans. Melt them and you have a supply of aluminum to make airplanes. Airplanes, tanks, and other vehicles could also be canned. It's largely a matter of making a prefabricated aluminum container to fit what's to be canned.

A senate national defense subcommittee heard the story today from Harry T. Rowland, vice president of the Glenn L. Martin company, airplane builders. His company is developing the plan at Baltimore under experimental contracts with the army.

HOUSE ARRANGES EARLY SESSION ON TAX MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—The house, which usually meets at noon, today arranged a 10 a. m. session tomorrow to speed passage of the first post-war tax cutting bill. As drawn, the measure would cut individual and business taxes by $5,300,000,000 in 1946.

The rules committee virtually banned any changes in the bill on the house floor by decreeing that no amendments could be considered unless offered by the ways and means committee. Some members criticized this as "gag rule."

The bill, in a $2,600,000,000 reduction of individual income burdens, excuses 12,000,000 low income persons paying any federal tax and stipulates that all other individuals shall have a 1946 cut of at least 10 per cent. It reduces corporate income levies and sets for next July 1 a sharp cut-back in excise taxes on such things as liquor, luggage, fur coats, jewelry, and cosmetics.

Stages Holdup to Rent Plane to Fly to Wife

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 10 [Special]—An ex-marine in a hurry to keep a date with his wife held up a loan company office in Faribault, Minn., today in order to get funds to charter an airplane to fly him to his appointment.

After a flight from Faribault to the Northport airport at White Bear, north of here, he was in the custody of St. Paul police tonight, his date still unkept. Police identified him as Roscoe Stamm, 24, of Faribault, and said he received an honorable discharge from the marine corps a year ago.

Stamm told police he was in Chicago this morning when he talked by telephone with his wife in Minneapolis. He arranged to meet her there tonight. He took a train from Chicago to Faribault, planning to proceed from there to Minneapolis later in the day.

Lacks Funds for Purchase

In Faribault he discovered that train connections were such he would be late for his date unless he found some other means of transportation. He hit upon the plan of buying an automobile and driving to Minneapolis—a distance of 40 miles. There was only one flaw in the plan. He lacked funds.

In the office of the Phoenix Loan company he pleaded for a $100 loan with Rita Flynn, a clerk and long time acquaintance. She turned him down.

"Then he pulled a gun," Miss Flynn told Faribault police. "He said if he couldn't borrow $100, he would take all we had. He scooped $485 out of the cash drawer and ran out."

Following Stamm's trail, police and the federal bureau of investigation learned he had hired a taxicab for an 18 mile ride to Kenyon, where there is an airport. There he hired Pilot Robert Boles to fly him to St. Paul.

Trailed from Airport

Boles, returning to his home field after the flight, said he had last seen Stamm in a restaurant at the Northport airport ordering a meal and giving a waitress directions to get him a taxicab to take him to Minneapolis. Several times during the trip, he said, Stamm mentioned the importance of his not keeping his wife waiting.

Alerted by the FBI, St. Paul police caught up with Stamm's taxicab. They said they had him in custody tonight and did not know if Mrs. Stamm was still waiting. Nor did they know why Stamm was afraid of keeping her waiting.

WOMAN COMMUNIST RULER OF BULGARIA, TRAVELERS REPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 10—Like Catherine I., who ruled the Russian empire 220 years ago, a woman today holds the destiny of Bulgaria, according to travelers arriving here. The woman is Sola Dragoicheva, head of the Bulgarian Communists.

The real dictator of Bulgaria, she rules the country upon direct orders from the Kremlin, according to these reports. She is secretary general of the Fatherland Front and the chief adviser of Premier Kimon Georgiev whom she escorts on all his tours of the country. She was present also during the conversations Georgiev had with Marshal Stalin in Moscow recently.

Sola, 45, divorced her Bulgarian husband and has a son, 16, who received special education in Moscow under Stalin's personal supervision. A Communist of long standing, she was imprisoned several times during the reign of the late King Boris.

TYPHOON HITS OKINAWA; 10,000 GIs HOMELESS

[By Wireless to the N. Y. News and The Chicago Tribune]

MANILA, Oct. 10—Ten thousand American soldiers were homeless today when a typhoon swept Okinawa, damaging tents, barracks, headquarters, and hospitals. There were five known dead, four of them Japanese, and six injured. Hangars on the air field were damaged and scores of planes smashed.

Many soldiers in the path of the storm sought shelter in Jap caves or in native tombs.

INDIAN SUMMER DUE IN CHICAGO FOR WEEK-END

Chicagoans may expect Indian summer weather to prevail this week-end, with temperatures in the 60s and no additional frosts. Forecaster E. S. Hanlon of the Chicago weather bureau said today should be fair, with a maximum temperature of 65 degrees. The frost yesterday was general thruout Illinois and Indiana, but was not severe. Lafayette, Ind., and Effingham, Ill., reported lows of 30 degrees. The low recording at Chicago airport early yesterday was 31 degrees. Light frosts were reported as far south as Memphis, Tenn., and Birmingham, Ala.

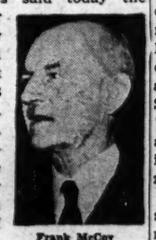
Allies Called to Meeting on Rule of Japan

M'Arthur Would Quit

TOKYO, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—Gen. MacArthur will resign supreme command in Japan should a four nation commission be appointed to control Nippon, a high staff officer stated tonight. He added MacArthur would "drop a few sticks of dynamite when he goes." At the same time the officer asserted MacArthur's command had not received "one iota of assistance or coöperation" from the Russian delegation here since occupation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—State Secretary Byrnes said today the projected far eastern advisory commission will hold its first meeting Oct. 23 in Washington. Supporting Gen. MacArthur's position as supreme allied commander in Japan, Byrnes said creation of the commission will not mean the sacrifice of United States control over Japanese occupation policies.



Frank McCoy

Later today the state department said Frank McCoy, president of the Foreign Policy association and retired army general, would represent the United States at the meeting. The state department also made public the terms under which the commission will meet, which were accepted by each of the participating governments before the first meeting was called.

Can Recommend Only

These limit the commission to making recommendations to the parent governments represented in the group in the following matters:

1. Formulation of "policies, principles, and standards by which the fulfillment by Japan of its obligations, under the instrument of surrender, may be determined."

2. Necessary steps and machinery "to insure the strict compliance by Japan" with the surrender terms.

3. "Such other matters as may be assigned to it by agreement of the participating governments."

Military Matters Exempt

It is provided specifically that the commission shall not make recommendations regarding conduct of military operations or territorial adjustments.

Byrnes said the commission already would have been in operation if the British government had not delayed its agreement to the proposal.

Byrnes said there is no intention of changing MacArthur's present status. He added that there has been no complaint from any of the allies over MacArthur's conduct of the occupation. His position as the man designated by the allies prior to the surrender to give orders to the Japanese emperor cannot be changed, the secretary asserted.

At his first news conference since returning from the London parleys, Byrnes declared flatly that this government is opposed to the Russian suggestion at the London parley for a four power control council to govern Japan. The United States, he promised, will continue its present occupation policies, at least for the time being.

Would Violate Terms

The Russian proposal was that a four power control council be created to administer Japanese occupation before the meeting of the new advisory commission. He explained that a control council as proposed by Russia would not fit in with the understanding on which the Japanese agreed to surrender—namely that their ruler, Hirohito, would be required to take orders only from the supreme commander.

As to the advisory commission, Byrnes said, its recommendations presumably would be made to the United States and if acceptable would be forwarded by this government to MacArthur in the form of the usual directives. Byrnes said there is no likelihood that MacArthur will come to the United States for the commission meeting.

HOUSE GROUP ASKS SHIFT IN POLICY BEFORE GRANTS

PSALM, USED AS RUSE, DISCLOSES GRIEF OF FINNS

BY HAL FOUST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 10—A psalm written in the 17th century, used as a ruse to outwit soviet censors, brought a message to Finland a few days ago of the despair among east Karelians who are now under Red rule after two years of democratic civilization during the Finnish occupation. It was one of two letters which furnished news on current conditions in this soviet area which is otherwise cloaked in Stalin's blackout of all his domain. The second letter was smuggled across the border. It told of families severed by post-war communization.

The first letter, passed by the censors, praised the new era in this northwestern soviet republic which was the scene of bolshevik massacres in 1921. It closed its cheerful description by saying: "Things are just like our hymn No. 289."

Hymn Tells of Sorrow

Psalm No. 289 in the Finnish Lutheran hymn book reads: "Am I only a stranger on the face of the earth? My trouble is without comparison anywhere. Will not my sorrow ever find relief? Will not my heart ever stop aching?

"When the sun rises my cares grow greater; by bitter grief, more bitter. At night when others go to rest tears and sorrow accompany me."

The hymnal reference was as pointed as the smuggled letter which read, in part, as follows:

"Flee into a hole in the ground but do not come back here. Our husbands are already separated from us wives. Next week our children will be taken from us to some other place." It was the same story which also has leaked into Helsinki from Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania, and Ingria [a small section of land adjacent to the Leningrad area, inhabited by the Finns since 1817].

Tell Fate of Colonists

Much heretofore unpublished war time history about east Karelia, including the fate of a colony of American Communists, was learned from a relief worker who spent six weeks there with the Finnish army in the spring of 1944. A few hundred persons, mainly of Finnish birth or ancestry, left the United States and Canada with their families, farm equipment, and animals in 1933 and 1934 to trade the hardships of America at the bottom of the depression for communal life under the Red flag.

"They had been lured by promises of an idealistic state," the relief worker related. "They had sold their autos and sailed with their savings to Russia where all could share alike with full employment.

"At the Sade kolhos [sade means sunshine and kolhos is a collectivist ural community] only three families remained of the 50 who originally built big barns, silos, and mansard roofed houses.

"The big kolhos outside Petrozavodsk was an assembly of barns, a

MOLOTOV AND ZHUKOV NAMED IN STRUGGLE AS STALIN SUCCESSOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

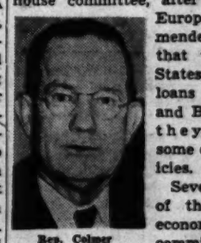
LONDON, Oct. 10—A bitter behind the scenes struggle for power is going on in Moscow with Marshal Zhukov and Foreign Commissar Molotov both trying to climb into Dictator Stalin's seat, according to reports in diplomatic circles tonight. Moscow radio announced today Stalin has left the Kremlin "for a short visit," but didn't say where he went.

Diplomats who attended the Potsdam conference reported Stalin was very ill. The conference there had to be delayed because of his indisposition. There were reports recently in Paris that Stalin might retire because of ill health.

Zhukov's aspiration to be dictator is reported to have the backing of the army. Molotov is backed by the Communist party. Stalin is 66 years old, which is said to be one factor in the present maneuvering by his potential successors.

Terms for Britain Also Proposed in Critical Report

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—A house committee, after a tour of Europe, recommended today that the United States withhold loans to Russia and Britain until they reverse some of their policies.



Rep. Colmer

Seven members of the post-war economic policy committee suggested in a statement that:

1. The U. S. S. R. adopt an "open door" attitude toward American technicians and the press.

2. Britain unlock trade barriers "inimical" to American interests.

3. Germany be reconstructed, without armaments of course, so it can feed itself and in time again become a factor in United States trade.

4. The United States expand field forces handling disposal of billions in surplus property abroad.

Talked with Stalin

The group returned on the Queen Elizabeth after two months in England, France, Germany, Luxemburg, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Persia, Egypt, Greece, and Italy.

Chairman Colmer [D., Miss.] told a news conference the members, visiting Marshal Stalin, "frankly talked business, and asked how he proposed to repay the $6,000,000,000 loan Russia is asking."

British leaders, including Prime Minister Attlee, also were asked what concessions they are willing to make in easing trade barriers.

Colmer acknowledged that in both instances the committee didn't get an "enthusiastic" response.

Seek to Advise Truman

A formal report on the findings will be made in about 10 days. Meanwhile, Colmer said, the members will seek an audience with President Truman "to pass on some helpful information."

The preliminary report was sharply critical of Russia, asserting that the soviets are "moving German industry, lock, stock, and barrel" whether it is war or nonwar industry. This threatens to place a burden of relief on the United States and on the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration, the group said.

Questions for Russia

Concerning Russia, the committee said her attitude is "raising a barrier to successful economic cooperation." It was proposed that no loans be made to the U. S. S. R. until she answers these questions:

How much of Russia's production is to be devoted to war materials and what percentage does she really need?

Just what are Russia's statistics on economic production?

Will Russia live up to the international agreements and withdraw troops from occupied lands?

What treaties for trade have been drawn between Russia and its satellite nations and neighbors?

The committee added that there should be an administration of relief on "nonpolitical lines which do not permit Russia to siphon off supplies to the motherland, requiring replacements by UNRRA and the United States."

Freedom of Press Asked

"The committee feels also," it was said, "that the full freedom for entry of our reporters and the protection of our rights to distribute American books, magazines, papers, periodicals and movies in the countries under Russian control in eastern Europe should be a condition for aid to these countries."

The statement said that it is time for "a stiffening" of America's attitude. Reflecting this, it was urged that the state department negotiate for "at least partial payment" of lend-lease in the form of tangible assets. In this category were suggested aviation rights, bases, raw materials, buildings and sites for embassies.

With Colmer on the trip were Representatives Zimmerman [D., Mo.], Wolverton [R., N. J.], Hope [R., Kas.], Wolcott [R., Mich.], Lefevre [R., N. Y.], and Simpson [R., Ill.].

U.S. IN SECURITY LEAGUE ALL WAY, STETTINIUS SAYS

'First in British Foreign Policy'—Attlee

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—British Prime Minister Attlee and Edward R. Stettinius Jr., of the United States said tonight their nations were dedicated to making the united nations' world security organization work.

There is no alternative, Attlee said, because "atomic energy has been liberated and that fact makes war merely a form of suicide for mankind."

Stettinius, former secretary of state who is chief American delegate to the united nations' council, asserted, "This time the United States is in it—all the way in it—and in it to stay."

Intend to Make a Success

King George said the security league "can be made the guardian of peace, the instrument of progress and a means by which the foundations of a new era in the history of mankind can be established."

The three spoke before the first public meeting of the United Nations association of Britain and Ireland, formerly the league of nations union.

Saying he spoke for all parties, Attlee set forth Britain's policy thus:

"It is the firm intention of his majesty's government to make the success of the united nations the primary objective of their foreign policy.

"We have come to a period in our history when mankind must either set up an institution of this kind or face consequences so appalling that the mind shrinks even from contemplating them.

"If war is to be avoided, there must be in the world something to do in the future what war has often done in the past—to make great decisions between the nations. There must be a means by which different countries can learn to work together for the benefit of all."

Problems Will Not Wait

Stettinius said:

"In the field of security, we need to begin on the task of providing the security council with the force it needs to maintain peace. The first step is to establish the military staff committee of the five permanent members of the security council."

Saying that there still were isolationists in the United States, Stettinius asserted that Britain had them, too, under another name, and added:

"There are isolationists in Europe, and I am sure that the soviet union also has them. But I am also certain that isolationists of any breed today are in fact no more than vestigial remains of the pre-atomic age."

Asserting that the United States was in the league "for keeps," Stettinius said:

"Our interests are involved in the peace and well being of Europe, and of Asia, and we shall support our interests on both continents, not in any sense for domination, but in the spirit of the united nations' charter, and as active partners in the cause of peace and security."

ATOMIC EXPERTS URGE FULL QUIZ BEFORE CONTROL

U. of C. Honored for A-Bomb Work

Shortly after Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago yesterday received a scroll presented by the war department in recognition of the university's part in developing the atomic bomb, a group of scientists who worked on the bomb here urged full investigation of all aspects of the atomic energy problem before congress enacts control legislation.

The scientists, organized as the Atomic Scientists of Chicago, who claim to represent 90 per cent of all scientists who worked on the atomic energy project at the university, called upon congress to establish a nonpartisan committee to hold both open and executive session hearings on control of atomic energy, and urged dissemination of information about the bomb to the American people.

Full Understanding Needed

"Only a full understanding of the new situation will enable the members of congress and the citizens of this country to solve intelligently the problems which now face us," the statement said.

The association said its members view with concern the possibility of hasty legislation concerning the control of future work in the field of atomic energy.

In receiving the war department scroll, presented by Maj. Gen. Leslie R. Groves at a ceremony in Mandel hall on the university campus, Dr. Hutchins said that scientists of all countries, including the enemy nations, contributed to development of the atomic bomb.

Several Hundred at Ceremony

Several hundred persons, including the entire staff of the atomic bomb project on the campus, and representatives of more than 100 institutions and firms which coöperated with the university in its development, witnessed the presentation.

"At a time when disclosure of scientific information in nucleonics is being debated, it is worthwhile to remind ourselves that we never would have had the atomic bomb if the ideas and experiments of scientists of every country, including those which were our enemies in the war, had not been available to us," Dr. Hutchins said.

MAY PROCLAIM MOTHER CABRINI SAINT NEXT MAY

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 10 (AP)—Msgr. Enrico Pucci's Vatican News service said seven new saints would be proclaimed in May, 1946, including the Blessed Francesca Saverio Cabrini, who founded the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. Mother Cabrini died in Chicago in 1917 and was beatified in 1938. Pucci also reported that a consistory could be "considered sure" for December, 1945, but he did not say how many new cardinals would be created. There was no official Vatican confirmation of Pucci's statements.

Rae E. Walters, regional director of the office of price administration, announced yesterday that hand operated lawn mowers would return to retail stores at approximately the same prices they sold for in March, 1942.

RED EDITOR QUITS TO GO BACK TO CATHOLIC FAITH

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Louis F. Budenz, managing editor of the Daily Worker, communist publication, announced tonight his resignation from the paper and the Communist party "to return to the faith of my fathers, the Catholic church."

Louis F. Budenz

In a statement released by Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, by whom he was accepted into the church at St. Patrick's cathedral, Budenz said "reason and faith have led to this happy step."

"In a storm tossed world the Catholic church is the great rock upon which human beings can refuge and a tower of strength," Budenz said in his statement.

"I have resigned the managing editorship of the Daily Worker and have severed my associations with the communist movement. Communism, I have found, aims to establish a tyranny over the human spirit; it is in unending conflict with religion and true freedom."

Msgr. Sheen said Budenz today left for South Bend, Ind., where he is to join the faculty of the University of Notre Dame on Nov. 1 in the department of economics.

SENTENCED FOR HAM THEFT

John Smith, 26, Negro, of 3262 S. Wabash av., was sentenced to six months in the Bridewell on a charge of stealing a ham by Judge John Zuris in Stockyards police court yesterday. Judge Zuris commented that it was Smith's 17th conviction.

PREDICTS ATOM WILL END LIMIT ON PLANE RANGE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Senators juggling the hottest scientific potato in history—atomic energy—heard today that the new power will give the airplane of the future a virtually unlimited range, because it won't be burdened with the heavy fuel loads carried by present day aircraft.

The prediction came from J. Carlton Ward Jr., president of Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation, who told a senate committee "the whole tactical concept of warfare will change for the nation that first solves the atomic source of power."

The vision of atomic powered aircraft was outlined by Ward before a special subcommittee on light metal aircraft which is carrying on a part of the senate's general investigation of national defense.

Justifies Expenses

Sen. Mitchell [D., Wash.], who was presiding, asked Ward if he thought almost any amount of money spent on developing atomic power for airplanes would be justified.

"I think our nation cannot do otherwise," the witness replied.

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] wanted to know whether it would be possible for industry to work on the development of an atomic engine without disclosing the secret of the atomic bomb.

Ward said there would have to be disclosure of how the bomb was detonated in connection with solving the problem of controling atomic heat.

Research Studied

Elsewhere in congress, another committee was studying just how scientific research in general is to be aided and stimulated in the atomic era.

Budget Director Smith, disagreeing with the views of some scientists, urged that complete authority over a proposed national science foundation be placed in the hands of a single administrator.

The house military committee today began a series of secret sessions on President Truman's request that congress set up a nine member commission to handle all domestic phases of atomic research and development.

In the senate, strong support apparently was forming behind a proposal by Sen. McMahon [D., Conn.] to create a special committee of nine to handle all legislation dealing with atomic energy.

Talk on Atomic Energy Will Be Given at N. U.

Prof. Harold P. Davis, chairman of the mathematics department at Northwestern university, will lecture at 7:30 o'clock tonight on the "Mathematical Aspects of Atomic Energy" in Lunt hall on the Evanston campus. The lecture, sponsored by Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics society, is free to the public.

KEEP BIG ARMY UNTIL REDS TELL AIMS: SEN. BALL

Peace Program First on List, He Says

The United States should delay demobilization of her forces until Russia agrees on basic principles to be applied to peace settlements, Sen. Ball [R., Minn.] last night told members of the north shore committee of the Independent Voters of Illinois meeting in New Trier Township High school, in Winnetka.

Like the Political Action committee, the I. V. I. is composed of supporters of New Deal and other internationalist theories. While the PAC seeks to organize the labor vote, the I. V. I. works with independent voters.

Sen. Ball asserted he is still confident that an international organization can be worked out despite the failure of the United States and Russia to reach an agreement at several meetings. He said he also was not dismayed by the failure of the recent foreign ministers' conference in London.

Sees Limit on Concessions

"There is a point beyond which we cannot go in making concessions to Russia," he said. He added that if the United States lends money to England, this country first should insist upon a settlement of the Palestine question.

"Until the united nations organization is set up and functioning," Sen. Ball told more than 1,200 persons at the meeting, "until it has proven its adequacy by experience, we dare not become so weak that our voice raised against aggression or injustice will be impotent, as it was in 1931 and 1936.

"Whatever our natural haste to get the boys back home, let's for the sake of the sons of those boys not go so far or so fast that the tragic record of appeasement of the warmakers during the 1930s becomes possible again."

International Problem First

The senator said that our task at home, "achieving greater prosperity and fuller opportunities and freedom for all people," will be easier if we solve the international problem.

"For only as we are assured of international stability and peace," he said, "can the scientific and industrial forces making for prosperity be fully released."

OPPOSITION MEETING IN PORTUGAL ASKS FOR FREE ELECTIONS

LISBON, Portugal, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—Completely free elections with, if possible, six months notice to enable political parties to get going again, were demanded at the first opposition meeting to be held legally in Portugal for 20 years.

The meeting, held in Lisbon Monday, was reported for the first time in the two largest morning newspapers today.

Application has been made to the civil governor of Oporto for permission to hold a similar meeting there, and the organizers hope to do the same in all other big centers in the country. Publication of the promised new decrees restoring various civil liberties is to begin tomorrow.

RUSSIA CHARGES GROUPS SEEK TO SAVE GERMANY

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Moscow radio today accused "influential" but unidentified American and British groups of working to preserve the "military and economic might of Germany."

The broadcast said that some representatives of allied administrations in Germany were encouraging the restoration of the German war potential and were backed by big groups of politicians and industrialists in the United States and Great Britain.

"They cloak their proceedings under benevolent intentions, such as if Germany is reduced to the rank of a second rate power industrially, then Europe as a whole will lose much of its cultural development," the broadcast said. "This is an utterly false basis."

GOETHE'S CLOCK IS TURNED BACK JUST FOR NIGHT

Ex-Pupils Return, but Shy from Climbing Stairs

Several hundred Chicagoans, many far past middle age, revisited last night a scene of their childhood—the old Goethe elementary school at 2236 N. Rockwell st.—to mark the 50th anniversary of its founding.

Counting children, grandchildren, and others, more than 1,000 attended. The spirits of all were gay. Some of the alumni, a little whiter and a little stouter, confined their reminiscing to the first floor because the stairs to the upper floors of the three story red schoolhouse were too difficult. "Just think," moaned one grandmotherly looking alumna, "I used to run up and down the three flights!"

First Principal Among Guests

The center of attention was Miss Ella C. Sullivan of the Edgewater Beach hotel, stately and white haired, who wore a corsage of roses and carnations presented by former pupils. Miss Sullivan was Goethe's first principal, serving from 1895, when it was erected, until 1900, when she became a district superintendent. She retired in 1930.

Those early years were arduous ones, Miss Sullivan recalled. The school was in a virtual wilderness, horse cars were the transportation, few streets were paved, and few experienced teachers would take jobs. Once, she said, Goethe had 13 teachers who never before had taught class. Miss Sullivan's most vivid memory, she said, was Lincoln's birthday of 1899, when she and her teachers were marooned in the school for two days by a blizzard.

Two Earlier Schools Recalled

Class historians recalled that the Goethe was the third of three schools on its present site. The first was the Maplewood school, built in 1870, when the area was outside Chicago and known as Maplewood. The second was the Hoffman school. Alert alumni noted that except for electric lighting the Goethe school of today looks pretty much the same as 40 and 50 years ago.

Among the former Goethe teachers who attended the golden anniversary reunion were Miss Minnie Dietz, 3656 N. Kedvale av.; Miss Gertrude Foote, 6225 N. Harlem av.; Miss Katherine Kelly, 32 N. Lavergne av., and Mrs. Harriet Hamman, 2535 Logan blvd. Ex-pupils included Mrs. Violet Warnecke Goebel, 1442 Farwell av.; Charles Strubbe, 4024 Eddy st.; C. Ballard Hale, 5615 Wayne av.; Peter MacDonald, 2539 N. St. Louis av.; Roy Wheeler, 840 Oakdale av., and Stephen Hill, 2245 N. Kedzie av.

MacArthur Bars Yanks from Tokyo Liquor Spots

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur's headquarters placed entertainment houses and stores selling alcoholic beverages off limits for American troops today after an American soldier was blinded by liquor bought in a Tokyo shop. A Tokyo broadcast said 211 geisha houses and 391 other entertainment spots were covered by the order.

U. S. AIR EXPERTS JOIN MONTREAL WORLD PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Oct. 10—Fifteen American air experts, including a meteorology crew, have arrived in Montreal in the last few days, making the United States delegation at the provisional international civil aviation conference the largest of any of the 36 nations belonging to the global body. Some of the nations have no representatives here.

The Americans are headed by Col. Gerald Brophy, representative on the important air transport committee, considering the problem of obtaining international air landing rights. The global body has only advisory and consultative powers in international aviation. It was formed at the Chicago air conference last fall.

An air transport subcommittee met in closed session today to try to find some formula for gaining blanket grants of international air rights so that the big air liners American operators want to put on the trans-Atlantic routes will have a right to set down in Europe, which they have not today. The committee is going to make a "fresh start" on the problem, laying aside the recommendations and debates in Chicago last fall, which resulted in sharp disagreement.

Spain's Embassy Handed Over to Exiles in Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—The Spanish embassy building in Mexico City was formally handed over by the Mexican government today to the Spanish republican government-in-exile. The embassy had been under the care of Portuguese representatives since the end of the Spanish civil war, since Mexico never recognized Franco's government.

Schools to Close

Chicago schools and banks will close tomorrow in observance of the anniversary of Christopher Columbus' discovery of America 453 years ago.

The Chicago Historical society, Clark st. and North av., said groups of school children would visit the society's permanent Columbus exhibit, which includes an anchor from the explorer's flagship, the Santa Maria, and a diorama depicting the voyage to North America. Models of the Santa Maria, the Nina, and the Pinta are on display in the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park.

Pupils at Columbus school, 2120 Augusta blvd., will present a tableau honoring Columbus in the school today. The Knights of Columbus in the archdiocese of Chicago will attend a pontifical solemn high mass at 12:10 p. m. tomorrow in the Church of the Assumption.

MEAT RATIONING TO BE OVER BY NOV. 15: WHERRY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] said today he was told "by a very high authority" that all meat will be point free "probably by Nov. 1 and not later than Nov. 15."

"And," he told a reporter, "that will result in more meat on the American dinner table than we have had for a long, long time."

The lower grade cuts of some types of meat recently were dropped from rationing. There has been no official statement as to when red points on all meat will be eliminated.

"There is no excuse for keeping points on meat," the Nebraskan asserted.

FLOOD OF FIERY ASPHALT PERILS MINING VILLAGE

Vernal, Utah, Oct. 10 (AP)—Molten gilsonite flowed like lava toward the modern mining community of Bonanza today as spurts of flame shot skyward from the 14 shafts of a mine wrecked last night by two explosions.

Miners who returned with rescue parties after evacuating their families were building dams to stem the flaming flow from the erupting mine shafts.

Gilsonite, also called uintaite, is a highly inflammable asphaltic mineral that burns like tar. It is used in the manufacture of paints, ammunition, and molded electrical accessories.

Fear Fire Danger

The greatest danger was that the gilsonite would ignite the homes of the 250 residents which were spared, along with their occupants, when the two blasts hurled mine shaft timbers into the sky. Only two homes were damaged.

The blaze from the explosions, cause of which is undetermined, leveled the mine buildings, but the fire was held to the mine property. It was still burning tonight. No men were in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Pour Water on Homes

During the night, miners who were not fighting the fires in the mine, poured water on their homes to prevent their igniting from the intense heat.

Operators of the gilsonite mine, one of several in western Colorado and eastern Utah, is the Barber Asphalt company.

Sheriff Ronald Preece said defective powder might have been responsible for the explosion.

Court to Rule Saturday on Opening Closed School

Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne of Circuit court said yesterday that he will give his decision in a mandamus suit to force the reopening of the closed Fairview Heights elementary school Saturday morning. Final arguments in the suit by parents of 35 children to compel the school board of district 81 and Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, to reopen the school were made during the afternoon.

BALL AND CHAIN FIXED ON LAVAL; HEAD IS SHAVED

New Trial Appeal Awaits De Gaulle's Return

BY ROBERT SAGE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 10—Pierre Laval was transferred at noon today from a dungeon cell in the law courts to the death house at Fresnes prison. His head was shaved, he was given the coarse uniform of a condemned man, and a ball and chain were attached to his ankle. He will not be allowed to receive visits from Madame Laval or his daughter, the countess De Chambrun.

[An NBC correspondent in Paris said the execution of Laval "probably" will take place about 3 a. m. Thursday (Chicago time).]

The only articles of furniture in Laval's new cell are a cot, a wooden chair, and a small table. He was permitted to retain his books and papers.

Await De Gaulle's Return

Meanwhile, Laval's lawyers have announced their intention to ask Gen. De Gaulle for a retrial on the ground that the original trial was irregularly conducted. It is understood the chief of the French state will receive them upon his return from Brussels.

No appeal from yesterday's verdict by the high court is possible but De Gaulle has the power to commute the death sentence to life imprisonment. It is likewise believed that a formula might be found for De Gaulle to order a retrial if he is convinced such a step is advisable.

A special commission automatically examines the dossiers of all condemned men, then passes them on to the chief of state with recommendations.

Cites Basis for Retrial

"Two flagrant and specific facts justify a retrial," said Jacques Baraduc, one of Laval's lawyers. "By making vehement threats to the defendant, the jurors gave proof of unquestionable partiality, which makes the trial null and void. In addition, during interrogation the presiding judge asked our client, 'Who put you in power?' Without permitting the defendant to answer, Judge Mongibeaux declared, 'I'm going to tell you. It was the Germans; it was Abetz [German ambassador to occupied France].'"

In many quarters it is believed that despite the activity of his lawyers, Laval will be executed within a fortnight. This opinion is partly based on the recent speed up in disposing of collaboration cases.

Darnand Executed.

Joseph Darnand, 48, who was head of Vichy's strong arm militia, was executed by a firing squad this morning in the bleak courtyard of Fort de Chatillon on the outskirts of Paris.

Darnand died without display of emotion. He refused to be blindfolded. He was not bound to an execution stake altho his hands were tied together. Before he crumpled with 12 bullets in his body he cried: "Adieu, my father and mother. Adieu, my militia men. Long live France."

Fought in Both Wars

Darnand had a brilliant fighting record in both World wars and his heroism earned him the decoration of an officer of the legion of honor. He was active in every Fascist movement in the last two decades starting with the old monarchist "Camelots du Roi," later joining Col. Francois de la Roque's "Croix de Feu," the subversive "Cagoulards," Jacques Doriot's French People's party, the Anti-bolshevik legion, and the French section of the Waffen SS [armed guards] in which he took the oath of allegiance to Hitler.

As leader of the Vichy militia and secretary for the maintenance of order, he became notorious in the last years of the occupation for his merciless repression of the maquis [patriots].

Stowaway Bride

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

Mrs. Donnesse Nancy Kuhn with her husband, Robert, in Boston yesterday.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 10 (AP)—A pretty, red-haired, blue-eyed English girl, wife of a discharged G. I., debarked from the S. S. Irvin MacDowell today to land in the hands of immigration authorities as a stowaway.

The young woman, Mrs. Donnesse Nancy Kuhn, 20, of Atherstone, Warwickshire, said she had remained hidden in the bunk of her husband, Robert Kuhn, of Rochester, N. Y., for the first four days and nights of the MacDowell's journey across the Atlantic.

Kuhn, 23, was discharged from the army a few months ago. He told port authorities he was married the week before last Christmas and had joined the merchant marine after his army release in order to rejoin his wife in England.

$1,300 FUR JACKET STOLEN

INDUSTRY AT 5% OF CAPACITY IN U.S.-HELD REICH

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—Hobbled by shortages and transportation difficulties, German industry in the American occupation zone is making an extremely slow comeback, James Boyd, chief of the industry division of the United States office of military government, said today.

Only about 15 per cent of the industry in the American zone now is operating, he explained, and it is turning out goods at only 5 per cent of its capacity.

This struggling production is "well below the levels required to fulfill the immediate [occupation] military requirements, the needs of displaced persons and the maintenance of a minimum subsistence economy in Germany," Boyd said in a summary prepared by his division.

Winter Showdown Expected

The output is expected to decline during the winter, when more coal will be used for heating.

Boyd estimated that least 75 per cent of the German machine capacity survived the war in repairable shape. All war equipment plants in the American zone have been shut down, he said, and are under guard pending a decision on what portions shall be removed as reparations and what portions destroyed.

Maj. Gen. Floyd L. Parks said a fuel shortage may cause civilian unrest in Berlin this winter. Parks gave up his post as commander of the American garrison in Berlin to return to Washington, D. C., for a special assignment.

Wants Expulsions Halted

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Britain's government was asked tonight to do "everything in their power" to stop the expulsion of 4,500,000 Germans from eastern Europe which a member of parliament said was scheduled to start Monday at the rate of 30,000 daily. R. R. Stokes, Laborite, said in commons that unless "this ghastly process" is stopped it will "bring horror to millions comparatively innocent in a way that boggles the imagination."

Hector McNeil, undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, said the allied control commission had no knowledge of an agreement among Russians, Poles, Czechs and Hungarians calling for expulsion of Germans from those areas.

5 Nazis Clearing Mines, Heil Hitler, Join in Suicide

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 10—Five fanatical German prisoners of war at Bleriot Plage, near Calais, raised their arms in then nazi salute, shouted, "Heil Hitler" and blew themselves up, a dispatch from Lille reported today. The men were lifting mines along the beach when they suddenly went into a huddle over a mine they had discovered and a minute later staged the collective suicide.

YANKS EXECUTED UNDER HITLER'S EDICT: DOSTLER

Nazi General Admits He Didn't Ask Superiors

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Oct. 10—Gen. Anton Dostler, first ranking German officer to be prosecuted by an American military commission as a war criminal, was flustered and perspiring as he admitted today under cross examination that he sent a telegram ordering the execution of 15 American soldiers without having consulted superior headquarters and without having turned the case over to the nazi security police.

Dostler insisted that he acted under a decree promulgated by Hitler on Oct. 18, 1942, that all allied Commandos and saboteurs taken by the Germans were to be exterminated. But he couldn't explain why before sending the telegram he had not conformed to another sentence in that decree which directed that such captured persons be handed over to the security police.

He did state that a supplement to the decree further defining the procedure in such cases was issued in 1944. The defense has been unable to produce that supplement and the prosecution calls it a "figment of Dostler's imagination."

Got Superior's Order

Dostler declared that he rescinded the order for immediate execution and that the 15 Americans were not put to death until the next morning after, according to him, German army group headquarters and Field Marshal Kesselring's headquarters had directed imposition of the penalty.

The 15—two lieutenants and 13 enlisted men of the reconnaissance battalion working under the office of strategic services—were shot March 26, 1944, at Punta Bianca, southeast of La Spezia. They had been captured two days before between La Spezia and Genoa, more than 400 miles behind the front.

Dostler, short and chunky, commander of the German 75th corps during much of the fighting in Italy, was called to the stand in midafternoon in the packed courtroom in the Rome Palace of Justice.

Col. Claudius O. Wolfe of San Antonio, Tex., assigned to defend the general, brought out that Dostler, like all others in the German military, swore an oath of allegiance to Hitler in 1933.

"I believed that the mission of those men came under the concept of a commando operation and therefore was covered by the fuehrer's decree," Dostler said. "I conferred with my officers who were of the same belief and then sent to the 135th brigade [which had the Americans in custody] a telegram ordering them shot.

"I meditated further and then in a telephone conversation with Col. Almers, commanding the brigade, I told him not to carry out the execution order until he had heard further from me. I had my chief of staff contact higher headquarters. The decision of the latter, I was told, was that the men be shot and that was forwarded to the brigade. Almers called me again during the night and I told him the decision was final."

'DEATHS MADE EASIER'

WIESBADEN, Germany, Oct. 10 (AP)—The chief of a nazi murder factory at Hadamar insane asylum, in a statement read today to an American military tribunal, declared the slaying of some 400 alien workers there "can hardly be regarded as cruel murders. They merely made it easier for these people to die."

"Healthy, valuable lives were not sacrificed," said the statement given to American investigators several months ago by Alfons Klein, the Hadamar administrator.

Klein and six others, one a woman, are on trial on charges of slaying Russian and Polish workers by poisonous injections because their physical conditions made them no longer useful to Germany.

His statement contended the alien workers were doomed to die anyway because they had tuberculosis or other respiratory diseases.

Had to Obey Orders

In questioning after the presentation of the statement, Klein was asked, "Do you consider mercy injections to be wrong?"

"Yes," he answered, after deliberating, "even mercy injections can be wrong."

He insisted, however, that he and other asylum employes would have been sent to concentration camps if they had refused to obey orders to execute all Russians and Poles received at Hadamar. He strove consistently to show that orders for the killings came from Gauleiter Karl Sprenger, who has since committed suicide, and from Landesrat [a county administrative functionary] Bernatat, who still is at large.

He never watched the victims receive the fatal injections, Klein said, because "it was none of my business." He added: "It was not my decision that they should die. Why should I watch a matter which was none of my business?"

MRS. KRAMER TESTIFIES

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 10—Rosina Kramer, wife of the chief accused in the war criminal trial in Lueneburg, appeared on the witness stand this morning and tried to convince the court that the former jailer of Oswiecim [Auschwitz] and Belsen was a kindly gentleman who was the victim of circumstances and ruthless superiors.

The prosecutor, Col. T. M. Backhouse, concluded the cross examination after she stated that her husband "knew the murders carried out at Oswiecim were wrong."

Kramer had spent most of his time in the dock dodging similar questions with "I do not know." His lawyer, Maj. Thomas C. Winwood, in re-examining him, worked hard to put full blame for what happened on the nazi party and Henrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo. Then he tried to bring the atomic bomb into the discussion as a parallel to the murders at Oswiecim, but that was more than the deputy judge advocate, C. L. Shirling, in wig and gown, was prepared to accept, and the lawyer's reference to the atomic bomb was quickly withdrawn.

Kramer smiled broadly when his wife appeared on the stand. She had been in his concentration camps but only on Sundays "when the camps were not in action," she told the court.

Mrs. Kramer said that she heard her husband tell his supply officer that "something must be done because what the camp people are getting in the way of food is too little to live on and too much to die from." She said that at the time he was "half crazy with worry." Reference to his love for his children was deftly woven into her testimony.

When she hurriedly asserted that Kramer knew "it was wrong to murder those people" at Oswiecim the prosecutor ended his questioning.

[Mrs. Kramer had her face slapped outside the courthouse after she had testified, said a Reuters dispatch from Lueneburg. One of the women witnesses slapped her face. As police hurried her away another woman shouted: "Your husband killed my husband and children in Auschwitz. You still have your children."]

NATIONALISTS BATTLING JAPS IN INDO-CHINA

Nipponese Act in Accord with Allied Orders

SAIGON, Indo-China, Oct. 10 (AP)—Eighty Indo-Chinese were killed and 150 wounded in a new outbreak of fighting between nationalists and Japanese troops today as negotiations between Annamite leaders and French officials were reported deadlocked. Fifteen Japanese were reported killed and 20 wounded.

The clash took place at Dalat hill station near Saigon following what Field Marshal Juichi Terauchi, Japanese commander in southeast Asia, described as an "unlawful challenge" to Japanese sentries.

The fighting, an allied spokesman said, resulted from "a more marked inclination" on the part of the Japanese to obey allied instructions and maintain law and order. The Japanese are required by the allies to disarm all persons carrying unauthorized weapons, but only in the course of "defensive" action.

Relations Grow Worse

Deterioration of the Annamite-French conferences followed a nationalist demand for complete independence and surrender of all French arms in Indo-China. The French were reported to have refused even to consider this.

Observers said the Annamite Viet Nam party had come under the complete domination of extremists and was not fulfilling an agreement made five days ago to return all hostages held by the nationalists. Since then 11 missionaries and two French boys were reported to have disappeared.

Meanwhile thousands of nationalists were swarming into the Saigon area. Seven thousand British troops have landed, however, as well as several French units.

Commanders Plan Parley

Maj. Gen. D. D. Gracey, British commander in Saigon, and Maj. Gen. Jacques le Clerc, commander of French troops, left today by air for Rangoon to confer with Adm. Mountbatten, allied commander in chief in southeast Asia.

[The French ministry of justice in Paris confirmed reports that about 50 Indo-Chinese were arrested in Paris after a raid on their headquarters where anti-French tracts were said to have been found. The newspaper Paris Matin reported in a London dispatch that an Annamite named Man Chienn Teh was in the British capital distributing anti-French tracts, financed by a group of American business men "who find that in economic matters the Annamites would be more easy to manage than the French."]

UNREST FORCING NEW MALAYAN RULE ON BRITAIN

Plan Union of States, Singapore Colony

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 10—The British government hopes to forestall trouble in Malaya by proposing a union of nine native states in the Malay peninsula and the two British settlements of Penang and Malacca. Singapore, because of its special economic and strategic interests, is to remain a crown colony.

This was indicated in the house of commons today when George Hall, colonial secretary, announced plans for a constitutional union of the Malayan states. Altho Hall did not say so, many observers believe the British recognize that, as a result of discontent in Java, in the Netherlands East Indies, some changes will be necessary in Malaya.

No Pledge of Self-Rule

The colonial secretary made no promise of self-government for the Malayan states but said he hoped this could be achieved "in due course" within the British commonwealth.

A Malayan citizenship will be established, however, Hall said, and equal citizenship rights will be given to all who can claim Malaya as their homeland. Chinese, Indians, Malayans, and a sprinkling of other far eastern peoples will be affected.

Hall said the constitutional measures would necessitate fresh agreements with the various Malayan rulers, but asserted the king of England would still "possess and exercise jurisdiction in the Malaya states."

Harold MacMichael, former high commissioner to Palestine and Transjordan, has been appointed special representative to arrange agreements with the Malayan rulers, Hall said.

Singapore May Join Later.

The colonial secretary asserted the Malayan union would be constituted by an order in council "when his majesty possesses jurisdiction."

Singapore may eventually join the union, but the question will have to be settled between the Malayan union and the Singapore governments, Hall said.

Singapore, with the Cocos Islands and Christmas Island, has been a unit in the Straits Settlements, a crown colony. The Straits Settlements also included Penang, with the Province of Wellesley; Malacca, and Labuan, six miles off northwest Borneo and 725 miles from Singapore.

The new plans involve fresh constitutional measures for the Straits Settlements.

Heath Row to Be Main Civil Airport of London

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 10—Americans making 15 hour air trips from New York to Britain next year will face a 45 minute train ride from the landing field into London, it was indicated today when Britain's civil aviation ministry announced that Heath Row will be the main civil airport for the capital. Heath Row is 19 miles southwest of London.

100,000 IN JAVA READY TO FIGHT RETURN OF DUTCH

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 9 [Delayed]—One hundred thousand Indonesians, armed with rifles, machine guns, tanks, and artillery seized from the Japanese, today stand ready to fight the reentry of Dutch troops in Java.

Within the last few days Indonesians have imprisoned almost all Japanese troops in Java except those in the Batavia area, where British troops have been the occupation force for three weeks.

Most of the Japs surrendered their weapons and military installation without a fight. However, in Soerabaja the Jap commander of the naval base blew up munition magazines and then he and his executive officer killed themselves with grenades.

Two battles between Japanese and Indonesians have been reported. Six Japs who tried to hold out at Soerabaja airport were killed Oct. 5. About 40 were killed when the Japs were routed from the headquarters of the Kempei [Jap secret police] at Soerabaja Oct. 3.

Naval Base Burns 20 Hours

Soerabaja naval base burned for 20 hours, said Lt. Frank West, British naval photographer and one of three British officers in Soerabaja for repatriation of prisoners of war and internees.

Indonesians yesterday attempted to seize a Dutch heavy bomber sent to Bandoeng from Batavia with personnel for the repatriation of allied prisoners of war and internees. They smeared out the Dutch flag, painted the words Malik Indonesia Republik [Property of Indonesia Republic] and kidnaped a Dutch mechanic who left the plane. The Dutch pilot gunned the motors and took off as soon as the repatriation unit disembarked, leaving the mechanic behind. The Indonesians also "captured" a Jap transport plane sent to Bandoeng yesterday but a British officer recovered it and had the Japs fly it back here.

The country is reported quiet, on the surface—more normal than any time since the Jap surrender. In Soerabaja public services, such as light, water, telephone, and street cars, are functioning under Indonesians. With the disarming of the Japs, Indonesians have reopened shops and again crowd the streets.

Search Train for Dutch

Thruout the country railroad, telegraph and telephone systems are operated by Indonesians at near normal. Armed Indonesians search trains at all stations for Dutchmen. Road blocks are frequent on highways, with Indonesians firing at cars which attempt to run thru them.

So far cars flying British, Australian, and American flags have been permitted to pass thru the road blocks. However, within the last few days Indonesians have demanded identity cards, claiming some Dutch have tried to pass themselves as of other nationalities.

Americans, British, and Australians have likewise been riding trains with immunity but yesterday for the first time Indonesian railroad officers pleaded with them not to ride the train between here and Bandoeng. They said fanatics were mobbing trains at midway stations, grabbing all white persons. "They shoot first and ask questions afterward," one officer said. These actions are contrary to pleas of the Indonesian "government" leaders who have been requesting their followers to preserve law and order.

JAPAN ORDERED TO BARE FOREIGN EXCHANGE ASSET

MacArthur Calls for Data on Emperor's Holdings

TOKYO, Oct. 11 [Thursday]—(AP)—Gen. MacArthur today ordered the Japanese government to report all Japanese owned foreign exchange assets, including government and private holdings, within 90 days.

The announcement from MacArthur's headquarters said the order included foreign holdings of the imperial household.

It also said that many zaibatsu [big families] had extensive holdings of foreign exchange and in "at least several cases 35 per cent of their assets were located abroad."

Red Uprising Feared

Four Japanese industrialists, provoked by a banzai parade before Gen. MacArthur's headquarters of 600 Japanese Communists celebrating their new freedom of expression, warned today that "Japanese Communists are waiting for the proper time to rise."

The parade of avowed anti-imperialists, organized by a communist leader to celebrate release of political prisoners, was staged yesterday while American financial sleuths were probing into Nippon's war finance secrets.

The marchers, led by Inosuke Makanishi, one of 16 political prisoners just released by American orders from long imprisonment, tied traffic in a knot while they shouted "banzais" in appreciation for the release order.

The industrialists — representing coal, steel and small ship building—said efficiency of Japan's heavy industry during the war was reduced 50 per cent thru strict government control.

Fear Red Uprising

They told a press conference they feared an "uprising" by Japanese Communists and at the same time blamed government placing of war plant personnel, including prisoners of war, for the reduction in productive efficiency.

Kentiro Matsumoto, president of the Japanese coal association, asserted "Labor will have to follow the example set by American labor to negotiate." He declined to estimate how long it would take the Japanese to adopt American methods.

The government's wartime control of plants was criticized by Takashi Komatsu, principal figure in the nation's steel production. He declared that production fell off 50 per cent from "not too efficient" handling of the industry by the military.

Put Imports on Cash Basis

A new allied directive placed Japan's import business on a strict cash or commodity exchange basis, confining imports to items necessary to maintain the minimum standard of living.

The Japanese also will be required to "put every conceivable effort" into the production of material useful for the payment of commodities which it is desired to import "whether such efforts involve credit, money, labor, or transportation."

"Imports will be severely restricted," the headquarters announcement said. "They must be paid for, and nothing will be imported until the Japanese have clearly and completely demonstrated their inability to provide the desired supplies themselves."

The cabinet of Premier Kijuro Shidehara, chosen only four days ago to take over the post, met for two hours and scheduled another extraordinary session tomorrow for discussion of pending issues. Shidehara was received by Emperor Hirohito today to report on general administrative affairs.

Jap Vessel Strikes Mine; 54 Missing, 38 Injured

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Fifty-four persons are missing and 38 were injured in the sinking of the 2,400 ton ship Taihei Maru by a mine in harbor at Kobe yesterday, the newspaper Asahi said today.

Freed of Murder

Mrs. Florence Randall, freed of murder charges yesterday in the slaying of her husband, Charles, with her children, Ellen, 9, and Kathryn, 15 months. She must stand trial, however, as an accessory. [Associated Press Wirephoto]

Tunkhannock, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Kenneth Ferrell, illiterate 31 year old lumberjack, was convicted of first degree murder and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment today by a jury for the Memorial day shooting of Charles Randall.

The commonwealth contended that Ferrell shot Randall in "an all-consuming evil passion" for auburn haired Mrs. Randall, 37, mother of two young daughters.

When the woman's trial on similar charges began, immediately after the verdict, District Atty. Robert W. Trembath moved that indictments charging murder and compounding a felony be not pressed because of insufficient evidence. The motions were granted and her trial on a charge of being an accessory after the fact, a misdemeanor only, was postponed until the January term of court. Her bail was reduced from $11,000 to $500.

MARINES ARRIVE AT EX-GERMAN PORT IN CHINA

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 11 [Thursday]—United States marines of the 6th division are in Tsingtao harbor this morning ready to come ashore today and occupy this one time German treaty port for Chinese nationalist forces. It is the last scheduled occupation job for marines in China and certainly the most unusual.

When they arrive from transports jamming the big harbor, where scores of warships are anchored, the marines will find smiling Chinese counting money they won at yesterday's horse races, good restaurants, and shops filled with merchandise. If they look closely they may even find a few Japanese. Also, they'll find few of their fellow marines, who have been here a couple of weeks and members of an army rescue team which has been getting internees out of the area.

Under command of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, about 20,000 eventually will be landed. Watching the occupation from his flagship, the Catoctin, will be Vice Adm. Daniel E. Barbey, commander of the 7th amphibious forces, and Maj. Gen. Kellar E. Rockey, commander of all United States forces in northern China. Adm. Thomas C. Kincaid, commander of the 7th fleet, flew here from Shanghai to witness the occupation.

BALK AT DRAFT UNTIL DEFERRED MEN END STRIKE

Washington Court House, O., Oct. 10 [Special] — Protesting against strikes by men deferred from military service, the Fayette county draft board announced here today it would not induct any more men until the government acts to stop major strikes thruout the country.

The board, composed of prominent business men who served thruout the war, made known its stand in a telegram to Col. Chester W. Goble, state selective service director, in Columbus.

Eight 18 year olds who were scheduled to be inducted tomorrow will be sent home, board members said.

Strikers Deferred

"Selective service board No. 1 for Fayette county hereby serves notice that until such time as necessary action is taken to stop all major strikes within the United States, we as a board feel it our duty to discontinue calling men for the armed forces." the board telegraphed state draft headquarters.

"Our reason for this action is under the selective service system thousands of these men now on strike were granted deferments for the health, welfare, and safety of the people of our country.

"Fairness to these who served, are serving, and are to serve in the armed forces justifies our action."

State Probe Indicated

Col. Goble said he would "look into the matter" and his office indicated that a representative of state headquarters probably would be sent here.

The state draft director observed that the Fayette county board had served thru the war and has a good record at state headquarters.

The local five member board is composed of Chairman Howard Fogle, land owner and past commander of the American Legion post here; Arch O. Riber, banker; Dr. Stewart B. Smith; L. M. Hayes, drug store proprietor, and Ray Maynard, merchant.

TAKE SHELLS, LIQUOR, AND $360

John Wallen, 5635 S. Christiana av., reported to police yesterday that burglars stole $360 from the cash register, two cases of shotgun shells valued at $60, and liquor valued at $434 from his tavern at 901 W. 35th st.

8TH AIR FORCE GENERAL MISSING IN CRASH OF B-29

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Joe L. Loutzenheiser, assistant chief of staff for plans for the 8th air force, and five other air men are missing, two are dead, and three have been rescued from a Super Fortress that crashed into the ocean, 400 miles off Guam Oct. 7, the war department announced today.

The dead include: Tech. Sgt. Clements B. Wojcicke, son of Mrs. Mary Wojcicke, Belleville, Mich.

Others listed as missing include: 2d Lt. Wallace A. Hofmann, pilot, son of F. W. Hofmann, 1909 E. Rusk av., Milwaukee, Wis., and Sgt. John W. Benson, gunner, whose wife is Mrs. Mary B. Benson of 2287 Andrus st., Hamtramck, Mich.

The B-29 took off from Okinawa on Oct. 7. According to a radio message received at headquarters of the strategic air forces, engine trouble later developed and two engines caught fire. The crew parachuted into the ocean.

BARE ACHESON'S AID TO MOLOTOV KIN IN RED PROBE

Induced House Group to Keep Facts Secret

BY WALTER TROHAN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—Undersecretary of State Acheson prevailed upon the house un-American activities committee to keep secret its questioning of a brother-in-law of Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov during a recent probe of communist activities in the United States.

Sam Carp

The witness was Sam Carp, a Russian born Connecticut filling station owner, who skyrocketed to handling billions when Molotov came into power in Russia in the '30s.

Six years ago, when there was no state department intervention, Carp was called before a public hearing of the same committee for questioning on his efforts to buy 100 million dollars worth of battleships and other military equipment in the United States. During the questioning Carp said he paid $57,000 to two officials of the Democratic national committee to help influence the purchases.

Joins in MacArthur Attack

Acheson, a protege of Supreme Court Justice Frankfurter, has been accused of following the Moscow line since he came into office in August. At the same time he was doing a favor for Molotov's brother-in-law, Acheson led an attack on Gen. MacArthur, in which Molotov joined a few days later, because the supreme commander in Japan had said he would need not more than 200,000 troops to rule the conquered Japanese.

Acheson also has placed known leftists in key state department posts.

Carp was summoned to testify before the house committee on Sept. 27 with a number of New York Communists. These included William Z. Foster, head of the Communist party; Earl Browder, ousted party leader, and Benjamin J. Davis, Negro communist leader.

Sought to Stop Summons

Acheson sought first to induce the committee to recall its summons of Carp. This failed. Just before Carp was scheduled to appear before the committee, a call came to Rep. Wood [D., Ga.], committee chairman, from the office of the undersecretary of state.

Wood was told the department wanted no international incident to come from the questioning of Carp. A closed session was voted.

Carp, who claims he is not a Communist and insists he is in the real estate business in Connecticut, later said he was not questioned along communist lines. It was reported that he was questioned about his activities in the 1944 election. It was also said he was questioned as to whether communist funds help finance a Bridgeport newspaper which committee members said follows the Moscow party line.

Carp reportedly said he knew nothing about the matter.

Carp testified before the house committee on Sept. 18, 1939, that he hired Preston McGoodwin, aid to Charles Michelson, then publicity director of the Democratic national committee, and paid him $25,000 a month for three months' services. Carp said he was not satisfied with McGoodwin's work so he hired Scott Ferris, a former congressman then Democratic national committeeman from Oklahoma, and paid him $32,000 in soviet funds.

ALLIES CALLED TO MEETING ON RULE OF NIPPON

Byrnes Rips Plan for Control Board

Representatives Mundt [R., S. D.] and Bolton [R., O.] favor the granting of a part in the administration of Japan to the soviet only on condition that the Moscow government allow the western allies an equal share in the military garrisoning of Europe and settling the peace.

Mundt and Mrs. Bolton, who are touring Europe and Asia Minor, said they will recommend their plan to congressional foreign relations committees.

Cites American Aid

"No one nation won the war," Mundt said. "If the Russians invaded large areas it was largely thru American supplies of tanks, guns, transport, and food. The united nations won the war—all five of them—and are entitled to equality in occupying the entire region where military forces are garrisoned. China should be invited to participate out of courtesy altho, doubtless, Chiang Kai-shek has more pressing problems at home.

"When the United States accepts her share of the responsibility for establishing democratic governments and restoring these countries, she must have the authority to back up her decisions.

"This is lacking where there are only control councils of four nations but the real force—the occupying army—is from one nation. If a real four power authority cannot be established by these allies then all the foreign forces should be withdrawn from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, and Bulgaria and the people there permitted to work out their own destiny. It is absurd to believe that political leaders can disregard the suggestions, directives, or orders from the only force in their countries—the occupying army authorities."

Mundt stated that Germany also should be administered integrally and the zone system abolished, and forecast that the division of Berlin into four separate spheres eventually would be abandoned because the impracticability of four different armies administering one city already had been proved.

ASSAILS BRITISH TIE ON AMERICAN OIL INTERESTS

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—In a capital where it's unfashionable to suggest that the British give anything in return for American tax payers' money, Sen. Moore [R., Okla.] spoke up for his side today.

He bluntly asked the state department to halt what he termed British confiscation of American oil interests abroad if the United States is to continue lending Great Britain billions in the post-war period. Moore protested the British action in a letter to William L. Clayton, assistant state secretary for economic affairs. He noted that it was his second letter to Clayton on the hush-hush subject.

Moore's objection was this:

The British are requiring American oil companies to buy from "sterling sources" the materials necessary for restoring war damaged properties in the British empire. Sterling sources are countries where British financial domination compels payment in pounds instead of dollars, with the pounds overvalued by exchange rates.

British Get Business

Thus the British get the business, according to financial students, or have the power to stifle it. Meanwhile, Moore said, the British permit their own companies to buy materials in the American market.

"The British order is in effect," Moore's letter said, "a virtual confiscation of American interests. For example, terminal and distribution facilities of an American company, partially destroyed by war, remain idle and suffer further deterioration while a British company builds competing facilities with materials and equipment purchased in the American market.

Drilling Hampered

"Another example is the inability of an American national to export drilling equipment to the United Kingdom to comply with drilling obligations under the oil concession held by this national. Failure to comply, of course, endangers the validity of the concession. The necessary drilling equipment is unobtainable from sterling sources.

"In my opinion, it would be entirely appropriate to request the British government to grant American nationals relief as a condition to further negotiations for post-war financial aid to Britain. Such action would be only a reasonable protection of American interests."

Moore reminded Clayton that the petroleum administration for war has protested the British policy and that the British have replied that the policy is a major one of the British government which Americans should not expect to be rescinded.

REPORT CHINESE FIGHT JAPS IN SHANTUNG AREA

TSINGTAO, China, Oct. 10 (AP)—Unconfirmed reports reaching here today from the central sections of Shantung peninsula said there had been a series of clashes between Chinese soldiers and Japanese garrison troops.

Railroad bridges have been destroyed and approximately 1,000 civilian internees, mostly British, have not been able to leave the Japanese prison camp at Wei Hsien.

Fighting was believed to be not only against the Japanese but between bands of local Chinese Communists and independent groups seeking to take over authority.

ITALIANS CHARGE YUGOSLAV PURGE TO WIN TRIESTE

Many Left to Die in the Caves, Papers Say

BY P. E. BRIQUET
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Oct. 10—The fate of Trieste again is worrying Italian patriots in view of the policy of wholesale elimination of Italians in sections of the countryside, Milan papers assert.

Renewed insistence by Yugoslav Vice President Edward Kardelj, upon annexation of Trieste and Istria to Yugoslavia at the council of foreign ministers in London is viewed as "seriously threatening to cause a display of stubbornness that will jeopardize permanently the prospects for future friendly understanding and peaceful neighborliness between the two countries."

Information from Trieste published in the Milan newspapers says that a new anti-Italian propaganda campaign is being launched on an unprecedented scale. Arrival of a commision from London was the signal for the demonstration.

Blame Communists

Italia Libera, the Action party's organ, considered leftist and close to Premier Feruccio Parri, charges that the Communists in Trieste are responsible for the agitation. Houses thruout the town were covered with inscriptions asking cession of the town to Yugoslavia. The main street was abundantly decorated with the Yugoslav colors, and everywhere leaflets and even small flags proclaimed, "Trieste to Yugoslavia."

The Italian press now charges Yugoslavs with eliminating the Italian residents of Istria in order to influence the allied commission. The Italian population is not permitted to express its own wishes. Even on tombstones new Yugoslav names are inscribed in order to pretend that the population never was Italian.

Tell of Death Caves

Photographs are reproduced as proof that great numbers of Italians—men, women, soldiers, and even children—were thrown, sometimes still alive, into the caves that are typical of the Carso mountains. There they were left to die from hunger.

Other such death caves are said to have been located at Carnizza, San Damiano, Antignano, Brioni, and Montemaggiore. Many persons arrested in Trieste during the period of Yugoslav occupation and in other parts of Istria not occupied by the allies are reported to have met death in these caves. It was stated that about 1,000 were buried at Basovizza, a town near Trieste.

PRESS WILL STAY FREE IN BRITAIN, ATTLEE PLEDGES

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The British government's assurance that there "is no intention whatsoever of impeding the freedom of the press" was offered to commons today by Prime Minister Attlee.

The subject arose in connection with a question as to whether the new government planned to discontinue the ministry of information, which was created during the war, and reduce the number of departmental press officers.

Attlee said the press officers would continue to be employed in the post-war period to provide the press "with accurate and timely information in regard to departmental activities."

Sidewalk Collapses; 6 Sailors Hurt

Hole in sidewalk on Ohio st. between Wabash av. and Rush st., where six sailors were injured in cavein. [TRIBUNE Photos]

Lt. Comdr. N. B. Pavletic attends to James Denson's bruises while five other sailors injured in cavein watch. Left to right: David Edwards, Elwyn Evans, Lincoln Cartledge, John Heikkila, and Charles F. Houff.

Fall 8 Feet

Six enlisted men of the navy's radio school in the State-Lake building were slightly injured yesterday morning when two sections of sidewalk on the north side of Ohio st. between Wabash av. and Rush st. collapsed under them. They fell about eight feet. The six were part of a group of 22 which was out on an exercise period. They were in drill formation.

The injured, all of whom were treated at the naval dispensary at 65 W. Lake st., were Seamen 1st Class David Edwards of 70 E. 68th st.; Elwyn Evans of Wilmington, Del.; Lincoln Cartledge of Morgantown, W. Va.; John Heikkila of Bessemer, Mich.; Charles F. Houff of Baltimore, Md., and James Denson of Jersey City, N. J. Cartledge sprained an ankle. The others suffered cuts and bruises.

A spokesman for the bureau of streets said that the sidewalk which had fallen was of an outmoded vaulted limestone construction which has not been permitted since about 1900. Asked whether the city had much of this type of construction, he said "too much." The bureau has long been working on the problem, he added, but during recent years war conditions have been a handicap.

REDS AND CHINA NATIONALISTS IN AGREEMENT

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 11 [Thursday]—(AP)—Mao Tze-tung, the Communists' No. 1 leader in Yenan province, left by air today for his capital to report that the Communists and Kuomintang [Nationalist] Chinese parties have concluded an agreement at the end of the first phase of their five week peace conference.

"The outlook is optimistic," said Mao, whose departure was a signal that the initial agreement had been reached.

After five weeks of political and diplomatic jockeying, the central Chinese government - Communist joint bulletin reporting on the agreement will be published tomorrow. This probably will cover generalities on which the disputants have agreed and announce establishment of a broadly based political council to deal with the remaining outstanding differences.

BRITAIN SENDING AUSTRIA FOOD; 8,000 TONS A DAY

VIENNA, Austria, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—British troops are taking 8,000 tons of food a day into Austria to see the people thru the winter, of which 8,000 tons a week goes to Vienna, Lt. Gen. Richard McCreery, commander of the British occupation forces in Austria, said today.

Already 60,000 surrendered personnel has been moved back to their home countries, he said.

SEE COMMUNIST BACKING IN N.Y. HARBOR STRIKE

Red Paper Gives Active Support to Walkout

New York, Oct. 10 [Special]—"Outside influences" were blamed today by Joseph P. Ryan, president of the AFL International Longshoremen's association, for continuance of the 10 day old longshoremen's strike which has tied up more than 350 ships in New York harbor.

Ryan refused to identify the "outside influences" but observers said that the Daily Worker, Communist party newspaper, has been encouraging the strikers thru daily editorials and that members of the rival communist dominated CIO National Maritime union have distributed 25,000 handbills among the strikers.

The first of a fleet of Liberty ships serving as troop transports left the harbor today without cargo in order to prevent further delay in the return of troops from Europe.

Capt. Hewlett R. Bishop, Atlantic coast war shipping administration director, said orders have been issued for 17 Liberty ships to sail empty, leaving behind 85,000 tons of cargo. He estimated 110,000 tons of relief cargo and army supplies have been piled up, unable to move to foreign ports. This includes 8,000 tons of perishable meat for the army, he said.

Army spokesmen said soldiers presumably will be used to load the Queen Elizabeth, scheduled to sail Friday on a return trip to Europe. Mail and baggage were unloaded from the liner yesterday by about 125 Negro soldiers from the Brooklyn army base.

Dock workers were voting again today on the question of returning to work. Ryan said tonight six locals had voted to return and six had voted to continue the strike. There are 63 locals involved in the walkout, which began Oct. 1 when an estimated 35,000 to 60,000 men left their jobs, protesting lift load weights.

See Communist Backing

Standardized weight loads for cargo nets, overtime pay for lunch hours worked, two instead of three daily hiring periods, and a relief man for every 20 workers are among matters in dispute. United States Conciliator John A. Burke visited headquarters of several of the striking locals today in an effort to learn grievances of the workers.

Communist interest in continuance of the strike was seen as lending support to reports that the long CIO struggle for control of east coast longshoremen is in the background of the dispute.

Altho the CIO-NMU, headed by Harry Bridges, labor czar, has for several years been in control of seamen and stevedores on the west coast, east coast workers have remained in the AFL. Ryan, noted for his long stand against Communism, has been under intensified Communist attack.

SAILOR'S INQUEST CONTINUED

The inquest into the death of Eugene C. Cheffer, 20, of 6154 W. 99th st., Oak Lawn, a former sailor, who was fatally shot Tuesday night at 95th st. and Keating av., Oak Lawn, was continued to Oct. 18 yesterday. Four companions of Cheffer told police he shot himself while seated in an automobile.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

by BEN MARKLAND

October 10, 1945.

THE fall season brings new tasks for all farm residents, housewives as well as field workers, but the pleasantness of the autumn surroundings provides adequate compensation for the extra chores being done in the fields and kitchens.

When we visited the Wheaton farm early this week we found signs of autumn the main subject of conversation. The gardeners were removing asparagus foliage which had been used to cover tomato plants as protection against the frost of the previous night. At the edge of the garden a huge white oak tree was showing evidence of autumn coloration for the first time this year, a few of its outer leaves providing touches of red against the blue sky.

Fall Colors Distinctive

From a distance came the steady, muffled drone of a caterpillar tractor pulling discs thru a field to be planted to rye. In the barnyard a pen of white fantail pigeons strutted in silent complaint when a Holland turkey put its long bill thru their cage wire and stole some of their grain.

Along the fence row between the poultry yard and the tool shed were more colors indicative of the season. The leaves of the wild grape vines have turned yellow on the mesh wire fence and the sumac hedge offered thousands of dark red and orange leaves as its contribution to the color parade. Farther down the road were more red leaves, the more subdued pastel red of the Virginia creeper vines. The bittersweet vines retain the green pigment in their glossy leaves, but their bright orange berries provide still another distinctive symbol of fall.

Five Pheasants Flushed

A visit to a cornfield provided evidence of the damage done to the stalks and leaves by the recent frost, and an incidental reward of the trip was the flushing of five pheasants, including two gaudy cock birds. The three hens and two males, alerted by our rustling of the drying corn leaves, rose almost vertically in the air, then fluttered hurriedly toward a nearby wild crab and hawthorn thicket which is one of their favored natural shelters.

These are only a few of the sights and sounds of colorful autumn which are noticeable on midwestern farms at this time of the year, rewards of rural life not taken into account on the farmer's bank account, but amply represented in his mental appreciation of his surroundings.

★The GARDEN★

THE advantages of planting onion seed, in preference to sets, were illustrated by the success of direct seedings in the farm garden this year. The gardener plants both red and white sets and Spanish and Bermuda seedlings each spring, but only 10 to 20 per cent of the crop is planted in these forms. The remainder of the onion rows is seeded, the gardener preferring this method of planting for the major portion of the crop. In addition to being far less expensive, the seeding procedure provides onions of better storage quality.

The numerous summer and early fall rains damaged none of the onions planted from seed [White Portugal and Golden Globe varieties], and these bulbs now are in storage. White Portugals planted from sets were most seriously damaged by rotting. Southport Red Globe onions, planted from sets, survived the summer rains better than the white type.

FUND CAMPAIGN GETS $4,914,375, 38 PCT. OF GOAL

Thirty-eight per cent of the Community and War Fund goal of $13,040,700 has been raised so far in the campaign, the first report meeting of the drive disclosed yesterday in Hotel Sherman. The contributions to date, totaling $4,914,375, set a record for first report meetings, William J. Kelly, chairman of the business division, announced.

Kelly presided at the meeting, which included the business, city, suburban, women's, special gifts, and special events divisions. The business division with a goal of $10,200,000, has raised $4,566,375, or 44 per cent of its goal, Kelly reported. The women's division, headed by Mrs. Otto Madlener and Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr., held the record for the percentage raised, with $235,058, or 71 per cent of its $330,000 goal realized.

Kelly pointed out that only $2.51 per capita had been contributed by Chicago employes last year and explained that double that amount must be received if the drive is to be successful. Employes of the Community and War Fund have set a record for other working men and women to follow, he added. Out of 170 employes on the fund staff, 167 persons contributed in excess of $12 each.

BRITISH TROOPS UNLOAD SHIP IN WILDCAT STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—British troops unloaded food from a strike-bound ship at Hull and Grimsby tonight as a wildcat dock strike spread to 40,000 workers and threatened to force a drastic cut in Britain's already-meager rations. Other troops were dispatched to Liverpool.

Despite a warning by Labor Minister George Isaacs that continuation of the unauthorized strike would result in widespread hunger, the walkout spread to Glasgow after virtually paralyzing six of London's largest docks and tieing up at least 315 ships.

50 Ships Carry Food

Fifty of these vessels were fully or partially loaded with food supplies—an estimated 30,000 tons—which the food ministry said was required within three days to prevent more stringent rationing.

Isaacs, reporting to the house of commons on the strike situation, appealed to the men to "go back at once" and to settle their differences thru regular union channels.

Isaacs said the strike—developing out of a wage dispute at Liverpool in which the men are seeking basic pay of $5 a day—was not justified, but asserted he would do nothing "to impair the constitutional machinery of the industry."

Should Trust Own

Asked whether he would go to Liverpool with union officials to address the strikers Isaacs said:

"No, sir. The men should trust the machinery of their organization. They would resent, I am sure, government officials stepping in between them and their union."

Everywhere the strikers insisted that they were determined to stick to their demands for a basic wage of 25 shillings [$5] a day and a 40-hour week.

FEEDER CATTLE TO HAVE SHOW OF OWN MONDAY

Feeder cattle from 11 states will be judged at the stock yards Monday in the first exclusive competitive showing of this type of beef ever held in Chicago. The show is sponsored by the Union Stock Yard and Transit company and Hereford, Shorthorn, and Aberdeen-Angus breed associations. A total of 2,460 head will be judged. These include 91 carloads of Herefords, 18 carloads of Shorthorns, and 14 carloads of Aberdeen-Angus, with 20 head to a carload.

Farmers and ranchers from Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Colorado, and Texas have listed entries. Judges will be Ferd F. Schmidt, Maquoketa, Ia.; J. Brown Hitt, New Berlin, Ill., and Homer Graber, Mineral Point, Wis.

Prizes of $5,320 will be distributed. All of the entrants will be sold at auction Tuesday.

ICE OFFICE ROBBED OF $266

Julius T. Hanson of 146 Abbottsford rd., Midlothian, manager of the Consumers Ice company, 9332 S. Anthony av., told police yesterday that two robbers forced him to open the company safe, from which they took $266.95 and $132.47 in checks.

Capital Movers Called in to Move 15,000 Families

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—The army figures that 15,000 officers and their families will be moving from Washington soon, either thru transfers or discharges. So tomorrow it's calling in the moving men. A conference has been scheduled with the American Trucking associations on what is called "one of the biggest moving jobs in history."

DEPUTIES BREAK UP FILM PICKET LINE; SEIZE 350

Plane Workers Vote to Support Strike

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 10 (AP)—Mass picketing at Warner Brothers' movie studio was halted today when 350 to 450 pickets submitted peaceably to arrest by 200 sheriff's deputies, but union leaders said it would be resumed tomorrow morning with 20,000 workers from the Lockheed aircraft plant.

There was a possibility, meanwhile, that counting of ballots would proceed tomorrow in a labor board election to determine whether the AFL painters' union or the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, also an AFL affiliate, shall represent 77 studio set designers.

Representation of the set designers was the issue over which the motion picture strike, since grown to include several thousand workers of various crafts, began last March 12.

Count 105 Votes

The NLRB in Washington ordered today that all except seven of the 112 votes cast in the election May 24 shall be counted, including 54 cast by striking decorators and 51 by men hired to replace them.

The outcome of this election would be the first step toward ending the strike. Strike leaders have said that all men on strike must be returned to their old jobs and replacements be dismissed.

Picketing of the Warner studio, on which the AFL Conference of Studio Unions has centered its demonstration, was halted this morning when Herbert Sorrell, head of the conference and director of the strike, ordered the pickets not to resist arrest.

More Picketing Expected

"I am doing this to preserve order and save violence," he said. "There will be between 10,000 and 20,000 pickets here tomorrow.

Tom McNett, president of the AFL Machinists' union local which includes 20,000 of Lockheed's 32,000 workers, said their representatives adopted a resolution calling upon them to picket the Warner studio tomorrow morning.

Pickets arrested today included Matthew Huxley, 24, screen story analyst and son of Aldous Huxley, novelist, and Earl Robinson, composer of popular songs.

As soon as the sheriff's officers closed in on them this morning, the pickets raised their arms in mock surrender and marched gaily into the studio gates. There they were herded into police buses and transported in relays to the Burbank city hall to be booked on felony charges of rioting and misdemeanor charges of refusal to disperse. They were released on their own recognizance.

WINKLER FACES ARREST UNLESS IN COURT TODAY

Unless Joseph Winkler, near north side tenement owner, who has been granted numerous continuances on a motion to vacate a $100 fine for violation of health and fire regulations, appears in License court today, a capias will be issued for his arrest, Judge Francis Borrelli said yesterday.

He made the statement after ordering the immediate arrest of Henry Rice, whom he described as an employe of Winkler. Rice was convicted last January of violating health and other regulations in a building at 544 N. Wells st., of which he was sub-lessee.

Rice was granted continuances on a motion to vacate the fine on Feb. 14, March 7, April 4, May 23, May 24, June 20, July 12, Aug. 4, and Sept. 19. When his case was called yesterday, he failed to answer.

Judge Borrelli called Capt. Kyran Phelan of the E. Chicago av. station and asked that Rice be arrested. Capt. Phelan informed the judge he already is holding three warrants for Rice's arrest on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

$10 Bill Planted in Room Sprouts Arrest of Thief

John Gavalakis, 29, of 913 N. Ashland av., engineer at the Edgewater Beach hotel, was arrested yesterday by Detectives Edward Smith and William Perry of the Summerdale station after they found on his person a marked $10 bill which had been planted in a room at the hotel. At his home, they recovered jewelry with an estimated value of $2,000, including nine watches. They said Gavalakis admitted stealing the money and jewelry. He was booked on a charge of grand larceny for appearance today in Felony court.

RESUME TALKS TODAY ON TRUCE IN COAL STRIKE

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Talks seeking to end the spreading soft coal strike were extended another day after a futile session tonight between operators and John L. Lewis, chief of the United Mine Workers.

Labor Secretary Schwellenbach emerged from the conference, saying, "They are about in the same position as last night."

He had asserted last night and again today that the parties were not far apart in their dispute over recognition of Lewis' mine foremen's union, and that agreement was within reach.

Parley to Continue

The secretary said that this fourth day of conferences under his direct guidance was devoted to negotiations. They will continue tomorrow morning.

Lewis had offered to call off the strikes involving 187,000 workers if the operators would agree to negotiate on the question of unionization of the supervisory employes. The operators sought to impose conditions to their acceptance which they said would protect their present opposition to bringing the foremen into the Lewis union.

They contend that foremen and other supervisory employes are a part of management.

More Strikes Called

Strikes grew more widespread during the day, with another 82 mines closed.

The total number of mines idle rose to 831, the solid fuels administration reported. They normally produce 1,015,751 tons a day.

Reports persisted tonight that "other issues" had been injected into the conferences but neither side would divulge the nature of new discussions, if any.

Steel Output Drops

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—The soft coal strike cut deeper into steel production today.

United States Steel corporation said it would close four more blast furnaces tonight, bringing the total to 17 in the Pittsburgh-Youngstown district. Fifty-eight open hearths were down today.

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation furloughed another 1,300 workers, bringing the total steel workers idle because of the coal strike to somewhere between 4,000 and 4,300.

OPA SETS LIMITS ON AUTO REPAIR SHOPS' CHARGES

Limits on automobile repair shops' time charges for their work have been established by the Chicago area office of price administration, James F. Riley, director, said yesterday.

The regulations fix time limits on 56 types of repair jobs. Each shop must have a copy and must make it available to customers, Riley said. Local ration boards also will provide copies to motorists who apply.

Riley said the maximum labor charges for automobile repairs were established on the basis of each shop's March, 1942, charge. The National Automobile association and other industry representatives aided the OPA in fixing the limits.

Hymn Brings a Message of Woe from E. Karelia creamery, and a community hall with a stage, most of it abandoned. Poison used for a cattle dip against the hoof and mouth disease had been dumped into the cattle feed and the whole kolhos was accused of sabotaging communist enterprise.

"Some with Finnish citizenship, unable to return to America, had asked the Russians for passports to Finland. Merely for making the request they were sentenced to about six years in prison.

"I met eight widows. Only one had seen her husband die. The GPU [Russian secret police] prisons and forced labor concentration camps had taken care of the other seven. They had never been interested in politics, but they seemed to be of the opinion that 'things were bad in the United States, but not so bad we needed to come here.'

"I met another woman who had just lost her husband. She said the police had searched her house and taken away her man.

Build Paper Mill

"The American Finns had built a big factory in Petrozavodsk and a paper mill at Kontupohja. The streets were littered with garbage and worse by the Russians. The Russians' culture was nonexistent. The paper mill had been burned when the Red army retreated."

East Karelia is not to be confused with West Karelia, which was a part of Finland until ceded to Russia in the 1944 armistice agreement. The people of East and West Karelia are Finnish. They were independent until the 13th century, and have been buffeted about since by Europe's continual warfare.

In 1617 the Karelias were separated. The princedom of Moscow offered the Baltic lands to Sweden's King Gustaf II. Adolph as a reward for campaigning against Poland. King James I. of England interceded in the negotiations to restrain Swedish expansion eastward. Hence the division.

In 1918 many Finns again blamed British intercession for the division of the Karelians. The British expedition in Murmansk recruited the East Karelians first to support Trotsky and thereafter to support the White Russians against the Reds, but the natives failed to get support in their bid for separation from Russia while Finland was getting its freedom.

Slaughtered by Bolsheviks

In 1921 and 1922 the bolsheviks slaughtered the Karelians. The Finns estimate from a recently obtained census figure that 100,000 Karelians were lost from the 250,000 population.

The West Karelians, having witnessed the fate of their kinsmen east of the former Finnish-Russian border, abandoned their homes and almost to a man migrated to Finland when the homeland was ceded to the soviets by the 1944 armistice. There are now 400,000 being crowded into the houses and onto the farms of Finland, which has a population of 3,500,000.

The popular conjecture in Helsinki, where the Reds now dominate the government and economy, is that the Kremlin will offer to unite the Finns of Finland, both Karelians, and Ingria as a new republic—of the U. S. S. R.—to be swallowed like Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania have been swallowed.

BRITAIN DENIES RED CHARGE ON POLL OF POLES

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—British officials denied today that a plebiscite had been held among Polish troops in Britain to determine how many were willing to return home, or that the Poles had been given a time limit in which to make up their minds.

A Tass dispatch broadcast by Moscow yesterday said that a plebiscite had been held Sept. 21, without advance notice to the troops, and the reactionary Polish officers had "directly threatened those who would vote to return." Despite this, it added, 33,000 of 42,000 troops polled voted to go home.

Notices Are Ready

British spokesmen said notices had been prepared, subject to supervision by the British war and foreign offices, advising the troops that they would be given a chance to signify their desire to rteurn. But, they said, the troops would not be under any pressure to make their decision immediately.

Prime Minister Attlee told commons yesterday that Polish troops abroad should be encouraged to return to Poland, but that they "should have time freely to decide to do so in the light of information available as to the conditions which they are likely to find on their return."

One spokesman said Britain had turned down a request from the Polish government in Warsaw that it be given immediate command of Polish troops abroad. Britain still maintains control over such Polish forces, and wishes to "reduce the pressure from either side" on Poles who must make a decision between home and exile, he explained.

Britain Disclaims Tie

LONDON, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the house of commons today that the British government was not committed to support the existing provisional frontier between Poland and Germany [giving Poland large gains at the expense of her defeated neighbor] at the peace conference. The announcement came in a written reply to John Martin, Laborite.

Bevin added to his reply that the policies followed by Polish authorities in the territories now under their temporary administration would influence the attitude adopted by the British government in the final discussions on territorial settlements in those regions.

POLAND CHARGES BISHOP SOUGHT HITLER PRAYER

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—A Polpress dispatch from Warsaw today said that "serious" charges had been placed against Msgr. Charles-Marie Splett, German bishop who was arrested in August. His appointment by the Vatican in 1940 to head the Polish diocese of Chelmno was reported a factor in termination of the Polish-Vatican concordat last month.

The official Polish news agency said the prelate was accused of directing Catholics to pray for Hitler immediately after the German occupation of Danzig in 1939. It said he also was accused of forbidding use of the Polish language in church and in the confessional, and of ordering the removal of Polish inscriptions from churches and graveyards.

U. S. LEND-LEASE UNIT IN RUSSIA IS ON WAY OUT

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 (AP)—The American lend-lease organization that funneled more than $8,000,000,000 worth of war supplies and food into the soviet union during the war has just about disappeared from the Russian scene.

Only half a dozen persons remain in the Moscow office. Sixteen of 30 civilian American engineers, who came to Russia under lend-lease, still are working on oil and rubber projects and the soviet union may continue to employ them.

A small trickle of foodstuffs probably continued to go to Siberia until the Japanese war ended, but the amount is not known here. President Truman said last June that Siberian meat shipments were being curtailed, but that shipments of dried foods were continuing. Maj. Gen. S. P. Spaulding, who handled all lend-lease imports here as chief of the supply mission to the soviet union, was called to Washington, D. C., for instructions after Russia entered the Japanese war. He never returned.

BRIDE VICTOR IN COURT

Robert Phillips, 33, of Estherville, Ia., former merchant marine seaman, was found guilty of disorderly conduct yesterday by Judge Edward Lucas in Town Hall court on the complaint of Phillips' bride, Lorraine, 22, that he was quarrelsome in a tavern at 7635 N. Paulina st. The court remitted a fine of $10 and costs.

YOUR "New Main Street" IS COMING!

Your "Main Street" is changing. Maybe you've noticed it already. And from now on new sights will be coming thick and fast.

You'll see them in the store windows—the products of postwar America—many new, many familiar standbys—all things you've waited long to own.

All the changes won't happen tomorrow, or next week, or next month. But you'll find every walk down your "Main Street" a new experience, and a pleasant one.

Bringing new products to your merchants is a job the Illinois Central will be working on day and night. Freight cars formerly filled with war freight will be busy from now on delivering the products of peace to you.

And you can be sure of this: the Illinois Central will help your merchants stock these products the moment they're ready for distribution.

America must have railroads—solvent, strong railroads, manned by alert and respected workmen, directed by progressive management, modernized to fit the needs of postwar America; railroads operating under sound policies of government and commanding the confidence of the American people.

LEADER OF COUP MADE ARGENTINE WAR MINISTER

Gen. Avalos Replaces Ousted Col. Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gen. Eduardo Avalos was named minister of war tonight, replacing Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's "strong man," whose resignation Avalos forced yesterday. It was reported that lifting of the nation-wide state of siege imposed by Peron was imminent.

Gen. Avalos

Avalos' appointment was announced following a cabinet meeting. Two other men also were named to key posts formerly held by Peron supporters.

Commodore Edmundo Sustaita was appointed secretary of aeronautics, replacing Brig. Gen. Bartolome de la Colina; Col. Aristobulo Mittelbach was made acting chief of police at Buenos Aires, succeeding Col. Filomeno Valazco. The new appointees were reported to be friendly to Peron.

Navy Advances Program.

The cabinet met for two and a half hours. Political observers expressed belief the ministers considered, among other things, a five point program advanced by high naval officers who supported Avalos in demanding the ouster of Peron. This program, they said, provides:

1. Naval Minister Rear Adm. Alberto Teisaire must resign because he has been too close to Peron.
2. Elections must be held at the earliest possible moment.
3. All Peron sympathizers in the government must be rooted out.
4. The government must make it clear that it will allow no maneuvers within its ranks to make Peron a candidate for president.
5. As an alternative to these four conditions, the government may resign and turn its power over to the supreme court.

Siege Ordered by Peron

It was not disclosed officially whether the cabinet considered ending the siege, under which hundreds of government opponents have been arrested during the last two weeks.

The siege was ordered by Peron Sept. 26. The wave of opposition it provoked was one of the immediate causes of his ouster engineered by Gen. Avalos, commander of the big Campo de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires.

Standing in front of the secretariat of labor tonight, Peron called upon Argentine workers to remain "calm" and promised to devote his life to "the cause of the working man."

A number of newspapers thruout the country, including La Razon, Noticias, and Graficas in Buenos Aires were notified tonight by police that they were closed until further notice. The action leaves the capital without a major evening newspaper.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—Tyler Kent, former code clerk in the United States embassy in London who was jailed by the British in 1940 on charges of violating the British official secrets act, will not face further prosecution by this government when he returns home, it was learned today. Kent is awaiting deportation from England to the United States.

This government, which refused to permit him to be brought to this country for trial during the war, has decided that his punishment at the hands of the British was sufficient, official sources said. During the lifetime of the late President Roosevelt, Democratic leaders said privately they feared a public trial in this country might have proved politically damaging to the President.

Whiteman swam ashore and summoned aid. Huth's body was recov- Huth's father, Philip, is an Evans- ered by the Wilmette coast guard. ton mail carrier.

Wins Children

MRS. CHARLOTTE VASSIL

Mrs. Charlotte Vassil, 29, of 8428 Baltimore av., won custody of her three children before Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Superior court yesterday, when a report of the bureau of public welfare presented by Atty. Sol R. Friedman showed that she was a proper person to have their care.

Mrs. Vassil testified that she placed the children in a private school at Fox Lake in September, 1944, so she could take a war job. The couple were divorced in April, 1944. Vassil opposed the custody, holding that the children should stay at the school.

The court ordered Vassil to pay $25 a week for support of Theodore, 7, Christine, 6, and Archimedes, 4.

EX-GI TO TAKE ALTAR TRIP BY WAY OF EUROPE

Cleveland, O., Oct. 10 (AP)—Smiling Ex-Sgt. Frank J. Kraker of Cleveland, seeking a passport to Germany to complete an international love mission, boarded a train for Washington tonight.

Frank J. Kracker

The 28 year old hero of the 3d army's conquering drive across Germany said he planned to marry Cecylia Lanska, a Polish girl he met at Buchenwald concentration camp during police duty after the German surrender. Kraker said he would confer tomorrow with Rep. Michael A. Freighan [D., Ohio] in Washington in an attempt to obtain a passport.

The tank battalion, commanded by the wearer of the silver star and Purple Heart, was assigned to police Buchenwald prison after the war. There Kraker met and fell in love with Miss Lanska.

PIGEON BLOOD TESTS RESULT IN VIRUS REACTIONS

Blood tests made on 200 Chicago pigeons in the Illinois state laboratories, 1800 Fillmore st., showed a positive reaction to a pneumonia type virus in approximately 45 per cent of the birds, Dr. Howard J. Shaughnessy, laboratory director, said last night.

"This indicates either a present, or, probably in most cases, a past infection from the disease or a closely related virus," Dr. Shaughnessy said. "Further tests are under way to determine whether the pigeons are carriers of the virus and whether a recommendation should be made that they be destroyed."

About 45 per cent of the birds also showed a positive reaction to the psittacosis virus which is known also as parrot fever.

EXPERTS MAKE REPORT TODAY ON SANITARIUM

Three eminent physicians, specialists in pulmonary diseases, will end their investigation of sanitary and nutritional conditions at the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium this morning and will submit their report to Mayor Kelly in the afternoon, Dr. Harold Coon, spokesman for the experts, announced yesterday.

The report is expected to shed light on charges made recently by a committee of restaurant operators that poor food was served to patients.

Dr. Coon, head of the Wisconsin General hospital, Madison, Wis., promised that "there will be no whitewash" in the report. He added that interviews with patients indicated the food and medical service have improved since public sentiment was stirred up by complaints.

JEWS AMBUSH POLICE HUNTING FOR IMMIGRANTS

Free Fugitives Seized by Authorities

JERUSALEM, Oct. 10 [Reuters]—A large number of Jews armed with rifles, pistols, and daggers attacked the Athlith clearance camp early this morning, an official bulletin stated this evening. Four Arab temporary policemen were seized and beaten with rifle butts and bound and gagged. One Jewish temporary constable also was bound but was not hurt, the bulletin said.

"The attackers cut the avenue of perimeter wire and and severed the telephones," the bulletin said, "and 208 illegal immigrants were then released; 11 other illegal immigrants were bound and gagged, and one Christian women died of suffocation. The whole party then escaped in the direction of Mount Carmel.

Briton Killed in Ambush.

"During subsequent operations the police were fired on from an ambush by Jews armed with rifles, submachine guns, and grenades. One British constable was shot dead, an Arab constable seriously wounded and a Jewish corporal slightly wounded. The police seized nine trucks with drivers near the place of ambush shortly afterwards.

"Later the police officer in charge of operations intercepted a party of 50 Jews who were subsequently found to be illegal immigrants, on the Carmel range near the Jewish village of Meshek Yajour.

"Nine arrests were made, the remainder escaping into the hills.

"While the identity of the nine was being established, a large party of Jews armed with picks arrived on the scene, forcing the surrender of the arrested persons, and disappeared.

"Police forces forbore the use of firearms."

Clash at Tel Aviv

A clash between Jews and police, which resulted in 15 persons being slightly wounded, occurred in Tel Aviv today when the Jews resisted an attempt by mobile police and British troops to surround the Montefiore quarter and search the residents. Some 3,000 workers from neighboring factories, summoned by alarm bells, tried to break thru the police cordon shouting, "We will not give away our weapons or let you arrest immigrants."

The search was called off after the crowd attacked the police with sticks and stones.

JEWS TO VOICE PROTEST OVER PALESTINE BAR

A mass meeting of Chicago's Jewry to express disaproval of Great Britain's action barring Jewish immigration to Palestine will be held Monday night in the Chicago Stadium. Speakers will include Gov. Green, Mayor Kelly, Rabbi Solomon Goldman, and Judge Harry M. Fisher. The meeting will be sponsored by all Zionist groups and all orthodox, reform, and conservative congregations. Prayers will be offered in all synagogs on Sunday that Palestine may become a homeland for Jewish survivors in Europe, more than a 100,000 of whom are living in concentration camps.

FIND CONVICTED KILLER OF TWO POLICEMEN SANE

Kermit Breedlove, 33, a Negro, who was sentenced May 3 to die in the electric chair for the slaying last Dec. 16 of Policeman Ezra Caldwell, 32, a Negro, was found sane by a jury of six men and six women in Criminal court yesterday after a sanity trial. Chief Justice Harold G. Ward set a motion for a new trial for hearing today. If the motion is overruled, the court will set a date for the execution. Breedlove shot and killed Caldwell, another Negro policeman, Samuel Black, and his own wife, Goldane, in his home at 5149 Prairie av.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 11—Death of Gen. Pulaski

CASIMIR Pulaski, Polish patriot of the American revolution, died 166 years ago today of a grapeshot wound suffered at the siege of Savannah, Ga.

Pulaski was born in Podolia, Poland, in 1748, the son of Joseph Pulaski, who started a rebellion to combat the foreign domination of Poland in 1768. The uprising was crushed, the Pulaski estates were confiscated, and young Pulaski fled to Turkey. He came to America in 1777 to join Washington's army. After he had distinguished himself at the battle of Brandywine he was made a brigadier general and chief of cavalry, serving in this post during the winter of 1777 at Trenton.

Pulaski resigned his command the following March, and organized an independent legion of cavalry, which was surprised and defeated by the English at Egg Harbor, N. J. In February, 1779, he was ordered to support Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, commanding the army's southern department.

A French fleet under Count D'Estaing, which had been campaigning in the West Indies, was urged at this time to help drive the British from Savannah. D'Estaing sailed for the Georgia coast, taking the British by surprise, but then dallied too long with preparations until the danger of autumn gales caused him to urge Gen. Lincoln to undertake an assault on the city.

On Oct. 9, 1779, Pulaski bravely charged the enemy lines at the head of his cavalry and fell wounded in the loin. He was removed to the warship Wasp, where surgeons were unable to remove the bullet, and he died on board two days later. Whether he was buried at sea or ashore has never been established.

Gen. Lincoln's attack on Savannah failed, his army retreated to South Carolina, and the French fleet sailed for Europe.

BOARD IS NAMED FOR INQUIRY IN SCHOOL STRIKE

Appointment of a committee to investigate the recent anti-Negro strike of pupils of the Froebel school in Gary was announced yesterday by Supt. of Schools Charles D. Lutz. The committee includes John Jadrnak, representing white parents; former Judge C. V. Ridgley, representing the public; Frederick Price, representing Negro parents, and Finley French, representing Gary teachers. The committee was empowered to employ a trained investigator from a midwestern university to conduct an inquiry into the strike and charges of partiality voiced by parents against R. G. Nuzum, principal of the school.

HIGHLAND PARK VOTES BONDS TO IMPROVE PARKS

Highland Park voters yesterday approved two bond issues totaling $196,000 for public parks in a referendum election.

One bond issue, $130,000, for the purchase and improvement of 12 acres on the lake front at the foot of Roger Williams av., where the park district has operated a bathing beach on the riparian rights of the Rosenwald and Mandel estates, carried 619 to 69.

The other, for $66,000, to construct asphalt tennis courts in Sunset Woods and West Longview parks, improve the fieldhouse and construct a building to house park repair equipment in West Longview, and replace the Sunset Woods golf course watering system, carried 520 to 125. Approval of the bond issues will entail no increase in the tax rate, it was announced.

RABIES QUARANTINE ENDED

A rabies quarantine in Elgin and Dundee townships, Kane county, was lifted yesterday by Dr. C. E. Fidler of the Illinois department of agriculture. Kane county health authorities said rabies contagion among dogs which caused the quarantine to be declared July 20 had subsided.

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE

So the public may know

YOU have probably read in your newspaper, with growing concern, of the strike difficulties in the oil industry. Over the years, The Texas Company has always believed in raising wages as rapidly as possible, consistent with fair retail prices, and reducing working hours consistent with increased production. We realize that only in this way can our people receive more money to buy more things and achieve more leisure to enjoy them.

The Texas Company believes that union leadership also has its responsibility to the American public — that it must help avoid disastrous inflation and that it must live up to its contracts with industry and to the laws of the nation.

With these things in mind, The Texas Company wishes to present to you here:

The salient facts about the strikes at our refineries

1. The strikes are in violation of the no-strike clause of our contract with the union which reads:

"There shall be no strike, stoppage, or slow-down of work . . . except upon written notice . . . The Company within thirty days from the receipt of such notice will meet with the Local Union and endeavor to reach an agreement . . . in the event an agreement is not reached within sixty days after the expiration of such thirty-day period, the Union may immediately exercise its rights to strike."

2. The action of the Union is in violation of the War Labor Disputes Act which reads:

"The representative of the employes shall give to the Secretary of Labor notice of any labor dispute . . . For not less than thirty days after notice is given, the contractor and his employes shall continue production . . . On the thirtieth day after notice is given the National Labor Relations Board shall forthwith take a secret ballot of the employes on the question whether they will permit interruption of war production."

3. The Texas Company offered a 15% increase prior to the strike. That increase represents 46 hours of pay for 40 hours of work. The employes have been working 48 hours per week and receiving pay for 52 hours.

4. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach suggested arbitration and The Texas Company agreed to accept arbitration but asked certain reasonable assurances, such as:

(a) that the strikers return to work

(b) that the arbitrator decide first whether or not the company offer of 15% increase is fair and, if not, the percentage that would be fair

(c) that because of frequent differences between the international and local unions, the local unions as well as the international agree to abide by the arbitrator's award.

5. At Port Arthur, Texas, in January, 1941, the average hourly rate, excluding overtime, was 93 cents. Now, this figure is $1.21 — an increase of 30 per cent, but due to overtime premium payments, the average hourly earning now is $1.31 — an increase of 40 per cent.

6. In January, 1941, the average take-home pay on the basis of a 36-hour week was $33.50 per week. After applying the Company's offer of a 15 per cent increase, and reducing the workweek from 48 to 40 hours, the average take-home pay would be $55.44 per week — an increase in take-home pay of 65 per cent over January, 1941. This compares with an increase in the cost of living of approximately 30 per cent.

GEN. MARSHALL TELLS LESS THAN ALL

Gen. Marshall's biennial report as chief of staff of the army tells in summary fashion the story of American military operations across the Atlantic and Pacific. The report is written with the easy vigor that is characteristic of the author. It contains some information that has been kept more or less secret, notably the plan for the attack on the Japanese homeland that was to have been started this autumn.

In years to come the report will serve as a primer for students of the American campaigns, but, of course, it can serve as hardly more than a primer. Whole libraries will be written to extend, clarify, and dispute statements of fact and conclusions.

This much is obvious: The shadow of Pearl Harbor lies heavily over the report. Almost at the outset Gen. Marshall states his underlying assumption that we were in the war before the Japanese struck. In his view the Russians and the English were our allies before congress declared war. He can, therefore, praise them lavishly for having saved us before we were ready to fight. In this sense Gen. Marshall is thoroly Russified and Anglofied. He has adopted our allies' thesis as his own, just as Mr. Roosevelt did. He can even write almost disparagingly here and there of the contribution of America and no doubt will be praised in some quarters for what will be called his becoming modesty.

His assumption only emphasizes the fact that the army was unready for war when it came. The lack of weapons needs no comment. The lack of tactics comes even closer home to the chief of staff. The fact is that we learned much of what we know about amphibious tactics from the achievements of the Japanese in the early months of the war and we learned modern land warfare from study of the German blitz.

Our allies had relatively little to teach us. We won the war with tactics borrowed from our enemies and we were able to put the lessons to good account because qualitatively our man power was the best in the world and quantitatively our industries gave us such power on the field as never was seen before. The Germans, as Gen. Marshall concedes, had better powder, some guns that were better than ours, and much better tanks, but these disadvantages were overcome by our superior productivity.

As we have said, the shadow of Pearl Harbor lies heavily over the report. There is no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt intended to get this country into the war as an active belligerent, tho he well knew that his course was unpopular. By the end of 1941 it was obvious that the Germans were going to give no provocation. The only avenue to war lay in the Pacific. The question is, did Mr. Roosevelt in his belligerency arrange matters in a fashion to encourage the Japanese to make a move that must lead to conflict?

If the fleet had been properly concentrated it would have been more than adequate to defend the United States. In fact, the ships were widely dispersed over two oceans, the battleships were all but immobilized in Pearl Harbor, and the base itself was insufficiently defended. Half-hearted and last minute measures were taken to strengthen the Philippines, Wake, Midway, and Oahu, but the reënforcements were anything but adequate. They could only add to the cost of defeat if the attack were delivered.

Meanwhile the diplomatic situation was becoming more tense from day to day, but the commanders of our outposts, like the American people at home, were not kept informed. Gen. Marshall himself left Washington to inspect maneuvers. When Mr. Roosevelt and his cabinet knew with certainty that the attack was coming and was imminent the news was withheld from Gen. Marshall. When it became all but certain that the attack would strike Pearl Harbor and there was still time to warn the commanders in Honolulu, the general could not be found. He had gone for a ride.

Was there a deliberate effort to keep the chief of staff in the dark? Was he in any sense a party to the plan? These are questions which remain to be answered. It is no sufficient reply to say that we were already at war on the side of the British royalists and the Russian communists who were our allies. To say that is to deny not only the legal and constitutional aspects of war but also the plain fact that the American people were overwhelmingly against war.

It is to be hoped that the congressional committee will not fail to get Gen. Marshall's interpretation of the events leading to Pearl Harbor. They are not found in his report.

THE PRICES OF THINGS

Tickets for yesterday's baseball game sold for as much as $18 and for the first game on the Cub grounds were as high as $50. Betting at the horse races is on a scale never before known. Five million dollars' worth of parimutuel tickets were sold in a single day at a New York track, and million dollar days are the rule on the tracks here. Stock prices have risen steadily since V-J day and are now the highest in eight years. A stock in a new automobile company was recently offered at $10 a share. The company realized $8.90 a share after underwriting costs. The prospectus said that a car had not yet been designed and production facilities had not been fully acquired, but there were eager buyers when the stock rose to $14.

These phenomena, which any one can add to from his own experience, are symptoms of the excess of money. The amount of money in circulation is 27 billion dollars; it was only 7 billions when the war started in 1939. Total deposits of all banks in the country were 64 billion dollars when the war started, and now are more than 164 billion. There are more than 30 billion dollars' worth of E bonds convertible into cash, all accumulated during the war.

In 1939 people could spend their money for new automobiles, radios, and many other kinds of durable articles. Now there are few of these in the market.

Production of consumer goods in which there is no conversion problem is held up by strikes and the dilly-dallying of OPA. We have bigger production facilities than we had in 1939, and a lot more money. In that year it was production which kept prices down. The same force will operate again if it is permitted to do so. But we can't have increased production if the government won't let manufacturers increase their prices enough to cover the increases in cost. If OPA is permitted to stop production much longer, we are going to be confronted with an uncontrolable inflation. The other impediment to full production lies in the strike. Let the unions with wage grievances negotiate with their employers and call upon outside help if they can't settle their differences. But let them remember that labor has the most to lose in inflation.

THIS HOWLING PLANET

Very likely we're in the dark ages again and don't know it. As winter draws close in Europe more people than ever before in the history of the world are living below the standard of animals. Fairly accurate calculations can be made of the number of children and adults who will die of starvation and cold. Some observers say the reports are exaggerated, others that they cannot be.

Involuntary servitude is a recognized institution. There is a new category of human beings known as displaced persons. Some of them were dragged off to slavery during the war. Some have been thrown out by rulers who didn't want them. Some have voluntarily given up their homes and wandered into foreign lands because they felt they couldn't live under new dictators in degraded conditions. Many people who were uprooted against their will do not want to return. They fear oppression and persecution.

Detestable forms of government have not been abolished. Secret police are as active in Europe now as under Hitler.

Himmler's concentration camps have been uncovered. Stalin's have not. Mr. Truman says that Russia is misrepresented in this country just as the United States is misrepresented in Russia. That is true, but not in the way he meant it. Russian school children are taught that the United States is a capitalistic country which has always brutally exploited both white and black labor and has sought to deprive the average man of land. In this country Russia is represented as a free and progressive land with many institutions we'd do well to adopt.

Fear of Russia prevails over the continent. The designs of Russia constitute the chief obstacle to agreement on peace problems. Altho the American government undertakes to appease the Stalinite dictatorship, it does, apparently, feel a touch of conscience on the score of its good faith. It promised many countries certain elementary rights and privileges which gradually are being canceled by power settlements disregarding these rights and privileges. The persons in this country who will not forgive Mr. Chamberlain of Great Britain for his effort to prevent the war by conciliating Hitler are enraged when any attempt is made to prevent a surrender to the Stalin equivalent of Hitlerism.

Jealousies, hatreds, and fears have thrown the continent into political confusian and social disintegration. There are, of course, differences, illustrated, for instance, by the trial of Lord Haw-Haw in London and the trial of Pierre Laval in Paris. The English, as did the Norwegians even more notably in trying Quisling, sustained the tradition of their law. The French betrayed the hysteria which is dominant in Europe. French hysteria is more symptomatic than Norwegian decorum.

Greed is more dominant than ever before; colonialism more violent. People want their neighbors' lands; governments want more subjects. Imperialism is staking its claims regardless of the abject condition of the domain sought. With all the ravaged evidence of war about them the continental Europeans are playing the game that has caused war. There isn't a symptom of regeneration observable. The mood in Europe after the other war was bright and promising compared with the mood which follows this second one.

Russia is one of our illusions. China is another. China is now a land of contention and brutalities which destroy the lives of the inhabitants and do not ruffle the brows of the suave gentlemen who represent what cannot be called a nation, which is even misnamed as a country, which has no more general humanity than existed in Japan, and which was accepted as a republic when its dictatorship dissolved all the ideas and apparatus of one. In our delusions it is a self-governing nation worthy of all respect.

The politicians of Asia and Europe are at each other's throats. Party differences are murderous. The men who control the concentration camps rule and misrule. The scientists are afraid of themselves and their works.

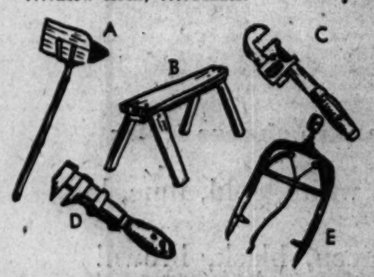
As this howling planet pursues its due course the only thing that really governs in the greater part of it is the law of gravitation.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. If an ordinary drinking glass were inverted over water and a lighted candle placed inside the glass, the water would rise approximately how far in the glass?
   10% 20% 30% 40%
2. The candle flame would then go out because which gas would have been consumed from the air inside the glass?
   Nitrogen Carbon monoxide Argon Oxygen
3. An effigy is most likely to be associated with which college event?
   Matriculation Graduation Initiation Homecoming
4. A balk should make one think of which sporting term?
   Rosin bag Pigskin Free throw Net ball
5. Which one of these horses might be expected to neigh?
   Sea horse Draft horse Charley horse Saw horse
6. You deserve one point for each correct matching of the following five terms, with the pictured objects which belong to the same trades.
   ....Ripsaw; ....Plumb bob; ....Micrometer; ....Blow torch; ....Tedder.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

ATOMIC OPTIMISM

The profusion of public utterances about "the atomic era" and the probable arrival in the near future of a Utopia in which nobody will work and everybody will live underground to avoid bombs, causes this column to lift its hoary head and make a few remarks, more or less seriously. We will quote high scientific authority in support of our skeptical utterances.

The common elements which are the building material of the planet, earth, are composed of extremely stable atoms whose energy appears to have been safely imprisoned for eternity. If this were not so, this world would have disintegrated long before its alleged owner, Mankind, appeared on the premises. For two thousand million years [approx.] these atoms have been subjected to prodigious forces far beyond the capacity of any machines that man can construct—geologic pressures and heats, volcanic explosions, furious lightning strokes, meteorite wallops. Yet the earth continues its flight thru space with the solar system as ordained in the beginning.

Consider the enormous meteor crater in the desert about 20 miles north of Winslow, Ariz. It is a hole 1 mile wide and 600 feet deep. When it was made, Mother Earth got a terrific slap in the face, but never cracked an atom.

The atomic bomb is loaded with uranium 235 and plutonium, whose atoms may be called artificial, since they are laboratory products. To secure these hybrids, which might be called mentally unbalanced elements, a vast amount of the minerals in which uranium exists must be expensively processed. Deposits of such ores are rare. Moreover, when uranium is secured, it must be coaxed into surrendering its hidden and explosive twin, uranium 235. The ratio of production is 140 parts to 1. Therefore, we believe that atomic bombs will always be nearly as scarce as miracles. . . . As for plutonium, it appears to be even a tougher job.

This message of good cheer is based on an editorial in the August bulletin of the Association for the Advancement of Science, which says in conclusion: "Similar attempts [at atom-splitting] on other elements have resulted only in failure."

LINEBOOK COVER, 1945

A joyous jester 'neath a beaming sun,
With gala blossoms dancing at his feet,
Bows in each jape and gay phenomenon
As laughter bubbles and the song is sweet.
But night must come, and belted Saturn's moon
Sees Punchinello weep, his heart impaled,
For love is sorrow, and each mournful tune
Bewails his grief, with every pang detailed.
High jingles here, and pensive sonnets too,
Of love and fortune sometime lost or kissed;
Tho sunshine smiles, or Luna mocks our rue,
The pen drips balm and all is poet's grist.
And so in prose and epigram and verse
A year goes by—for better or for worse!

Remarks by a Fireside Cat

"Sometimes I wonder if it's all worth while," said Ferdinand, my silver tabby.

"Are you referring to life?" I asked.

"Not at all. I have plenty of lives. I was referring to my tail. A gorgeous hunk of fur, if one is to believe all one hears. But such a hazard! For instance, that hot day last summer when I walked too close to the electric fan." And the time I was sleeping under the rocking chair when grandmother didn't know it. She really goes places when she rocks. I expect some day I'll get arthritis where she clipped me."

"Don't forget the night you dozed too close to the fireplace and suddenly I said, 'What smells?'"

"And I woke up and screamed, 'What smells? Me!' You know, my girl, sometimes I shudder at the thought that I might have been born of a short tailed breed."

"That, too, can come to pass," I assured him. "As careless as the kid is, one false move with the lawn mower while you're napping in the grass and presto. . . . Manx cat."

AUTUMN WORLD

Into this strange, familiar autumn world
I walk again. I lose my breath in it
At sight of golden maple leaves unfurled
Against a sky whose blue is infinite.
I see leaves turning into sudden flames,
The lake a driftwood blue, whitecapped and deep
Where sailboats are far thoughts with distant names
And clouds above the sails are dreams asleep.
The summer world is full of cricket sound,
Bird song, and water falling over rock,
But here a stillness covers all the ground
Before the ships come in to winter dock,
Before the year burns out her autumn days
On earth, in bright, flamboyant, reckless blaze.

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if a stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

D. E. writes: "We understand there is a joker in the GI bill which says that if congress ever passes a bonus bill for World War II veterans, any benefits received by the veteran upon discharge now will be deducted from the bonus. What does this include?"

You have been informed correctly. Sec. 1505 of Public law 346-78th Congress, the so-called "GI Bill of Rights," says: "In the event there shall hereafter be authorized any allowance in the nature of adjusted compensation [World War I, name for bonus], any benefits received by, or paid for, any veteran under this act shall be charged against and deducted from such adjusted compensation; and in the event a veteran has obtained a loan under terms of this act, the agency disbursing such adjusted compensation shall first pay the unpaid balance and accrued interest . . . to the extent that the amount of adjusted compensation . . . will permit." This means anything spent by the government now for your education and subsistence while in school and any unemployment compensation, including sums granted to self-employed veterans, must come out of the bonus. Anything you take now simply means you already are getting your bonus. This does not include mustering out pay or disability compensation paid under other laws.

MASTOID SURGERY ON DECLINE

SINCE the introduction of the sulfonamides and penicillin the number of cases of mastoiditis requiring surgery has been reduced drastically. This astonishing fact has been made possible thru the effect of these chemicals on ordinary ear infections. Previously these disorders took their course and often left a focus which encouraged mastoid involvement.

In some institutions this type of operation has almost become a procedure of the past. Merica obtained statistics from three Cleveland hospitals demonstrating the downward trend. In 1937, 153 mastoidectomies were performed; in 1939, 121; in 1941, 82; and in 1943, only 35.

The mastoid process is located just behind the ear and consists of an outer shell of hard bone and an inner mass of communicating air cells. The external prominence can be felt easily by placing the fingers behind the flap of the hearing apparatus, almost directly in line with the center. The structure connects with the middle portion of the aural machinery by means of a tiny canal. Because it is an intricate part of the ear itself, thru its proximity and connections, we can understand how infection in one predisposes to invasion of the other. Primary disease of the mastoid is rare; in almost every instance, inflammation of the ear comes first.

Bacteria usually gain access to the hearing organs thru the Eustachian tubes which travel from the ears to the throat. Children are more susceptible inasmuch as the channels are short. For this reason, ear involvement is a frequent complication of scarlet fever, diphtheria, and other throat maladies. Blowing the nose and swimming also tend to distribute the organisms. Symptoms depend upon the virulence and type of these microbes and streptococci, pneumococci, and staphylococci are the commonest mischief makers.

Once an ear is infected, spread to the mastoid cells is likely to follow. Should drainage thru the drum occur, the chances are that the trouble won't become deeply rooted. But if the "bugs" are confined in the mastoid area thru plugging of the communicating passageway a new set of symptoms develops. Aching is observed in this locality. It may be throbbing in nature and frequently radiates to the teeth, back of the head, neck, or face. Chewing may be painful and hearing diminished. In severe cases, the skin in the region becomes reddened, swollen, and tender. A fever as high as 104 degrees F. is not unusual and marked elevation in the white cells may be noted.

In the meantime, the discharge resulting from the otitis media becomes darker gray in color and sometimes contains blood. X-rays are necessary to ascertain the amount of mastoid destruction but, as a rule, two to three weeks must pass before these changes will be exhibited on the film.

Surgical drainage is called for when evidence of mastoid infection persists for three or four weeks, particularly if there is fever or other signs of toxemia. It is also indicated where oozing from the ear persists in spite of adequate treatment. It is now well established that the combination of surgery and the wonder drugs affords the best chances for rapid and ultimate cure. It is conceivable that in the future, operations of this type will be few and far between.

BABY HOLDS BREATH

Mrs. W. writes: I understand that breath holding is a sign of temper. My baby is extremely good natured but, when frightened, he holds his breath so long it scares me. How can I train him out of this?

REPLY

Try not to startle him. Should an attack occur, ignore it and he will discover that he must use other tricks to express any natural resentments he may wish to exhibit.

FORESTALL IT

Advice to a Duchess

O, Mrs. Edward Windsor
Are you as poor as that?
Can't afford a gown?
A simple hand-me-down?
Even a new hat?
Sad the tale you tell!
"Prices are too high—Wouldn't dare to buy."
Then why don't you sell?

O, Mrs. Edward Windsor,
Everybody knows
Poverty depresses.
Sell your hats and dresses,
Sell your shoes and hose;
Sell a ton or more
Of your slips and scanties,
Of your bras and panties,
Bought in days of yore.

O, Mrs. Edward Windsor,
When the price is high,
When ça coûte trop chére
For everything you wear,
That's no time to buy.

A Pioneer Incident

I shall never forget an incident of my childhood. Cut off from all food supplies in our primitive cabin, my widowed mother watched with helpless terror her large brood of starving children growing weaker day by day. A fortnight had passed with no hope of succor.

Suddenly a door was flung open. My grandmother stood there outlined against the light. Usually we children threw ourselves upon her with cries of welcome. But now we were too feeble with fasting.

"What the hell goes on here," cried grandmother in her hearty pioneer fashion. She unhooked a couple of rattlesnakes from the belt of her dirndl skirt where they hung by their buttons and were peeping coyly at us. For like all loving grandmothers she usually picked up a little gift for us on the way.

My mother said feebly, "We are starving." She led grandmother to a large pile of packaged foodstuffs. Selecting a box, she read the directions for opening—"Press on dotted lines and turn back." Then my poor little mother held up her mutilated hands. Every fingernail was missing.

My grandmother picked up package after package. "Press on perforated lines and turn back."

"Hell's bells," she snorted, "a Wallace never turns back."

She stepped to the wall and jerked down a couple of 44s. My mother kept them there ready and loaded. After all we had a victory garden, and you know what neighbors are.

Grandmother opened fire. In a moment the room overflowed with food; crackers, spaghetti, breakfast food. You should have seen us children eat. Even the baby entered into the spirit of the thing and was found happily feeding the rattlesnakes with a favorite brand of soapflakes.

But my little brother Jake was perhaps the happiest o all. Grandmother, in the excitement, had shot off all the fingers of his right hand. Never, so long as he might live, would he have to cut thru dotted lines with his nails and turn back.

Grandmother loved all us children, but I think that from this time on she always felt a special pride and tenderness for little Jake.

Are drunkards, never doubt it—
Saturday never had a child,
And often laughs about it.

ANDY FRAIN FOR POLICE CHIEF

Chicago, Oct. 6—A few words from several of the many policemen standing around would have prevented a near riot at Wrigley field last night. The policemen on duty calmly turned their backs as the crowd started mobbing the ticket office. One girl fainted in the crush; I came very close to being trampled, as did many others; every one was commenting on the action, or should I say lack of action, of the police force.

As soon as the crowd came in contact with a word of authority, in the person of Andy Frain's ushers, they quieted down and formed single lines to the box offices. Most of those ushers weren't as old as the fans, yet the fans obeyed them without question. Surely men who are supposed to be trained for such emergencies could have done the same. Perhaps our police department could profit from the system used by Andy Frain!

AN IRATE TAXPAYER

A GREAT ITALIAN?

Chicago, Oct. 1—I have just finished reading the article entitled "Shift in Name of Balbo Drive to Await Demand," and I must admit that I, as an American of Italian extraction, am more surprised than perturbed upon reading its content.

Somehow, it seems almost thoughtless to harbor such a feeling at such a time when so many noble sons of American-Italian origin have fought and even sacrificed their all for the erasure of racial difference and the feelings pertinent thereto. Let us try, by all possible means, to uphold what our boys have so bravely fought and died for—"democracy the world over." Balbo was a great Italian and all great men, no matter what their creed or race, should be looked up to, admired and respected by all.

I do hope that other American-Italians will demand that the name of Balbo drive be retained and just for the sentiments which I have expressed herewith.

NOT REALLY, CAPTAIN!

Fort Custer, Mich., Oct. 4—Ordinarily, we would be inclined to defend commissioned rank from some of the charges of favoritism, frequently entirely incorrect or only partially correct, which have been appearing in this column.

Recently, however, from a letter in a service publication we learned that in the case of chocolate bars issued by the army, the officers' bar contains nine almonds whereas the enlisted men's bar contains only seven. This, we are unanimous in agreeing, carries the matter of privilege of rank too far.

WHILE THEY WAIT

THE PHILIPPINES, Sept. 21—The writer is an M. P. in a returnees depot, of which there are three in the Pacific area. I have a long way to go before I'm eligible for discharge, so this is not a personal appeal.

There are 10,000 combat veterans in this camp at present, waiting to go home. Over 3,000 of these men have been forced to lie around this depot for over four weeks for lack of transportation.

This area is known to all service men as the dirtiest, hottest, and most diseased area in the islands. It has been picked as a depot because of the big, protected harbor here. In this harbor there are hundreds of ocean going ships that are gathering barnacles and rust from week upon week of idleness.

In my duties as an M. P. I see the natural results of the impatience of these men. They enter this camp wild with enthusiasm, naturally, they're going home after doing a great job under conditions you have to see to appreciate. The group of 3,000 I previously mentioned were told they would be here from five to seven days. Even that seemed an age to them. After 10 days and then two weeks had passed they started looking for excitement, which has been their constant lot for over three years.

They are buying liquor that is notoriously bad. Some throws men into convulsions while other kinds just kill outright. The island's death rate from liquor is a military secret.

The island women are attractive and look mighty light skinned to most of the men who have been around the pure black strains in the southern Pacific. Our police blotter speaks volumes for the amount of venereal disease in this area. It's been said "the flesh is weak," and it's almost reasonable in this case.

Glowing reports came thru from Washington to soothe the public about discharges. What do you suppose these 10,000 men here are thinking? This camp is geared up to handle 30,000 men a month. Since its activation three months ago it has discharged a grand total of 12,000 men and one-quarter of them are still here waiting for one boat for over four weeks, while hundreds are within sight of them, just riding their anchors.

Store Hours, 9:45 to 5:45

Marshall Field & Company

October 11, 1945

Dear public . . .

Madame Suzy, chic little French woman, famous hat designer, arrived in Chicago with a gigantic rope tied around one piece of luggage: "Ze zipper," she said, "is stuck." "We'll fix it," we said. Madame Suzy was amazed: "No—it takes the harness shop—whoever heard of a store fixing things ooooh?"

when Suzy goes sightseeing . . .

we can't keep it under our hat

The first French milliner to come to America since before the war—the famous Madame Suzy of Paris—set out to show America her hats and came here first. "Mais aussi," says Suzy, "I want to sight-see America. And voila—here is America right here in your wonderful, unbelievable store." So we took Madame Suzy sightseeing from the first floor through the ninth floor . . . here's what she said. We thought you'd like to know—we just can't keep it under our Madame Suzy chapeau:

A store so big—so many show windows, displays, workrooms, tearooms all amazed her. But when she visited Trend House she could only say: "Incroyable—a fountain in the flagstone terrace, real brick, a roof—I don't believe it and I see it."

"Extraordinaire—such pretty girls—that is so American." It was the first fashion show Madame Suzy had ever seen in America and she was amazed at all designers' creations appearing in one show. She was delighted with shoulder pads (in France they call them simply "Americaines"). And the 28 Shop: "Magnifique—magnifique."

"Ah—je suis fatigue—your store is so big. Is it really only 65 acres?"

Madame Suzy wanted to see something completely American, so she went through our "Attic," through our Collectors' Room and Pilgrim Shop. (What delighted her most were the shaving mugs—marked for individual owners with pictures of trains for engineers, money for bankers!)

"I feel like Suzy in Wonderland. I wish I could take the whole store right with me back to France — I can't—but I will take some wool lined boots for my friends."

BREAKING THE NEWS

Mrs. Dawson took a sip of water. "You know, every one is always saying how selfish Ridge is and, of course, it's so, to a certain extent. But it never interferes with his being a gentleman. He's always been lovely to me. I mean, of course, we fought like cats and dogs, but when it came to something real, something important, he always came up to scratch."

Mr. Izenga quietly enjoyed her choice of cliches. They seemed to go together so neatly. And he was beginning to smell a little white mouse.

She gave him an arch glance. "Did you get just a teeny-weeny suspicion that Ridge might be protecting a . . . a lady . . . with that silly alibi of his?"

"O, so that's how it was. He was with you?"

She looked rather startled. "Well, I was going to get to that later. I wanted to tell you, first, that I just never could feel really divorced from Ridge."

"I see." At this moment the waitress brought food. Mrs. Dawson ate. Then she exclaimed. "And you needn't look like that. You're a man of the world?"

"Am I? I'm not so sure."

"Well anyway, as I told that fascinating young lieutenant . . ."

"As you did what?"

"If you won't let me talk, how can I tell you? I couldn't bear to have Ridge make a martyr of himself for me, and the lieutenant said they really couldn't be expected to believe that feeble alibi of Ridge's, so I just told them the truth."

"The lieutenant questioned you himself?"

"O, my yes. Isn't he the best looking somebody! He was so understanding. It's so easy to talk to him. I didn't want him to think I was awful so I told about our plans. I explained that Ridge and I were planning to get married again."

"What? Really?"

"Yes, but don't breathe it to a soul, my dear."

"I must run along now, Maribeth." He reached for the check.

"O, darling, you haven't heard what I want you to help me with! This is what I've been getting to, all this time. It's Ridge. He doesn't know I . . . I was obliged to tell the police the truth. And he should know. Because they'll ask him again, and if he tells that old lie about the drug store the police will be really angry at him."

"Well, call him up. You have a telephone."

"Don't be cross. You've been such a lamb so far. You see we swore we wouldn't tell, either or us, and Ridge will be just wild when he hears what I did. I want some mutual friend to break it to him, and persuade him it's for the best. Tell him I did it for him. I don't want this sweet new understanding between us to be wrecked at the start. It means so much to me. Please, Mr. Izenga. Please."

Mr. Izenga felt his resistance being sapped. It made him cross but he couldn't help it. In another 10 minutes he had committed himself.

It was nearly 9 before Mr. Izenga tracked down Ridge Dawson in his apartment. Over the telephone, his voice cracked with impatience.

"Can't spare a minute to talk to you, Cornellus. Sorry, but I'm on my way to the Webers. They're waiting to drive me out to the club. Just popped in here to change my clothes."

"You can drop in my place on your way."

"I'll see you tomorrow. No, Monday. Soon, anyway."

"This won keep that long. I have seen Maribeth."

"Did you say Maribeth?"

"That's right."

There was an interval of soft cursing. "O, all right, blast it. All right. For two minutes only."

Twenty minutes later a car stopped, a door banged and the doorbell gave two peals.

Mr. Dawson strode in, tall and very handsome in his evening clothes and wrath.

"What's this about Maribeth?"

Mr. Izenga went down the hall to the den. Ridge looked so distinguished, so sophisticated and elegant that Mr. Izenga did not wonder Maribeth could not get over him.

"I lunched with Maribeth today," he began, "At her request. I just happened to bump into her."

Mr. Dawson was loftily amused. "Don't bother to explain, old boy. You may lunch with her the rest of your life, and it's okay by me."

"She asked me to see you and tell you she's told the police . . ."

The humor was wiped off Mr. Dawson's handsome face. "She . . . she told . . . the police . . . what?"

"About your real alibi." Mr. Izenga began to wish he had had the sense to say no oftener. "That you were with her the night of the . . . the night Letty died."

"O, she did. She did huh?" Ridge seemed dazed. "The dirty little . . ." He sat down as if his knees had given. "Go on."

"She said she knew the police weren't believing your first alibi, about the drug store . . ."

"She's crazy. Where'd she get that idea? They'd swallow it completely. I was all set."

"I doubt that. Else, why did the police question her on the point. I'm afraid you underrate French."

Ridge sat glowering at the floor. "Or French got a tip," he growled.

"I don't think you mean that," Mr. Izenga retorted.

"O, don't be so touchy," Ridge groaned. "Blast that little fool. I've got to think."

"You can't blame her too much, you were an idiot to trust her. She was no match for French. He had it out of her in a few minutes that you were protecting her reputation. That you and she had promised each other not to tell and you were too much of a gentleman to break your promise."

Ridge looked up, a little relieved. "Her reputation. Blue sunflowers." He laughed. "Well, if she thinks it will get her anywhere to make a martyr of herself . . . let her think again."

"And were you with her, that night?"

"Of course I was. I was going to protect her indefinitely if she'd only kept her mouth shut. But that's a woman for you. She's sunk herself and nothing to show for it. Too bad!"

Airily Mr. Dawson shrugged his smart, square shoulders and rose, slapping his gloves across his palm.

"I am not thru," Mr. Izenga said, "I am just getting to the really interesting part, Ridge. Maribeth's reputation. She told French you were merely a little previous in your call. That you and she were planning to be remarried at once."

LINCOLN PARK ZOO GETS 200 NEW BOARDERS

Varied Collection Comes from Benton Harbor

BY WARD WALKER

The Stinkers arrived in Lincoln park zoo yesterday.

Strictly speaking, their names are slanderous, for they're two of the cleanest smelling skunks in captivity, according to Eau de Cologne, the zoo's pet skunk, who is sharing his quarters with them.

The Stinkers were part of a collection of nearly 200 mammals and birds delivered to R. Marlin Perkins, zoo director, by Chic Bell, director of the House of David's zoo in Benton Harbor, Mich. Chic asserted the Stinkers had been descented and climbed into their cage to prove it. That, agreed Perkins, was the acid test and he yas formally introduced.

A Brown Black Bear

Eau de Cologne sulked in the corner and the skunks' neighbors, the Rhesus monkey and the Greater Porcupine of Turkestan, watched in amazed disbelief.

Included in the shipment was one of the largest black bears in captivity—Brownie, a 1,000 pounder whose coat is cinnamon brown because of a trick of nature.

Brownie was a cub on the Enchanted Island during A Century of Progress exposition, so this is a return engagement for him. Chic said the trip had upset the giant and that he was as surly as—a bear. But he's expected out of his cave in a few days.

A One Man Monkey

Another favorite of Chicagoans who visited the Benton Harbor zoo was Tommy, a 6 year old white face ringtail monkey that originally hailed from South America. Tommy posed sitting on Chic's shoulder, but refused to have anything to do with Perkins. . . . "A one man monkey," Chic explained.

Also in the shipment were a coati-mundi [a raccoon-like animal], two agouti [they resemble rabbits], some foxes, a pair of swans, four nob nose geese, and some pheasants with odd colored feathers.

The House of David zoo will be resupplied with specimens from the organization's zoo in Melbourne, Australia, Bell said, and it will probably be ready for next summer's visitors. Perkins said the shipment was bought at an undisclosed price.

2 PROBATIONERS GET JAIL TERMS FOR REPEATING

Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday sentenced Albert Olszewski, 29, of 2748 Haddon av., to two to four years in the penitentiary, and Kenneth Durrah, 23, a Negro, to one to three years, for violations of their probations. Durrah, who was placed on probation in 1942 after conviction on three charges of robbery, is completing a year's sentence in the Bridewell for a burglary he committed while on probation. Olszewski, sentenced to six months in the county jail and placed on probation in February, 1943, for larceny, was arrested Tuesday in Chicago at the request of New York police, who said he stole a truck.

Brandon Spurns Guard as Police Hunt Fugitive

Rodney H. Brandon of Batavia disdained a bodyguard yesterday while state police continued their search for a woman who escaped from a state hospital where she was placed in 1942 after attempting to kill him. The woman is Mrs. Leona Nielsen, 40, widowed mother of four children, who sought state relief when Brandon was director of public welfare.

CANAL ST. BRIDGE COST INCREASED; NEW BIDS NEEDED

Because of post-war increases in material and labor costs, the allocation for construction of the S. Canal st. bridge must be increased from $1,650,000 to $1,800,000, the motor fuel tax subcommittee of the council finance committee reported yesterday. Because of the increases, it will be necessary to readvertise for bids on some of the superstructure projects. The subcommittee allocated $175,000 to repair the Lake st. bridge which Stephen Michuda, city bridge engineer, said is 29 years old and in need of repair.

"United Air Lines reservations?

. . . Sorry, the line is busy"

The Age of Flight is really here. Since the government's lifting of air travel priorities, we're literally swamped with requests for reservations on United Mainliners. Of course, we knew that many of you were anxious to fly United again—but immediately an avalanche of calls resulted.

All along the Main Line Airways incoming calls are jamming the wires in our reservations and ticket offices. Our Chicago reservations reports 546 calls within one hour. The telephone company tells us they check 1,000 "busy" signals here in a single day.

If you got a busy signal when you called United or if the reservations clerk, answering, was forced to say, "Just a moment, please," we're very sorry.

We've hurried to employ extra people. We've put our outside sales force on the job answering telephones. And still we can't answer all calls. This is not the kind of telephone service to which you've been accustomed, nor the kind we are going to give you.

Already new switchboards and equipment are being added to double our facilities. As before, United will be ready to offer everyone prompt reservations service. And here's more good news—soon there will be a substantial increase in the number of seats available on Mainliners. Meanwhile, for your understanding and patience during this unusual situation, we of United wish to say, "Thank You."

YOUNG MOTHER RAPED, ROBBED IN GRANT PARK

Waukegan Men Freed on Charge of WAVE

A rapist, who attacked his victim in Grant park near Van Buren st., was being sought yesterday by police. The 22 year old woman is the mother of a baby daughter and the wife of a soldier stationed in Texas.

She told police she finished work as a clerk in a loop hotel at 6 a. m. and walked to the Illinois Central railroad station at Van Buren st. The man approached unseen from behind her, placed a knife against her back and blindfolded her with a handkerchief, she said.

Her assailant took her into the park, where he raped her. He fled with her wristwatch and $53. The woman was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

An 18 year old stenographer was overpowered and raped last night by an unidentified man in the 2900 block of Sayre av. She had alighted from a Belmont av. bus and was walking home when the man asked her to tell him the time. As she glanced at her wrist watch, he seized her and threw her down in the parkway and in spite of a fierce struggle on her part tore off her clothing. He escaped in an old model car. The girl was taken to the Belmont hospital.

Freed on Rape Charge

Judge Ralph J. Dady in the Lake county Circuit court yesterday returned a finding of not guilty for William B. Starr, 21, of 809 Westmoreland av., Waukegan, on one of three rape indictments involving a WAVE assigned to the Great Lakes Naval Training center.

State's Atty. Harry Hall said he will confere with Great Lakes authorities before determining whether to prosecute Starr on two other indictments.

The WAVE, who collapsed while testifying Tuesday, became hysterical when Judge Dady, who heard the case without a jury, announced his decision. She was attended by a navy physician who had testified in the trial.

Failure of Evanston police to investigate thoroly the activities of a 16 year old boy who is accused of raping an 8 year old girl and of taking indecent liberties with a 10 year old girl was brought out yesterday during testimony before Judge Frank H. Bicek in Juvenile court.

Will Ask Boy Be Held

Sgt. Hubert G. Kelsh admitted on cross-examination that police did not investigate a statement attributed to the boy that he called at the home of a friend in the 2400 block of Grant st. a short time before the alleged rape on Sept. 6.

Assistant State's Attorneys James J. Cherry and Patrick Egan said they will ask Judge Bicek to hold the boy over to the grand jury. A defense motion to withhold the boy's alleged confession on the ground it was obtained under duress will be heard Monday.

H. A. Monahan, supervisor of the intake department at the Juvenile home, testified yesterday that the boy admitted both crimes in conversation with him.

DOCTOR'S WIDOW DENIES GUILT IN NURSE SHOOTING

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Annie Mansfeldt today pleaded innocent to a charge of murdering her doctor husband's nurse and was ordered held for trial, the date to be set later.

Wilbur P. Martin

Mrs. Mansfeldt is charged with the fatal shooting last week of Mrs. Vada Martin, 38, a registered nurse she had suspected of a clandestine romance with Dr. John Mansfeldt. The physician committed suicide by poison after learning of the shooting.

When Municipal Judge Edward Mokenbuhr mentioned the three Mansfeldt children Mrs. Mansfeldt collapsed and was carried from the courtroom.

The husband of the slain woman, Navy Warrant Officer Wilbur P. Martin, viewed her body today. "My God, I loved her," he sobbed. He had just returned from service in the South Pacific.

MRS. ROSEMARY WIRICK

Mrs. Rosemary P. Wirick, 23, of 190 E. Chestnut st., won a divorce from her husband, Howard, 25, before Judge Peter H. Schwaba in Superior court yesterday, when she testified that Wirick shot her in the chest on St. Valentine's day in 1943.

David W. Raymond, Mrs. Wirick's attorney, told the court that Wirick spent two months in the county jail after conviction for the shooting, and asked that he be ordered to pay $680 in hospital expenses incurred by Mrs. Wirick. The court entered the order.

The couple married July 15, 1941, and separated after the shooting. Mrs. Wirick was granted permission to resume her maiden name of Prentice.

BARMAN SOUGHT AFTER WOMAN'S MYSTERY DEATH

John Casey, 37, a bartender, was sought yesterday for questioning by North av. police after Mrs. Fritzy Wright, 36, of 2932 N. Francisco av., found unconscious in his gas filled apartment at 1671 Milwaukee av., died in County hospital. Her sister, Mrs. Laura DuBois, 43, of 2857 N. Sacramento av., told police Casey telephoned her that Mrs. Wright had swallowed sleeping tablets. Mrs. Wright was the mother of Joan, 10.

WIFE KILLS TWO DAUGHTERS AND ENDS OWN LIFE

Manasquan, N. J., Oct. 10 [Special]—Apparently despondent over the absence of her husband, Mrs. Grace MacMurray, 32, today killed her two young daughters, set fire to her one story cottage, and then took her own life. All three bodies were found in the charred ruins of the home.

Police learned from neighbors that her husband, a civilian radio technician employed by the government, had been absent on duty much of the time during the war and had left a month ago for New Mexico. She had threatened suicide several times, the last time this morning, but the neighbors considered it idle talk.

Bodies of the two children, Dorothy, 2½, and a 10 months old baby, were found with their heads bashed in from hammer blows.

Skate Dancers Show How to Extinguish Fire on Ice

STATE PONDERS HOW, TO WHOM TO PAY BONUS

Lump Sums, or as Needed, Considered by Board

A basic question on the issue of a state bonus for World War II veterans is whether it should be paid according to the veteran's need, State Sen. Peters [R., St. Joseph], chairman of the bonus commission, said yesterday when he appointed sub-committees to study the subject in detail.

Several members of the 16 man commission have expressed a liking for the so-called Nebraska plan. After World War I. that state set up a fund to aid needy veterans. Illinois, on the other hand, paid a bonus without regard to need.

Because Illinois, this time, will have nearly a million veterans, some of the bonus commissioners fear the financial structure of the state government will be wrecked if all are to be paid substantial sums.

Questions to Be Pondered

One sub-committee will ponder which veterans are to be eligible for a bonus. This covers the question of need. Also to be considered is the minimum period of service to be a pre-requisite for payment—30 days or six months, for example. Chairman will be State Rep. Rhodes [R., Normal], head of the house insurance committee.

Other members are Sen. Libonati [D., Chicago], Sen. Broyles [R., Mount Vernon], Col. Horace E. Thornton, deputy state director of public welfare, and James P. Ringley of Chicago, member of the state veterans' commission.

Assigned to recommend the amount of compensation to be paid and means of financing it are: Sen. Dick [R., Quincy], chairman; Sen. Barry [D., Chicago], Sen. Libonati [D., Chicago], Rep. Adduci [R., Chicago], Rep. David Hunter [R., Rockford], Rep. Charles D. Franz [D., Freeport], Rep. L. C. Harris [D., Granite City], and James Simpson Jr., of Wadsworth, head of Industry for Veterans, Inc.

Will Watch Other States

State Sen. Collins [R., DeKalb] will head a group keeping tabs on bonus proposals in congress and in other states. With him will serve former Gov. John Stelle, Rep. Adduci, Rep. Harris, and Col. Robert W. Davis, Carbondale newspaper publisher.

Sen. Peters will be an ex-officio member of each committee. Bonus commission headquarters will be transferred to the capitol in Springfield Oct. 16.

"We want to save most of your mustering out pay. Can't we just cash part of that check?"

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Rose Schueneman

Services for Mrs. Rose Schueneman, 85, who was killed in an automobile accident May 27 in Los Angeles, Cal., will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the chapel at 2118 Lawrence av. Mrs. Schueneman, who moved from Chicago to Los Angeles 10 years ago, was the widow of August Schueneman, who was known to the children of Chicago in the 1890s as the captain of the "Christmas tree boat," which annually brought a load of Christmas trees from the upper lakes region. He was drowned when the ship was sunk with all hands in 1899. Mrs. Schueneman is survived by a son, Arthur, and a daughter, Mrs. Ilma Hangle.

LUCY GILMAN, RADIO ACTRESS, WINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Lucy Gilman Chandler, 20, of 2501 Farwell av., a radio actress, was granted a divorce from Douglas M. Chandler, New York radio actor, before Judge Edwin A. Robson in Superior court yesterday on a charge of desertion.

Mrs. Gilman testified that her husband sent her to live with her family here in March, 1944, when she was expecting a baby. After the child, Michael Bruce, was born July 2, 1944, Chandler refused to join her in Chicago or to let her return to New York, Mrs. Gilman said.

Mrs. Chandler won custody of their son and was awarded $7.50 a week for his support. She waived alimony. The couple was married Sept. 16, 1943 and separated March 1, 1944.

HARRY GUILBERT DIES AT 63; LONG SAFETY LEADER

Harry Guilbert

Harry Guilbert, since 1922 safety and personnel director for the Pullman company, and during the war a safety consultant to the government, died yesterday in the Billings hospital. He was 63, and lived at 11146 Lowe av.

For more than 30 years Mr. Guilbert had crusaded for safety in industry. He especially advocated the wearing of goggles by factory workers, this interest arising from his service as a guard in the Liverpool, England, workhouse where he saw men blinded by flying stone chips. He was born in Liverpool, served with the British army in the Boer war, and came to Chicago in 1907.

In 1940 the labor department appointed him regional safety director for 10 midwestern states. He was active in the National Safety council and the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Mr. Guilbert leaves his widow, Charlotte, and a son, William. Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday in the chapel at 10234 Michigan av.

GIRL, 4, KILLED, 4 CHILDREN HURT IN FARM BLAZE

Joanne Denault, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Denault, perished yesterday when a kitchen stove exploded and fire destroyed the family's farm home near Hersher, Kankakee, county. Four children, Donald, 15; Jerome, 13; Vernon, 8, and Maynard, 3, suffered burns and were taken to St. Mary's hospital in Kankakee. Four other children, Raymond, 10; Willard, 9; Dolores, 12, and Geraldine, 16, and a cousin, Theresa, 14, escaped by jumping from bedroom windows on the second floor. All the children were sleeping except Jerome, who was helping his mother light the stove by using kerosene. Mrs. Denault also escaped injury.

Joseph W. Therry, 48, of 7643 Monroe st., Forest Park, recording secretary of local 753 of the milk wagon drivers' union, died last night, apparently of a heart attack, as he was about to deliver a report to members of the union meeting in Swedish Fraternal hall, 1415 Sherman av., Evanston. An Evanston police pulmotor squad worked half an hour in an effort to revive him. He is survived by his widow, and a son, Wayne, 25, with the army in Germany.

Truck Owner Stricken, Dies in Court Room

Charles W. Barnes, 76, of 5333 Cottage Grove av., owner of a trucking business, died of a heart attack in the Circuit court room of Judge Cornelius J. Harrington yesterday while waiting to testify in his wife's $50,000 personal injury suit against the Chicago Surface Lines.

Mrs. Anna Marie Spiel

Services for Mrs. Anna Marie Spiel, who died Tuesday at her home, 2715 Pine Grove av., will take place at 3:45 p. m. today in the chapel at 5501 N. Ashland av. Her father, Theodore Theis, who died in 1926, came to Chicago in 1849, and for several years was chief engineer of the pressroom of THE TRIBUNE. Mrs. Spiel is survived by her husband, George, executive vice president of the Magill Weinsheimer Lithographing company; two sons, George Jr. and Robert E., and a daughter, Mrs. Lisette Reckitt.

J. A. Middleton

Services for J. A. Middleton, 69, retired traffic manager of the Eagle-Picher Lead company here, will be held today in Elkhart, Ind. Mr. Middleton died Tuesday in his home there. For many years he was frate traffic manager of the Frisco railroad in St. Louis, Mo., and during World War I he was in charge of transportation for petroleum products in Washington, D. C. Survivors include his widow, Jean, two daughters, and two sons.

Nellie Maria Whipple

Miss Nellie Maria Whipple, 70, of 2020 Orrington av., Evanston, a retired librarian, died yesterday in Evanston hospital. She is survived by a brother, George A. Whipple, former member of the Evanston Township High school faculty, with whom she made her home. Services will be held at 5 p. m. today at the home. The body will be taken to Shrewsbury, Mass., for burial.

Mrs. Fanny W. Wilson

Services for Mrs. Fanny W. Wilson, Negro, 61, of 4406 South Park way, who died on Monday in Provident hospital, will be held at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Quinn A. M. E. chapel, at 24th st. and Wabash av. Mrs. Wilson, widow of the Rev. Robert E. Wilson, a presiding elder of the A. M. E. church, also is survived by four children and two grandchildren.

3 CONGRESSMEN HIT NAVY, ARMY RELEASE PLAN

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—House members today continued their attacks on the army and navy for their conduct of the demobilization program.

Rep. Pittenger [R., Minn.] told the house his constituents' mail tells a growing story of "incompetence, bungling, and mishandling of the demobilization of our armed forces."

He said President Truman as commander in chief may have to be asked to assume responsibility for speedy demobilization, otherwise congress will have to pass special legislation.

Had to Unload Liner

Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.], in a house speech, complained that altho millions of homes are awaiting returned soldiers, one group of overseas veterans had to unload a returned ship because New York stevedores were on strike. He was referring to the unloading of the Queen Elizabeth by soldiers in New York yesterday.

"I ask the sponsors of the full employment bill," said Hoffman, "what's the use of creating jobs when labor can pull a dirty deal like that on our soldiers?"

"Just Running Errands"

A Democrat, Rep. Voorhis [Cal.], told the house the worst feature of the demobilization program was the continued service of men who have nothing to do. "Men are just cooling their heels or running errands for officers, and overseas veterans are required to take basic training all over again," Voorhis charged.

"I do not doubt," said Voorhis, "that the high command is trying sincerely to carry out speedy demobilization. But evidence is convincing that in the intermediate officer ranks there is actual resistance to the release even of men who are utterly unneeded. Such a situation cannot be tolerated by congress."

ARRAIGNED ON OBSCENITY CHARGE

Arthur Silber, 30, owner of the cigar store at 48 N. Wells st., was put under $500 bond by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker after being arraigned on a charge of causing obscene printed matter to be shipped in interstate commerce. He pleaded not guilty and the hearing was continued until Oct. 17.

$116,000 VALUE SET ON ESTATE OF J. A. SWANSON

John A. Swanson, former state's attorney who died Sept. 24 at the age of 71, left an estate valued at $116,000, according to a petition for letters of administration filed yesterday in Probate court in behalf of his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Klaas, 9337 S. Laflin st. Mr. Swanson, who was state's attorney from 1928 to 1932 and Circuit judge from 1921 to 1928, left no will. The estate includes $10,000 in real estate and $100,000 in personal property, chiefly building securities. Survivors include his widow, Cecile, who lives with Mrs. Klaas, and another daughter, Mrs. Charlotte A. Olson of Grayslake.

Seventeen relatives, 26 friends, four charity institutes, and a church will share in the $300,000 estate of William A. Kerber, retired Elgin meat packer, under the terms of his will filed yesterday in the Kane county Probate court at Geneva. He died Oct. 1, aged 80. His widow, Emma, is to receive one-sixth of the estate under a pre-marital agreement, plus the home at 27 Rugby pl., Elgin.

UNITS OF 7TH; 5TH ARMORED ARRIVE IN N.Y.

20,000 Veterans Reach Eastern Ports

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—More than 12,000 veterans of the European war, including members of the 5th and 7th armored divisions, disembarked in the New York port of embarkation today from six ships.

More than 6,000 of them landed near Camp Shanks, N. Y., where 2,000 low point soldiers were being processed for overseas occupation duty.

At Shanks, enlisted personnel handled baggage for the incoming troops in a departure from past procedure which camp officials said was due to the longshoremen's strike in New York harbor. In the past baggage was unloaded by stevedores at New York City before transports continued more than 20 miles up the river to the camp landing.

Destroyed 2,653 Vehicles

Aboard the incoming Pachaug Victory were 1,951 members of the 7th, whose statisticians claimed their units rolled 2,260 miles in combat operations to destroy 2,653 enemy vehicles and capture 3,517 others.

The division is scheduled to be deactivated tomorrow at Shanks.

One of the largest contingents of the 5th to arrive was aboard the army transport Edmund B. Alexander, which docked at New York with 5,106 troops.

The day's arrivals at three major east coast debarkation points included 19 ships with more than 20,000 service passengers.

7,200 Vets Due Today

Eight troop ships are scheduled to arrive tomorrow at east coast ports with more than 4,300 service personnel, while at San Francisco approximately 2,900 Pacific veterans are due aboard three vessels.

Ships scheduled to arrive tomorrow:

At New York—[Aboard Rushville Victory, from Antwerp]—1,950 troops, many for discharge. [Aboard Joseph Nicholson]—742. [Aboard Thomas Bickett]—741. [Aboard Herrons Bridge, from Le Havre]—18. [Aboard Oriental]—13.

At Boston—[Aboard Jonathan Worth]—762. [Aboard James Price]—13.

At Newport News, Va.—[Aboard Charles Wooster]—103.

At San Francisco—Carriers Petrof Bay and Teamer Bay, 1,799 men; transport Rixey, 1,065.

Units of 43d Arrive

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10 (AP)—Members of the 152d field artillery and 103d infantry regiment of the 43d division arrived here today from Japan aboard the Kenton.

ASK EMPLOYERS TO FIND PLACES FOR DISABLED

Employers are being asked this week to make special efforts to determine which positions can be filled by handicapped persons, Martin F. Stogenson, ptacement secretary of the Disabled Persons Association of Illinois, said yesterday. Mayor Kelly has proclaimed Employ the Physically Handicapped week.

"Our slogan is: 'Employ a man on the basis of his ability, not on the basis of his disability.'" Stogenson said. "Reflection will make it clear to anyone that no man uses all of his faculties on any single job."

Illinois has 189,000 physically handicapped persons and this number will continue to increase as the army and navy hospitals send home more men who have received maximum medical treatment for their injuries, Stogenson said. The Disabled American Veterans and the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped have joined in sponsoring observance of the week.

MOTHER REGAINS BABY IN BATTLE FOR SEPARATION

Esther Olive Tinman, nine months, was placed in the custody of her mother, Mrs. Esther Tinman, 33, of 2032 W. 103d st., until next Monday by Judge Elmer J. Schnackenberg in Circuit court yesterday after he found the baby's appearance healthy.

The baby was taken to court at a hearing of Mrs. Tinman's motion for temporary custody while her separate maintenance suit is pending against her husband, Hugh, 33, of 8810 Michigan av. Mrs. Tinman's attorney, Joseph Becker, told the court that Tinman illegally took the child from its mother on Oct. 4.

Tinman charged the baby's health was being neglected. Mrs. Tinman denied the charges and Dr. Ruth Charles testified for her. The case was continued to permit a social service investigation. The Tinmans returned two months ago from the Panama Canal Zone, where both were civilian employes of the navy, Becker said. They were married Oct. 5, 1940, and separated last Aug. 2.

ARMY ORDERS INACTIVATION OF 32 DIVISIONS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—The army has ordered inactivation of 32 of the 89 divisions it had at peak strength during the war.

The 32, it was learned today, include 21 infantry, two air borne, and nine armored divisions.

They are: Infantry—26th, 29th, 34th, 36th, 43d, 63d, 65th, 66th, 69th, 70th, 75th, 76th, 79th, 85th, 87th, 89th, 92d, 95th, 99th, 103d, 106th; air borne—17th and 82d; armored—5th, 6th, 7th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 14th, 16th.

The war department emphasized that the list is subject to last minute change. However, three of the divisions—the 63d, 85th, and 87th already have been brought home and inactivated.

The 5th and 7th armored and the 70th infantry left Le Havre, France, early this month and some units are now arriving at eastern ports.

ARMY RECTIFIES ERROR; TO FLY MOTHER TO SON

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 10 (AP)—The army, rectifying an error, tomorrow will fulfill the dreams of a Chicago mother to watch her repatriated son walk down the gangplank at a Pacific coast port.

When a telegram from Washington, D. C., informed Mrs. George Engel, 50, 1139 S. Whipple st., Chicago, on Sept. 7 that her son, whom she hadn't seen since 1942, was expected to arrive in San Francisco about Oct. 9, the family scraped together $98.27 to buy her a plane ticket.

But Master Sgt. Fred S. Engel, 25, a B-24 radio operator liberated from a Japanese prison comp in September, was not aboard any of the transports that his hopeful mother met each day.

Finally she showed her well worn telegram to port of embarkation authorities and they discovered that her son was aboard the transport Gosper, due to arrive in Seattle tomorrow.

So Mrs. Engel and 10 other mothers similarly misdirected are to be flown to Seattle tomorrow by the 4th air force in time for the narrowly missed reunions.

Gambling kept him poor!

Canada Bill Jones was known as the cleverest three-card monte operator on the river, back in the heyday of the Mississippi's floating palaces. But he stayed poor, because his passion for gambling was too great.

Marooned one night in a Louisiana village, Canada Bill searched everywhere before finding a faro game in the back room of a barber shop. After a few plays, his partner warned him that the game was crooked. "I know it," Canada Bill replied, "but it's the only game in town."

Like Canada Bill Jones, you'll find the cards stacked against you, too, if you gamble your car against the weather. When the temperature drops suddenly, unexpectedly, driving even a few miles without proper winter-conditioning can cause costly damage—may even put your car out of commission.

You'll be driving more this winter, and right now is none too soon to prepare your car for cold weather. Your Standard Oil Dealer is specially trained to do the job as it should be done. Your car will run stronger, longer, and carry you farther on every gallon of gasoline if you'll drive in now for your Standard Oil Dealer's 10 Star Fall Tune-up.

Solid Scholar Makes Use of Study Periods

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

"This fall I entered high school as a freshman. My parents have warned me that unless I get good grades in everything I won't be allowed to date or go to dances or parties. [No one has asked me yet—but I'm hoping!] How much time do you think I should spend on homework?"

on the SOLID side

In high school, every hour spent in the classroom supposedly needs one-half hour of outside preparation. If you stuck to that schedule that would give you about three straight hours of hitting the books every evening. Most smart characters can cut outside studying time to the minimum by paying very close attention in class [it's twice as easy to absorb a subject when you let the teacher "teach" it to you as it is to puzzle it out by yourself], and by using study hall periods to study. Get yourself into a regular study routine, a little work every night instead of cramming desperately just before exams, and you'll have both high grades and plenty of time for fun.

"There is a girl in my English class whom I would like to ask for a date. She is super-attractive and is booked up solid every week-end, but I understand from the fellows that she's fussy and will go only to the best places. I'd like to take her out but can't afford to spend much. . . ."

Ask the girl for a date and plan a simple evening—a movie and malted should be fun and not too hard on your jingling money. A good gal will go out with a boy because he is fun to be with, not because he can afford to take her to the bright lights spots. It should take just one date for you to discover if you want to take this honey chile out again. If she's the kind of off-the-cob gal who thinks it takes plenty of green stuff to make a pleasant evening, turn your attentions to some one else.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Hot Tamale Pie

[Serves eight]

1 large onion, chopped
1½ pounds ground beef
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
3 tablespoons chili powder
¾ cup chopped ripe olives
1 12 ounce can whole kernel corn
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ cup corn meal
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Brown onion and meat in hot fat; add soup, salt, pepper, chili powder, olives, and corn. Pour into a deep baking dish, cover, and bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 1 hour. Sift flour, salt, baking powder, and baking soda together and add corn meal. Add egg, buttermilk, and shortening; mix well. Pour batter over meat combination and bake, uncovered, in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for 25 minutes longer.

Foreign Affairs to Be Voters' League Topic at All-Day Meeting

An all-day program today focused on foreign affairs will open the new season for the Southwest League of Women Voters. The session will open at 10:30 a. m. in Ridge park fieldhouse with a talk on "New Evidences of Latin American Democracy" by Mrs. Robert Platt, and at 1:15 p. m. Dr. Huberta Randall, a native of the Netherlands who has taught French and Dutch at Northwestern university and the University of Chicago, will discuss "The Democratic Tradition of the Netherlands; a Bulwark Against Dictatorship." Mrs. Clinton S. Darling will preside, and Mrs. Arthur A. Olson, chairman of the league's foreign policy committee, will introduce the speakers.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

Thru the Looking Glass

The woman with a dry, sensitive skin needs all the lubrication she can get for the parched epidermis, tried as it now is with cold winds outdoors and dry, heated rooms indoors. That's why, since every bit helps, she's wise to choose a cleansing cream especially concocted to oil as well as cleanse.

A popular favorite with many dry skinned women is a rich, gooey cream that cleans the skin to perfection and at the same time helps to soothe and soften it. You can feel the richness of it when you dip your fingers into its pink smoothness and feel almost like purring under its silky softness when you slather it over the face.

We'd suggest that you be leisurely about using the preparation to get full benefit from it. Use a generous gob of the cream and work it in upward and outward strokes over the face and neck. Don't pull or rub hard, rather use a light touch. The cream is of nice consistency, spreading readily, and should be worked around well to give the skin the advantage of lubrication as grime and soil are loosened. After a few minutes of massage, tissue it off gently. You'll be pleased to see how bright and clean the skin looks with every trace of soil removed and how soft and smooth it feels.

This can be bought in economical, large sized jars which are better buys for more than one reason. When you buy the larger package you naturally get a better value and you're sure of having a lasting supply of cream on hand to dip into whenever the face is in need of cleansing. And when skin is dry you're going to want to resort to cream cleansing frequently.

D. A. R. 4th Division to Discuss Plans at Round Table Session

Serious post-war planning will underscore reports to be given by officers and committee chairmen at the first fall round table luncheon of fourth division, Daughters of the American Revolution, at noon tomorrow in the Wedgwood room of Marshall Field & Co. Mrs. Robert M. Beak will preside.

Mrs. Gertrude S. H. Galloway, the society's state chairman for Red Cross, will call attention to the many needs of the Red Cross in peace time and the urgent need for volunteers to continue work in this field. D. A. R.'s ambitious post-war employment plan, designed to assure civilian jobs for men serving aboard LCI ships "adopted" by the national society, will be described by Mrs. Donald S. Bartlett, vice state chairman of war service units.

Fall Days Are Soup Days

The first chilly nights of Fall send us scurrying indoors at meal time hoping for a bowl of steaming hot soup . . . one filled with plenty of good vegetables. Thanks to modern industry, you may now satisfy this longing for good home-made soup as quickly as you can prepare and cook the vegetables because the soup stock has been made and concentrated for you by experts. All you do is to add the concentrated soup stock, B-V, to the cooked vegetables and call "Soup's On." It's as easy as that.

Hearty Vegetable Soup . . . to chase the chills away

Simmer, covered, until tender
in 6 cups water
1 cup diced potatoes
1 cup shredded cabbage
¾ cup diced carrots
¾ cup sliced celery
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 tbsp. bacon drippings
¾ tsp. salt
Add ¼ cup sieved tomatoes
4½ tsp. WILSON'S B-V dissolved in a small amount of the hot liquid.
Garnish with
2 tbsp. parsley (optional)

Serves 6. Steam dumplings on top if desired (directions below).

Clip Recipe Here

Simple Menu Satisfying

Supplement this steaming soup with a delicious hamburger patty, crisp celery and hot rolls or crackers. Warm apple pie with a slice of Certified American Cheese makes a timely finale for this tempting dinner.

Dumplings Are Favorites

Light feathery dumplings are favorites with men. So why not steam some on top of the vegetable soup? They're a grand accompaniment in place of crackers. I change the soup recipe slightly when I cook dumplings on top of it. Use 1½ extra cups of water and ½ tsp. more salt and add the tomatoes and B-V after vegetables have cooked only 15 min. As soon as liquid is boiling again, drop the dumpling batter by teaspoonfuls on top of the soup, cover at once and boil gently for 15 min. Careful! Don't lift the cover 'til time's up.

To make dumpling batter: Sift 1 cup flour, 1½ tsp. baking powder and ½ tsp. salt. Cut in 2 tbsp. Wilson's Bake Rite and add ½ cup milk to flour mixture all at once, stirring rapidly until well blended.

Well Did You Ever

Use onion salt to season a pot roast? It's grand if you like onions but they don't like you.

Clip the corner from a clean envelope to use as a funnel for filling salt and pepper shakers? Saves your patience for other things.

Sincerely,
George Rector

Dinner Oct. 29 to Celebrate Lying-In Hospital's 50th Year

BY JUDITH CASS

EVENING dress will be in order at the first formal occasion to be held at the University of Chicago since Pearl Harbor, when the board of directors of Chicago Lying-In hospital will give a dinner Monday, Oct. 29, to celebrate the hospital's 50th anniversary. The dinner will be held in the Shoreland hotel and will be climaxed by the presentation of a check for $100,000 to Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the university for the hospital.

The money has been raised in an anniversary campaign during the summer and fall by the hospital's woman's board and will be used for research in eclampsia and puerperal fever. Mrs. Frederic Woodward, chairman of the dinner, will make the presentation.

Guests at the dinner will include Chicagoans who have given large sums to the campaign, members of the board of directors of the hospital and of the board of directors of the Mothers' Aid, their husbands, and a number of visiting doctors who will be here for a day-long program for physicians and nurses from all over the nation that is a part of the anniversary celebration. The university's new president, Ernest C. Colwell, will serve as toastmaster at the dinner, at which Chancellor Hutchins will be the principal speaker.

The hospital, which has been affiliated with the university since 1929, was founded as an obstetrical dispensary by the late Dr. Joseph B. DeLee in four rooms in a building at Maxwell st. and Newberry av. A contrast of births and operating expenses of the first year, 1895, with those of 1944 is of interest, with 304 births and a budget of $1,200 in 1895, and 3,581 births and a budget of $500,000 last year.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, now honorary president of the hospital board, became president of its woman's auxiliary in 1908 and of the board of directors in 1921. Mrs. George Bobrinskoy and Mrs. Jacob Courshon are co-chairmen of the dinner, and Mrs. H. Stanley Wanzer is in charge of a luncheon for visiting doctors and nurses to be given on the 29th.

A number of faculty members and friends of the university have been invited to meet President and Mrs. Colwell between 5 and 7 p. m. today in the home of Chancellor and Mrs. Hutchins.

Wedding News

Announcement is made of the marriage yesterday of Lt. Comdr. John A. Stern of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Whital Stern of Lake Shore dr., and Miss Elizabeth I. Hindson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hindson of Farrell, Pa. The ceremony took place in the presence of the families and a few friends in Wickford, R. I.

Both Comdr. Stern and his bride, who has been serving as a yeoman 3d class in the WAVES, are stationed at Quonset Point, R. I., and they will live in near-by Wickford. The new Mrs. Stern was graduated from Ohio university. Comdr. Stern is a graduate of the University of Chicago and of the graduate school of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Making Use of Our Talents

Olive Dennis, engineer of service for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, said yesterday in a speech before the railroad women that it is unwise to battle for the privilege of holding jobs for which we, as women, are not suited. Why not emphasize those occupations in which we excel?

Miss Dennis analyzed the particular talents of women in railroad work as:

1. Patience and care in handling detail. [This distinguishes women in many lines of clerical work.]

2. Manual dexterity in jobs not requiring great physical strength. [Women become excellent business machine operators, or become expert on light shop machines; they are adapted to the neat work involved in drafting, tracing, etc.]

3. Intuition, gentleness, and sociability. [Many women excel in tact and the personality necessary to meet the public . . . in jobs such as traffic representatives, information and reservation clerks, telephone operators, and interviewers.]

4. Housekeeping ability and experience. [Here are jobs in which women really belong: In purchasing, care of stations and office buildings, designing of interiors of cars and stations, and in commissary work.]

Creating new lines of work for women—making a natural contribution rather than competing with men—was Miss Dennis' valuable suggestion.

Gala Ball Climaxes 100th Birthday Fete at Naval Academy

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 10 [Special]—Celebration of the 100th anniversary of the United States naval academy was climaxed tonight with a colorful ball at which midshipmen and feminine guests appeared in costumes harking back to the days of the academy's birth in 1845.

Three platoons, each of 30 midshipmen, wore the uniforms of 1845—tightly buttoned blue blouses and streamers flying from white straw hats; of 1870—double breasted coats and flat, blue, square visored caps, and of 1900—tight gold braided jackets and round blue caps. Their ladies wore the beribboned and flounced costumes of the same eras.

Before the ball numerous dignitaries attended a birthday dinner. Among the guests were Adm. Nimitz, back from the Pacific; Navy Secretary Forrestal; Adm. King, chief of navy operations; Adm. Leahy, naval chief of staff; General of the Armies Marshall, and Gen. Vandegrift, marine commandant.

Fur Hats Hit New Heights in Style and Price

BY REA SEEGER

It's no trick at all these days to wear a hat that's as costly as a coat. The answer is found in luxury pieces made of such pelts as mink, ermine, black-lynx, silver, or blue or cross fox, Persian lamb, or silky white caracul. The sky is the limit as to height, and your budget is the limit as to purchase price. Creations with considerably wider brim than is usually shown on a hat of fur and with high crowns, are out now, in time for the first fur weather.

Each year the fur hat creations reach a new peak of distinction. Skins are treated with the same draping as felt or heavy fabric, some being worked over shapes, similar to those used for velvet hats so the results are suave models that show the workmanship and creative genius of skilled designers. Skins are matched and blended with the same perfection as is accorded fine, beautifully matched and blended coats. Each hat is a flattering model to suit the most exacting woman.

Along with the hats are very dramatic muffs, large or small, to match the hat; also the newest rage, twin muffs or cuffs, which are worn with dress parade suit minus any fur collar or other trim. These twin muffs or sets of cuffs are ideal for such simply made suits. Short furs are the most successful, altho the longer, fluffier furs make unusually effective accents with winter dress parade suits of all black, all brown, or brocades. If the comparatively simple all-fur hats don't click, check the beflowered creations or those trimmed with satin or velvet ribbon.

Inquiring Camera Girl

By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Jane E. Adell, 5120 Chicago av.]

THE QUESTION

How long would you wait for a person who is late in keeping a social engagement?

WHERE ASKED

United States court house.

THE ANSWERS

Clinton Carty, shipping clerk, 2346 Vermont st., Blue Island—If the date were for a show or a football game and the person were late I wouldn't wait for him. If I were going out with no time limit I might wait quite impatiently for about a half hour. I don't like waiting for people. Does any one? It is most annoying.

Frances Sciretti, clerk, 4239 N. Oakley av.—There's no excuse for being late for appointments but everyone is late at one time or another and manages to present an excuse. A car can often delay a person. But if a telephone is accessible the party who is late should by all means call and say that he will be late.

Chester Kubacki, clerk, 146 E. 120th st.—Twenty minutes is about the extent of my patience. Of course it depends a great deal upon weather, traffic conditions, and the place of the meeting. A person who makes a habit of being late should be taught a lesson. I wouldn't wait more than two or three minutes.

Marcella Boim, clerk-typist, 1337 S. Homan av.—It depends upon who the person is that I am waiting for. If he is always on time but slipped up once I'd wait indefinitely, knowing he was dependable and would keep his word. I begin to mistrust people who make appointments and don't keep them. It is discourteous.

Barbara Murphy, clerk, 4842 N. Sawyer av.—I always figure that 20 minutes is enough margin to allow any one. After that much time had elapsed I would expect them to call or I would call them. Of course, if I'm at home and have no other plans I may wait or I may change my clothes and catch up on my laundry or ironing.

H. O. Werner, guard, 1839 Fremont st.—Being late is carelessness or lack of enthusiasm usually. Unless a major catastrophe occurs there's no reason why, with all the modern methods of communication and transportation, a person cannot be on time. Promptness pays dividends. It's a good habit to acquire.

'Injun Summer' Cartoon Original to Be Exhibited

YOUR PERSONAL "PIXIES"

WHILE YOU SLEEP, THEY'LL START THE HOUSEWORK!

When the alarm clock goes off you'll soon be able to roll over and snatch 40 extra winks—secure in knowledge that an electric "pixie" will start the coffee perking!

There'll be plenty of other "pixies" to turn on the roast, wash dishes, etc. Sounds very dream-world, all this button-pressing. But we'll wager tending house, in the beautiful life to be, will still involve plenty of tasks that play havoc with hands.

Hardly a prospect worth fretting about once you become acquainted with the magic-working powers of Yardley Hand Cream. Deliciously scented, it sinks deep into "sandpaper palms"—softens, soothes, smooths, without a hint of stickiness. Try it before chores, to protect against the rigors of hot water. For 65c the bottle, dozens of luxurious doses!

Now that the heat's on—around the house, we mean—faces tend to dry in the artificial warmth. So try this "repair work" to coax back a satin glow:

Stroke on Yardley Dry Skin Cleansing Cream to rid your face of make-up. Sweep off with tissue, taking care to wipe temple-ward. Now for a second creamy session—steamed in with dry-wrung hot wash-cloth a moment. Finish with a flourish of cold water—and face your mirror feeling very much a brand-new woman!

YARDLEY DRY SKIN CLEANSING CREAM costs $1 the jar—$2 for a really foresighted supply. If your skin needs the encouragement of extra-rich lubricating—YARDLEY NIGHT CREAM ought to be on your bedtime program. Mere minutes spent on a massage pay well in sparkling looks!

Your favorite drug or department store can fit you out with all these Yardley aids. (Prices quoted plus tax.)

"RIGOLETTO"

Opera with music by Giuseppe Verdi, book by Piave from Victor Hugo's "The King Amuses Himself." Presented in Italian by the Chicago Opera Company at the Civic Opera house Wednesday evening, Oct. 10, 1945.

THE CAST

Rigoletto ..... Lawrence Tibbett
Gilda ..... Elvira Heial [debut]
The Duke of Mantua ..... John Brooks McCormack [debut]
Sparafucile ..... Virgilio Lazzari
Maddalena ..... Rosalind Nadell [debut]
Monterone ..... Ralph Telasko
Giovanna ..... Ola Moser
Conductor ..... Fausto Cleva

Except that the scenery obviously belonged to the Chicago Opera's "Rigoletto," Lawrence Tibbett and Virgilio Lazzari would have been justified last night in wondering if they had wandered by mistake into some provincial opera house where standards are sabotaged by lack of cash and taste. But by their presence they made tolerable, occasionally even distinguished, a performance that otherwise had little to offer.

The two debuts in major roles were disappointing. John Brooks McCormack, who sang the Duke, is an extaordinarily handsome young man with a flair for beautiful costumes, but his slight lyric tenor has by no means reached the point where it can cope with Verdi vocalization. And ElviraHeial, the Brooklyn soprano cast as Gilda, sang a schoolroom performance devoid of theatrical or vocal finesse. Her voice is ample in range and occasionally the quality is admirable, but it was difficult to discover, despite the vociferous ovation given her immature "Caro Nome," why she was considered ready for a major opera house.

So the full weight of the performance fell on Mr. Tibbett, whose Rigoletto has seldom been more appreciated. Here is one of the shrewdest singing actors of our time. As the great wealth of his beautiful baritone has faded, he has quietly changed his characterization. No longer the big, booming jester who thrills the ears with vocal opulence, he is suddenly a frail, rather piteous old man whose voice, haunting in its shadowed overtones, takes possession of imagination until you almost believe the plot. There is velvet in that voice, but don't think I mean the splendor has vanished. He just conserves it until he needs it, and last night, when he released it in "Cortigiani," the evening achieved its major stature.

Mr. Lazzari's Sparafucile, tho not quite possessed of its old time subterranean depth, remains one of the delights of music drama, a picturesque rogue whose sense of sardonic humor slashes a rich voice with unexpected highlights. Miss Nadell's Maddalena came too late for me to hear, and Mr. Telasko's Monterone merely stalked the stage, uttering sounds. Mr. Cleva conducted with his usual skill.

Notes

No announcement yet from the Chicago opera on "Parsifal," but it is understood that Jussi Bjoerling has been approached to sing "The Masked Ball," possibly as a substitution. . . . "Carmen Jones" will start its third year next Thursday night, and Billy Rose is coming to celebrate with a party on the Erlanger stage after the show. . . . The New York Times calls the Margaret Webster production of "Therese Raquin" "a most sedate and conversational melodrama." Eva Le Gallienne, Dame May Whitty, and Victor Jory are in it. . . . Answer to inquiry, Maggie Teyte records are available at the Gramophone shop, 18 E. 48th st., New York 17. . . . AP report on Michael Kidd's "On Stage!", first Ballet Theater novelty of New York season, "Animal spirits and ingenuity but too much farce and too much use of words." Leading roles are danced by Kidd, Janet Reed, John Kriza, and Nora Kaye. . . . The Herald-Tribune reports that Jan Kiepura's "Polonaise" "brings Kosciusko and Chopin into an uneasy liaison." . . . Margery Mayer will replace Bruna Castagna in tomorrow night's "Il Trovatore."

First Chamber Music Program Is Well Played

BY ALBERT GOLDBERG

Any doubt that Chicago is in the grip of a renaissance of chamber music should have been dispelled last night by the sight of Curtiss hall so full of customers the walls fairly bulged for the first concert of the "Introduction to Chamber Music" series, sponsored by University college of the University of Chicago.

The plan of the 15 concerts which will comprise the series is primarily educational, but as demonstrated last night it is education with the fangs extracted. The first 50 minutes of the session is devoted to a lecture; then a short intermission precedes the playing of two chamber music compositions. The whole is guaranteed not to last more than two hours, and, as last night, may consume less time.

Franz Joseph Haydn and his contributions to the form and the literature of the string quartet was properly the subject of the first session. Cecil Smith discoursed both informatively and entertainingly on the development of chamber music up to the time the string quartet began to feel the impress of Haydn's genius, and outlined tersely the extent of that composer's influence.

Thereafter the Chicago Symphony quartet, composed of the first chair string players of that orchestra—John Weicher, first violin; Franz Polesny, second violin; Milton Preves, viola; Dudley Powers, cello—took up the burden of illustration by playing one of the earliest Haydn quartets, in F major, opus 3, No. 5, the one with the lovely so-called "Serenade" for a second movement, and ending with the noble "Emperor" quartet, opus 76, No. 3, containing the variations on the Austrian national hymn.

The new quartet, as its members played last night, is certainly one of the best resident groups the city has ever owned. Perfection of ensemble, exquisite tone quality, and consequently fine playing of solo bits made their work entirely enjoyable.

Film Comedy Is Light and Fanciful Fun

By Mae Tinée

Sometimes a husband's old college chum can cause a wife to wonder about her mate's previous selection of acquaintances, and frequently she fails to show any enthusiasm for same. Sometimes, too, said friend, working on the basis of carefree college days, can disrupt a happy household, and a wife can be made to look like an old meanie if she doesn't go along with a few boyish pranks.

This was the case with Mary and Chris Price [Claudette Colbert and Richard Foran], and Mrs. P. had suffered quietly whenever her husband's old pal, a globe trotting reporter named Joe Parker [Don Ameche], ran across their path. Her original honeymoon was almost spoiled by Joe, and when he arrives just as a long planned second one is to begin, she has a feeling something will happen—and it does.

Joe's imagination ran away with him when he wanted to get out of India, so he invented a wife, a serious illness for her, and a number of other phoney circumstances, all of which boomerang when his fond publisher orders him to bring his bride home. Chris comes to the rescue, as usual, and laughingly decides Mary can pose as Mrs. Parker [which was fortunate, because his playful friend already had provided his boss with an autographed picture of her].

Mary goes along for a while—but the worm finally turns and, when she does, proves easily that when it comes to inventions, Joe is just a beginner.

The plot could hardly be called new, but, thanks to smart direction, some very clever dialog, and an able cast, "Guest Wife" is entertaining comedy. Claudette Colbert has done a lot of this sort of thing, and turns in one of her best performances. Don Ameche is breezy and does some fine clowning, and the remainder of the cast provides excellent support.

If you're in the mood for something light, highly improbable, and giddy, I think this will fill the bill nicely.

Jumper Dress

SIZES 12-42

The trim jumper ensemble, Style No. 3758, is as appropriate for the classroom as it is for the office. The blouse, simple yet effective, may be made with long or short sleeves. The pattern is available in sizes 12 to 42, and size 36 requires 2 yards of 54 inch material to make the jumper and 2¼ yards of 39 inch material to make the blouse.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern is 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing.

So EASY to make! So GOOD to drink!

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 10—Eddie Bracken won't get to New York for that play because he's doing "Manhattan at Midnight" in Hollywood. . . . Paulette Goddard can't make that "Sentimental Journey" with Arturo De Cordova at Paramount. Twentieth Century is using that title for one of its pictures. Naturally, it's a different story. . . . As soon as "Shock" is finished, Lynn Bari will continue her flying lessons. . . . Gracie Fields is another overseas entertainer who's writing her experiences. She's keeping a diary which will be turned into a book titled "One Ham Coming Up." Many hams have turned author on account of this war. Wonder what they'll do now it's over? It's lucky this ham started writing before war broke out. . . . The Frank Capras will be back from their Oregon fishing trip any day now. . . . Ginger Rogers and husband, Jack Briggs, will take off for her ranch in Oregon where they expect to have a white Christmas. They were showing the sights to his parents and sister who are visiting our town and stopped by Hollywood Park to see the ponies run. But on that one day Busher was eatin'—not winnin'—for Louis B. Mayer.

A Shot in the Arm

Van Heflin says he's never seen a girl work harder than Lizabeth Scott. I asked him about Barbara Stanwyck, and Van said, "When she walked on the set, not only the crew but even the cat asleep in the corner came to life. . . . Best news in Hollywood! Flash! My son, Bill, is now out of OSS, and if you catch me boasting a bit, just remember that you had a mother, too. . . . If Spencer Tracy doesn't take "The Rugged Path" into New York, it will be because of an agreement with the producer that if he didn't like it he wouldn't have to open in the big town. He could sell out there for months, even if the play wasn't good, but that still wouldn't make Mr. Tracy happy.

Bobby Socks or Battle Stars

I got my answer to how fans feel about returning heroes from the gang outside the Beverly club the other night. Jimmy Stewart and Hank Fonda were dining inside with Bill Powell. As I left, I asked the fans if they'd gotten Jimmy's autograph. "Nope, we're waiting for Van Johnson." "What's the matter with Stewart?" said I. "O, Van's prettier." It was then I realized that because Jimmy's been away four years fighting, these fans had never seen him. But they will, brother, they will! . . . Dinah Shore invited me to visit her in the stable at her new place in the valley. Dinah and George Montgomery will move out Nov. 1 and live above the horses while their house is being remodeled. Her place in Benedict canyon was too cramped. It's already been sold to an easterner. . . . Bonita Granville, motoring home with a friend beside her, just missed a pedestrian. She turned to her pal and said, "I'm a fatalist—it wasn't my time to hit!"

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: king of clubs.

While there are few games in which skill is so highly rewarded as in contract bridge, don't ever get the impression that luck does not play a prominent role in the show. This is true even in tournament play albeit in a lesser degree than in rubber bridge. But there is no doubt that Lady Luck is not a lone rider and she requires some assistance from those upon whom she would shower her favors. It is axiomatic that she is more apt to help those who help themselves.

South's opening bid of two hearts is a model of correctness and North's raise meets with our approval. Incidentally, I have observed that many players are in the habit of responding with two no trump on holdings such as North's. With normal trump support and one honor trick the correct procedure is a single raise. There is current a superstition of unknown origin, to the effect that a raise of partner's two bid requires 1½ honor tricks. South's jump to six hearts is at least questionable, but he was in a mood to ride his luck. A queen or two in the right place might give him a good play for the hand. Note that if North's queen happened to be with the spades instead of the diamonds, declarer would have had a reasonable chance. As it was when the dummy was spread it looked like the most hopeless of cases.

West had a reasonable enough double, particularly in view of the hit or miss style of bidding which led to the slam contract. The king of clubs was opened and taken by the ace. It was going to take a lot of luck and good management to bring this one in. Declarer led the king of hearts and ruffed dummy's remaining club. Another trump lead cleared that suit and then followed the ace, king, and another spade. Two good breaks showed up at the same time. The spades were three-three and West had to win the trick. There was no good lead he could make. A club lead would permit declarer to ruff in dummy and discard a diamond from his own hand. So West led the jack of diamonds. This was taken by the queen in dummy and the remaining diamond discarded on dummy's 13th spade.

That was an outstanding bit of good luck, but South should get credit for an assist.

In some manner or other you have become declarer at a contract of six no trump. The opening lead is the king of spades. Plan the play.

Order Continuation of Five WPB Orders Governing Apparel

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Reconversion Director John W. Snyder has ordered the war production board not to revoke at this time its five style orders governing women's apparel, work clothing, and men's and boys' clothing.

Snyder told WPB Chairman J. A. Krug in a letter made public by the White House today that lifting of these style orders now would impair the government's price control program. He told Krug it "would increase the use of scarce clothing materials, cause an abnormal demand by making present styles obsolete, and bring about increased prices for low cost clothing."

"The three orders relating to women's apparel, namely L-85, L-116, and L-118, should be continued for the spring apparel season, and the two orders relating to men's work clothing and men's and boys' clothing, L-181 and L-224, respectively, should be continued subject to review a few weeks hence," Snyder said.

Nagging Habit of Parent Not Good for Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Do you, with the best intentions in the world, and quite unconscious of the effect of what you're saying, try to make over your teen age son or daughter?

You know how a husband can criticize a wife in such a way as to make her lose confidence in herself? A mother or father can do the same to a son or daughter.

Here are some of the reactions of a high school boy to the habit his mother has fallen into of repeatedly suggesting improvements in his looks or actions:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans:

"I'm 18 and feel like a flop, or maybe you'd understand better if I said that I feel like a failure as a human being.

"My mother keeps dinning at me:

"'Why don't you go out with the other boys? Go and call on Molly, Betty, or Jane. Mix with the young people. Join the junior choir. Don't go to the library so much. Stand up straight. Learn how to be popular. I was always quiet, but I want you to get around. Take tap dancing lessons. Did you make the football team? Then why don't you try for basketball? Harry's going to college next year, isn't he? Wouldn't you like to go to college instead of getting that job?'

"I know by all this nagging—it does add up to nagging—that my mother would like me to be different in almost every way. Not just one or two ways. She doesn't ever say a word of praise. I might get going a little socially, because I have a few intimate friends among the boys and girls, but she's made me so self-conscious because I'm not the life of the party and don't go with a mob that I guess I'm beginning to act like a misfit. I sure am beginning to feel like one."

A word to the wise is sufficient.

Doll Pattern

BY JEAN MacDONALD

Mother and daughter groups become a trio with the addition of a good looking doll who is dressed like mother and daughter. This large doll wears a knitted sweater, plaited skirt, and blouse. The pattern offers instructions for making the body and clothes, and directions for knitting the sweaters.

For instructions in making doll and clothes, No. 866, send 15 CENTS in coin [wrap coin securely] to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

Party to Mark 50th Lying-In Hospital Year

came the bride of Ensign Douglas Erickson. The wedding was arranged suddenly when Ensign Erickson received orders to report to San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16. His bride accompanied him west, but will return to the Wadsworth farm of her father, Prince Michael Cantacuzene, and Princess Cantacuzene, when Ensign Erickson receives further orders. Present at the ceremony were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. Wentworth Erickson of the island of Inagua in the Bahamas, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. A. Wentworth Erickson Jr.

In a ceremony at 4 p. m. today in the Evanston home of her mother, Mrs. Earl A. White, Miss Dorothea Johnston White will become the bride of Lt. Gerard Goodwin Galassi of the army. Mrs. Ronald P. Campbell will act as matron of honor and Lt. Comdr. Mario C. Galassi of the naval reserve will be best man for his brother. A small reception will follow the ceremony. Here for the wedding are Lt. Galassi's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Galassi of Cambridge, Mass. The bride is a graduate of Wellesley college. Lt. Galassi is an alumnus of Harvard university and its law school. He will take his bride to Washington, D. C., where he is stationed.

Today's Events

All members of the Chicago Junior league are invited to join the provisional members at the end of their training course this morning in the Ambassador East hotel and to hear Mrs. Howard Linn, founder and honorary member of the league, tell of its beginnings. She will speak at 11 a. m. in the Polo room.

Karl Brandt, an economist of the Food Research institute of Stanford university and formerly of the University of Berlin, will speak on "The Rehabilitation of Germany" at a meeting of the Chicago Council of Foreign Relations at 12:15 p. m. today in the Gold room of the Congress hotel.

The South Shore center of the Infant Welfare society will give a dessert bridge party at 1:30 p. m. today in the Bryn Mawr Community church.

Members of the South Shore Country club and their guests will see color war films shown by Jack Lieb following dinner tonight.

St. Luke's Fashion Show

To learn the "stride and tempo" of the St. Luke's fashion show, to be held Wednesday in the Medinah temple, newcomers to the show's runway and veterans of former years gathered yesterday in the Fortnightly club for a rehearsal and instructions. There was a burst of laughter when the mannequins learned that the banquet room in the temple, which will be their dressing room for the event, still contains a bale of the hay used to feed elephants formerly quartered there.

The graceful young women who circled the ballroom of the club yesterday were a far cry from those lumbering animals. Walking to the rhythm of the latest tunes, some confessed they "felt like dancing," while their younger companions did slip in a jitterbug step or two.

Board of Medical Record Librarians Will Convene

An executive board meeting of the American Association of Medical Record Librarians, to be held today and tomorrow in the Drake hotel, will bring as keynote speaker Dr. Malcolm MacEachern, director of the American College of Surgeons. Tomorrow's session will be highlighted by an officer installation ceremony and by a luncheon at which the board members will be guests of local record librarians. Miss Alphild Anderson of the Illinois Research hospital, Chicago, is new association president.

TIGERS EARN $6,123 EACH; ROUT CUBS, 9 TO 3

CHICAGO SHARE WORTH $4,277; VOTE 33½ CUTS

Attendance Mark of 333,457 Set

BY EDWARD BURNS

The 1945 world series, despite its anti-climactic finish, put a lot of new records in the books, the most significant being a high attendance figure of 333,457, which tops by 5,406 the record set by the 1926 New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals in the so-called golden age of sports. The total that year was 328,051, also in a seven game series.

Yesterday's gross receipts and addition of the $100,000 payment for radio rights brought the total series pot to $1,592,454, to sweeten the new record set in the sixth game Monday.

The new cash figure exceeds the former record, set by the Tigers and the Cincinnati Reds, another seven game series, by $270,125.79. The old mark of $1,322,328.21, also included a $100,000 radio payment.

The crowd yesterday—41,590—was the smallest of the series, but the closest to a sellout in any seventh game of a world series, thanks being due, perhaps, to the fact that Wrigley forces conducted a perfectly organized emergency ticket sale. It was the first time series officials have utilized a day set aside exclusively for ticket sales for the final game.

The largest crowd of the series was in the third game in Detroit. After the Cubs had taken the opener, 9 to 0, and the Tigers had bounced back to win the second game, 4 to 1, 55,500 fans paid, $223,497. In this contest the Tigers were held to one hit and a 3 to 0 shutout by Claude Passeau.

Cubs Still Can Chuckle

It was announced before yesterday's game that the Cubs had voted 33½ shares of the player pool before the series started. This would give the Cubs, as losers, approximately $4,277 a share.

The Tigers voted 31 shares and as result each full share holder will draw approximately $6,123.

The Tigers' share will be a record when the exact amount of the players' cut in the radio payment is announced. The record winning share is $6,471.10, received by each Yankee in 1937. The top losers' share, $4,829.40, was received by each Dodger shareholder in 1941.

The Cubs, coming out with approximately $4,277 as the losers' share, still can chuckle a bit that they were not on the last Cub team to win the world series. The Cubs of 1908 drew down only $1,874.58. The Tigers that year pulled down only $870. Those, old timers say, were the "good old days."

As soon as the game was over statistically minded baseball experts started combing the archives to determine how many individual and team playing records had been smashed.

Personnel Totals Soar

Many of the records had to do with large personnel totals. One of the most striking of these was smashed in Monday's game, for instance, when each team beat the previous record by using 19 men, against the former one team total of 18. The total of the two teams, 38, surpassed the old record for two teams—29.

Then there was that time record—3 hours and 28 minutes—to play

DON'T FORGET HIM!

Next Monday is the deadline for mailing Christmas packages to service men and women overseas. If you want that package to contain a copy of the In the Wake of the News Book—and the GI's love 'em—you'll have to hurry. The eighth annual edition is all but gone and the mail orders are pouring in. The prices: over the counter, 25 cents; by mail, 30 cents; for direct overseas mailing, 40 cents. THE TIGER EARNS THREE CHEERS IN 1945'S BASEBALL THRILLER

Eddie Mayo, Tigers' second baseman (below), comes home with the ninth Detroit run in eighth inning of world series final in Wrigley field yesterday. The Tigers won, 9 to 3. Mickey Livingston is the Cub catcher and Roy Cullenbine the batter. The umpire is Art Passarella.

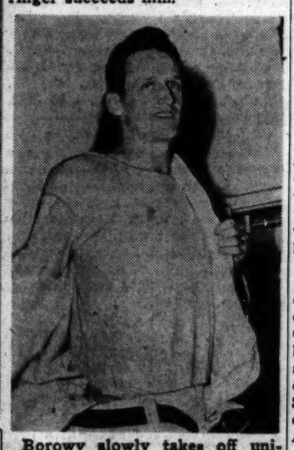
Pitcher Hank Borowy of Cubs leaves in first inning after pitching to three batters. Paul Derringer succeeds him.

Manager Steve O'Neill of Tigers is congratulated by Walter Briggs, club owner, after Detroit's victory. It was the Tigers' second world title, both victories over the Cubs.



Borowy slowly takes off uniform in clubhouse after being batted out in first inning. He won two games and lost two against Tigers.

TICKET MARKET CRASH CATCHES SOME SCALPERS

The American Red Cross, the Service Men's centers, and the Victory Loan drive were benefitted and several youths charged with scalping were deprived of rich profits as the result of an impromptu sale of tickets to the seventh game of the world series in Judge J. M. Braude's court yesterday.

The youths in Judge Braude's court received a fair return for their investment, but the same could not be said for scores of scalpers who were left holding the sack in the final game of the series. Scalpers met bus, elevated, surface lines, and taxicab passengers at the Wrigley field gates in an effort to dispose of their wares. Before game time the scalpers asked anywhere from $10 to $25 for box seats, but the price fell considerably as the signal to play ball was given.

Ordered to Buy Bond

After the game started the prices of the tickets dropped to the established level. Several desperate ticket salesmen were heard to offer two box seats for $8, and one was heard to inquire, "What am I offered for box and grandstand seats to the game?"

Of the $143.20 netted from the impromptu sale in Judge Braude's court, the jurist turned back $43.20 to Edwin Burman, 20, of 1655 W. Division st., a chauffeur, from whom six $7.20 tickets were taken. Burman was placed under supervision of the Holy Name society for one year after he admitted he was trying to sell two of the tickets for what he could get in the Sherman hotel lobby. Burman also was ordered to buy a $50 Victory bond.

Judge Loses on Deal

A second youth, Robert Behnke, 17, of 2075 Marshall blvd., surrendered 14 tickets after being seized in the lobby of the Sherman. He was given back the price of the tickets minus $15, which Judge Braude ordered him to donate to the Red Cross. Behnke admitted selling two of 16 of the $7.20 tickets he had originally for twice their cost.

After selling 20 tickets, Judge Braude's personal account was 80 cents short and he shouted, "I've been robbed."

Hugh C. Sperry, 52, owner of a cleaning shop in Fort Dodge, Ia., arrested in the Morrison hotel lobby and charged with selling tickets for more than the printed price, was discharged by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in S. State st. court, as was Ernest Stromberg, 33, of 3539 Reta st., a restaurant manager, following his arrest at the Dome bar at the Sherman hotel.

Sperry said he bought two tickets for friends who were unable to attend the game and he sold them for $1.50 each over the printed price of $7.20. He said he felt he was entitled to the extra $1.50 for waiting in the cold for several hours.

Stromberg said friends had given him six tickets which he could not use and he was selling them for $1.50 over the printed price. The tickets were ordered turned over to the Service Men's centers.

TIGERS' VICTORY FAILS TO ROUSE DETROIT'S FANS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10 (AP)—When the Tigers beat the Chicago Cubs, 9 to 3, today to take their first world baseball title in 10 years Detroit accepted the news with little more than a ripple of excitement.

Ticker tape showered briefly from downtown buildings and high school youngsters snake-danced in Cadillac square, but no large scale celebration developed.

Tempo of the excitement was expected to heighten when the Tigers' special train arrived at midnight from Chicago.

A civic banquet honoring the Tigers was set for tomorrow night at a downtown hotel, with the Board of Commerce handling details. Attendance is limited to 1,000, who can eat with the champions at $10 a plate.

DARTMOUTH OFF TODAY FOR TEST AT NOTRE DAME

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 10 [Special]—A three hour practice session here today brought to a close Dartmouth's preparation for Notre Dame.

The workout was marked by the continued absence of Quarter Back Meryll Frost and Half Back Bob Albrecht. Neither of these two regulars showed any progress in recovery from injuries. Coach Tuss McLaughry will give a 17 year old freshman back, Eugene Howard of Winnetka, Ill., a starting assignment if neither Frost nor Albrecht is available. Howard is a punter. In games against Holy Cross and Penn, Frost and Albrecht have shared the kicking and passing.

On the bright side for the Big Green was the performance of Full Back Francis O'Brien, freshman giant, who ran rough shod over the second line in the brief time allotted to offensive scrimmage. The squad will leave here tomorrow afternoon and will break up the long train ride with a training session at Elkhart, Ind., on Friday afternoon.

NOTRE DAME STANDS PAT

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special]—The Notre Dame football squad had a long offensive drill this afternoon, the varsity scrimmaging against the second team, with the coaches checking individual assignments. Coach Hugh Devore, expressing dissatisfaction with the down field blocking of the varsity against Georgia Tech last Saturday, spent a lot of time on that phase of the attack.

Jimmy Brennan, freshman, and Elmer Angsman, a veteran, shared the right half back post on the first team. Devore said he'll call on the same 11 men who started the Tech game when the Irish take the field here Saturday against Dartmouth.

BY ARCH WARD

THE Detroit Tigers may be one of the weakest clubs that ever has won a world series, but they convinced 41,590 spectators in Wrigley field yesterday they are the best team in 1945 baseball. . . . They had the batting punch and pitching strength to whip a team with far greater speed and steadier defense. . . . Yesterday's victory boosted the total number of American league triumphs in world series competition to 136, as compared with 104 for the National. . . . The capacity crowd lifted the total attendance to 8,301,215 and the receipts to $29,899,717. . . . No wonder baseball is called our national game. . . . Yesterday's turnout was a far cry from the last throng that saw the Cubs in the seventh game of a world series. . . . That was on Oct. 14, 1908, in Detroit, when the smallest crowd in series history—6,210—saw the Cubs win their last world title.

Manager Grimm, disappointed over the outcome, said the Tigers are a good ball club, but no better than the Cubs. . . . "Good pitching beat us," he remarked as he reached the dressing room. . . . "You gave it a good try," he yelled to Hank Borowy, who had attempted to win three games in three successive attempts. . . . Grimm said Borowy simply didn't have his stuff after his short rest since Monday. . . . The Cub boss will leave for his home near St. Louis Friday. . . . "I'm not going to hang myself," he smiled. . . . Hy Vandenberg, who held the Tigers to one hit, a single by Jimmy Outlaw, in 3⅓ innings, will go to Huron, S. D., today, where he will participate in a charity exhibition game, after which he's going pheasant hunting with Paul Derringer. . . . Phil Cavarretta, all around star of the Cubs in the games with Detroit, plans to stay in Chicago all winter. . . . "I want to see some football contests," he said. . . . And who doesn't? . . . Commissioner Chandler, who had gone first to the Tigers' quarters to congratulate the winners, had a word of encouragement for each of the Cubs and Manager Grimm.

Thirty photographers were waiting for the Tigers to return to their dressing room. . . . They practically blinded the players when they charged into their quarters. . . . The only one who wasn't affected was Catcher Paul Richards, whose little finger on his right hand was split by a foul tip off Bill Nicholson's bat in the eighth inning. . . . Richards said Hal Newhouser had a lot of stuff for the first four innings. . . . He didn't need much after that because he had a wide lead. . . . Manager Steve O'Neill was among the last of the Tigers to arrive. . . . The first congratulations he received were from President Will Harridge of the American league, President Ford Frick of the National, and Commissioner Chandler. . . . O'Neill said the big moment of the game was Richards' double in the first inning which scored three runs. . . . The manager's biggest thrill, however, was Hank Greenberg's sacrifice that advanced runners to second and third in the opening inning. . . . O'Neill's opinion of the best five Tigers thru the series were Greenberg, Newhouser, Richards, Cramer, and Webb. . . .

Rumors inspired by writers trying to belittle the Cubs that they had limited Borowy to half a share or less of the world series split are erroneous. . . . He will get a full share, which is his due, and you will be reading it officially one of these days when Commissioner Chandler gets around to releasing the figures. . . . Chandler, incidentally, felt much happier yesterday after the overwhelming vote of confidence he received from major league owners at Tuesday's meeting. . . . He was convinced the smear campaign had failed. . . . Grant Smith, 83 year old retired druggist of Shelbyville, Ind., again was a guest of the Chandlers at yesterday's game, but the senator's father, Joe Chandler, 76, returned to his home in Lexington, Ky., after Monday's contest. . . . Borowy would have been the first pitcher since Stan Coveleskie to win three series games if he had turned in a victory yesterday. . . . Coveleskie did it for the Indians in the 1920 competition with the Dodgers. . . . Coveleskie's catcher was Steve O'Neill, manager of the Tigers, who recalled that Stan threw only 87, 88, and 89 balls, respectively in his three triumphs. . . . Three thousand standing room tickets, 500 more than at the first game in Wrigley field, were sold yesterday. . . .

Richards, Detroit veteran, whose double drove in three runs in the first inning, is going back to his off-season job as a sports writer for the Waxahachie, Tex., Light. . . . It was 25 years ago he was taken from a high school diamond in Waxahachie for a tryout with the Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . Johnny Mize, New York Giants' first baseman, visited the Cubs' bench before the game. . . . He was discharged from the navy at Great Lakes Tuesday. . . . Johnny is down to 205 pounds. . . . Parking lot operators in the vicinity of Wrigley field reduced their fee from $2 to $1 after OPA investigators had canvassed the area Sunday and Monday. . . . The temperature was 32 degrees when dawn broke on the bleacher lines. . . . It had warmed up to the mid-fifties by game time. . . . Lt. Howard Roberts, former Chicago sports writer, returned from Tokyo in time to see the last game. . . . He has been assigned to Washington. . . .

Coach Red Smith of the Cubs flew back to New York last night to join the staff of the football Giants. . . . Eddie Mayo, Detroit second baseman, said Tiger batters occasionally lost a pitch because of the center field background. . . . The bleachers were filled with khaki clad soldiers and fans in heavy wraps, which did not blur a batter's vision as much as the white shirted crowds of midsummer. . . . More than 2,300,000 words were filed by correspondents covering the series. . . . Charley Grimm received an average of 200 telegrams a day during the series. . . . He would have preferred base hits. . . .

Dizzy Trout and Bob Swift will go pheasant hunting in South Dakota after tonight's civic banquet for the Tigers in Detroit. . . . The Cubs printed 100,000 programs for the four games at Wrigley field. . . . Only 9,000 were unsold. . . . Hy Vandenberg, the Cubs' third moundsman, was born in Abilene, Kas., home town of Gen. Eisenhower. . . . Dizzy Dean, who appeared at press headquarters in the Palmer House Tuesday wearing a St. Louis Cardinal 1945 world series lapel button, came to yesterday's game sporting the Cub blue, gold, and white victory pin. . . . A report out of New York that George Trautman, president of the American association, would succeed Leslie O'Connor as Commissioner Chandler's assistant, was without foundation. . . . The one who gets the job will be a young man who has had experience in club administration. . . . Don't be surprised if he comes from the office of the Cincinnati Reds or Brooklyn Dodgers. . . . There has been no decision on the appointment. . . .

Virgil Trucks, who pitched only five and a third innings for the Tigers in the regular season, will draw a half share of the world series loot. . . . Hot dog vendors were happy the series went seven games. . . . They averaged $60 a day for the four afternoons at Wrigley field. . . . Stan Hack, who shared Cub batting honors for the series with Phil Cavarretta, left last night on a United Air Lines plane for his home in California. . . . Stan has sold his 10,000 acre ranch near Pendleton, Ore. . . . Gabby Hartnett, who managed the Jersey City team part of this season, will be with another minor league club next year. . . .

Detroit's Tigers touched off one devastating burst of power yesterday, then coasted unhurriedly into the 1945 world baseball title and the winner's end of the biggest of all post-season money pools.

With a flourish which dazed not only the National league Cubs, but 41,590 Wrigley field spectators as well, the American leaguers stampeded five runs across the plate in the opening inning of the seventh and final game. Subsequent happenings merely added runs to the Tigers' total and piled more grief on the shoulders of the vanquished.

It was the Cubs' eighth failure in 10 series in which they have been involved, their only two successes in the fall event being over the Tigers in 1907 and '08. And the Tigers, seven times flag winners, now have two world titles to their credit, the other also over the Cubs in 1935.

It's All Over Quickly

All of that which might have been world series luster was ground into a dull state because the slim Hank Borowy, attempting more iron man stuff in his fourth appearance of the series, lasted only long enough to pitch to three batters, this feeble start growing into the explosive five run first inning and launching a pitching parade that saw Paul Derringer, Hy Vandenberg, Paul Erickson, even the injured Claude Passeau, and Henry Wyse beating a path from the Cub bullpen to the mound.

But where the Cubs produced pitchers in quantity, the Tigers relied on quality in the person of the left handed Hal Newhouser. With the flying start his mates made against Borowy and Derringer, Hal didn't have to exert himself except in spots. He was undisturbed when the Cubs had him in trouble. After providing them with their bits of batting fun he put on the pressure, part of which is represented by 10 strikeouts, three of them among that many pinch batters. This lifted the lefty's strikeout total against the Cubs to 22, a new record for a seven game world series. Bill Dinneen fanned 28 in an eight game series in 1903, pitching for the Boston Red Sox against Pittsburgh.

Derringer Mauled, Too

Borowy, who made his third start of the series because he seemed to be the best of a badly mauled pitching staff, failed to retire a single Tiger. He made only nine pitches to the three batters, all of whom singled. This chaos continued until two were out in the second when Derringer, Borowy's rescuer, had to be recalled because of his failure to locate the plate, not to mention a difficulty in getting good pitches past the batters. All this accounted for six runs, the others being scored against Erickson and Passeau.

It was bad enough for the Cubs to have Newhouser on their hands, but they aso had his battery mate—the well aged Paul Richards—to contend with. The Texan's bat really shattered the Cubs' hopes, his chief blow being a double off Derringer with the bases filled in the stormy first inning. Later on Richards doubled again to drive in a run. And then he had to retire in the eighth when a foul ball off Bill Nicholson's bat split the little finger of his right hand.

Webb's Single Starts Rout

Borowy's first two pitches of the battle to Jimmy Webb furnished an indication that there was trouble immediately ahead. From there it grew into a 3 and 2 count and the next pitch was smacked by the ex-White Sox for a single into right. The hit and run sign was on when Borowy let loose his first pitch to Eddie Mayo and it was lined into right for a single, Webb taking third. Roger Cramer looped a single over third on the second pitch to score Webb and that was the end of Borowy.

Derringer took over with Hank Greenberg at the plate and the home run artist, who was bothered by a lame wrist, furnished a bunt that was handled exclusively by Phil Cavarretta. In the interest of safety first, Roy Cullenbine was purposely passed, filling the bases. Rudy York provided relief by popping out, but Jimmy Outlaw walked, forcing Mayo to score. Then came that two base thump into the left field corner by Richards to raise the inning's total to five runs.

Double Play Stops Cubs

COACH WILL TRY MAGIC TONIGHT AGAINST PARKER

His Morgan Park Eleven May Need It

High school football fans who grew to believe George La Cognata could pull rabbits from a hat and otherwise come up with magic as he guided Weber High school to its first Catholic league title last season tonight will have a chance to see if he has retained the old touch.

La Cognata now is coach at Morgan Park, which at 7:30 o'clock this evening in Shewbridge field meets a highly rated Parker eleven in a south section City league contest. Should Morgan Park win, it will be considered an upset over a team that increasingly is being boosted to finish among the city leaders.

Lost Only One Game

The legend of La Cognata as a man favored by the fates started last fall, his first year of coaching. He took a Weber squad that didn't number two full teams even with the league's special ruling that the Red Horde could use freshmen, and gave the school its first Catholic league title in history. Only in the Kelly bowl game, when Tilden scored a 13 to 7 victory, did Weber sustain defeat.

In March, George moved to Morgan Park, to coach wrestling and football. As he took over the football squad, he admitted that once again he "had to go into business on a shoestring."

Has One Veteran

"Only one veteran on a squad of 35," George said. "That's our captain, Bob Snyder, a 180 pound boy who, according to my style of play, doubles at full back and tackle.

"On the other hand," he continued, "we've got several good boys out for practice. I think our left half back, Louie Haynes, is one of the finest performers I've seen. He can stop and start on a dime and is a classy broken field runner. He's only a junior, but an experienced passer and a fair kicker. He scored three touchdowns when he beat Kelly in a practice game."

Yesterday was the birthday of the Rev. Terence Fitzgerald O. Carm., president of the Catholic league. . . . Roy Buchanan, Marshall basketball and baseball coach, is driving a cream and red midget auto with a motorcycle motor. . . . He gets away with a motorcycle license. . . . Dizzy Trout was briefly at Lindblom High school during the 1933-'34 season. . . . He went out for baseball. . . . A big league scout spotted him as he beat Englewood on one hit and that was the end of Dizzy's days at Lindblom.

Joe Ward, expected to be one of Parker's backfield stars last year until he fractured a leg in the Bowen game, now is acting as scout for Coach Tony Antonides. . . . Tony Lawless has been coaching at Fenwick for 17 years. . . . He has compiled a record of 76 victories, three ties, and 14 losses. . . . His teams have won seven sectional titles and one Catholic league championship.

Blue Island Community High school is seeking a football game away from home for Saturday, Nov. 10. . . . Schools interested may get in touch with Athletic Manager F. L. Steele, Blue Island, Ill. . . . Pullman Tech is playing in two leagues this season. . . . The south siders play in the new North Central Prep conference, and are members of the Midwest Prep conference. . . . Jean Keller has been elected head cheerleader at Sullivan this year. . . . Saturday will be Dads' day at Morgan Park Military academy. . . . The south side cadets meet the Onarga Military academy eleven as a feature of the day. . . . Fathers, cadets, and the faculty will have a dinner after the contest. . . .

Purdue Drills to Stop Long Iowa Passes

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special]—Methods of stopping Iowa's long passing attack, spearheaded by the accurate hurling of the veteran Jerry Niles, were outlined by Coach Cecil Isbell as he sent Purdue's squad thru an extended defensive drill this afternoon in preparation for the homecoming battle with the Hawkeyes here Saturday.

Isbell continued to make experimental shifts in the back held alignment, due to injuries to George Mihal and Dave Shaw. It appeared likely that Ernest Dobrzyskowski, South Bend freshman, will be assigned the full back berth, with Ed Cody continuing to pinch hit at right half back.

HOOSIERS ARE CHEERED

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special]—Encouraged by the improvement in running of two right half backs, Coach Bo McMillin sent the Indiana football squad thru another hard workout today to prepare for the opening home game against Nebraska on Saturday.

McMillin said that Dick Deranek, regular 1944 wing back, now is running his best since a shoulder injury kept him out of the starting line-up against Michigan three weeks ago. Deranek averaged seven yards for Indiana last year, but has been unable to play for very long yet this season.

N. U. PROMOTES WHAN

Don Whan, 18 year old freshman from Rock Island, moved up to first string full back on Northwestern's football team yesterday. The hard hitting youngster turned in a good performance against Michigan and may get the starting call against Minnesota a week from Saturday.

The full back spot, which has been a problem in Coach Lynn Waldorf's plans this fall, was further strengthened by the addition of Bill Hershberger of McKees Rock, Pa., recently discharged from the navy.

Historian Will Top Field in Distance Race

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Herbert M. Woolf's Historian, winner of five consecutive races, will be sent out by Trainer Monte Weil at Hawthorne tomorrow in quest of the $5,000 Columbus day handicap, an overnight affair at two miles and 70 yards, one of the longest races of the Chicago season.

Historian won at a mile and a quarter last Saturday and will face virtually the same field which includes L. and M. Sidell's Layout, Clyde Troutt's Cerberus, Dave Zakoor's Canadian thorobred, Stand Easy, B. C. Kelley's Vanflag, W. T. Beezley's Alaflag, Happy Hour farm's Miss Bobolink, G. and W. Schultz's Ace of Spades, and Jack Lustgarten's Miss Rink.

Daily Double Pays $59.40

Yesterday's program drew a crowd estimated at 9,000 which was cheered with a sprinkling of long-shot victories and a $59.40 daily double. Mrs. J. P. Keezek's Bolo Prince, a 10 to 1 shot, won the first race with Rafael Sanabria up and returned $23.60. L. B. Combs' well backed Dark Jungle accounted for the second at $5.

Ben Fogelson's Pomp's Gal, piloted by Steve Brooks, took the fourth and paid $18 after nipping J. M. Hutchins' My Star at the line.

Andy LoTurco scored a triple with Brent and Talbot's Tiger Rebel, a 7 to 1 affair in the featured $3,500 Lincolnwood purse at a mile and sixteenth. The winner just nosed out David Straus' even money favorite, Daily Trouble, and paid $16.60. Bryan Wise's Bushwhacker was third in a seven horse field.

Damos Is Disqualified

Damos, owned by Charles S. Handelman and ridden by Freddy Smith, was disqualified after finishing in front of Mrs. A. M. Creech's Diavoloman and Joe Kohout's Chance Taker in the seventh race and placed third. Damos impeded the other contenders in midstretch, but the jockey was held blameless.

The handle was $841,141.

BADLY BRUISED BEARS TO MEET CARDS SUNDAY

Hugh Gallarneau Hopes to Leave Hospital Today

BY EDWARD PRELL

The Chicago Bears will move into Wrigley field tomorrow where they will be called upon Sunday to begin protecting a string of unbroken successes on their home premises stretching over four seasons. Tho the Bears right now are in an embarrasing position with two defeats in two National league starts they have not lost in Wrigley field since November, 1941. That was the day the Green Bay Packers won, 16 to 14, requiring a western division play-off in which the Bears triumphed.

Sunday's job is against the Chicago Cardinals, a team which has lost all three of its league assignments. In other years these two teams were not to be mentioned in the same breath, but this time the Cards appear to have them clearly outmanned. At least nine Bears are injured or sick, and they're in the grip of such ailments as Ed Sprinkle's fractured jaw, George Zorich's dislocated wrist, Capt. George Wilson's injured knee, Rudy Smeja's pleurisy, Sid Luckman's broken nose, Tipp Mooney's bruised leg, Abe Croft's sprained back, and Hugh Gallarneau's ptomaine poisoning.

Gallarneau May Practice Today

This might not be as serious as it seems as Smeja is tossing off the pleurisy attack and Gallarneau said last night from his cot in Illinois Masonic hospital that he hopes to escape in time for today's practice at Amundson High school. Croft, who fell over a tackling dummy at the team's Collegeville, Ind., camp last August, has recovered to such an extent that he appears to be one of the healthier fellows on the squad.

"And this isn't all," said Co-Coach Luke Johnsos, who hasn't lost his humor with the Bears' sag, "the coaches' feelings are somewhat bruised."

These assorted infirmities failed to prevent a scrimmage yesterday, which had its bright and its dull spots. Luckman, whose nose was cracked in the Green Bay game and again bashed Sunday in Cleveland, will be equipped with a nose guard in the Cardinal game. The Bears, still sorely missing Bulldog Turner of the army, have picked up Milt Bucinich, who played center at Stanford a few years ago. The other centers are Fred Mundee and John Schiechl.

Balasz Reports to Cardinals

The Cardinals had another delightful development yesterday when Frank Balasz, former Packer and University of Iowa full back, reported. He will duel Al Drulis, a former soldier, for the job. Balasz served three years in the marines.

While the Cardinals and Bears have welcomed the return of service men it has been their experience to date that the fellows are not able to start in where they left off. Gallarneau and Lee Artoe, for instance, are far from their pre-war form with the Bears. Hugh believes that when the second game with the Packers rolls around, on Nov. 4, he will slightly resemble his former self.

Phil Handler, coach of the Cardinals, has welcomed and said goodby these last two weeks to more football players than he thought existed. Handler has discovered that the changing personnel slows up the task of welding units which are familiar with the offensive and defensive systems.

LEAD AT STAKE TONIGHT; PRIMAS FACE MONARCHS

The Monarch Beers, sparked by Joe Wilman, and the Prima Beers, first place team, will share the spotlight in the Classic Bowling league tonight when they meet in Bryn Mawr recreation in a contest expected to play an important role in the title outcome. Altho the Monarchs are in a third place tie, they are only two games behind the Primas.

Tonight's match will help Wilman back into stride for a three game block he will roll tomorrow in Dearborn-Jackson recreation against Twinkle Watts, 11 year old bowling and ice skating star.

Following is tonight's league schedule:

At Bryn Mawr—Monarch vs. Prima; Thompson's Restaurants vs. Meister Brau; Chapin-Gore vs. Congress Arcade.
At Gateway—Washington Shirts vs. Sunkist Pins; Mobilgas vs. White Shirt Colognes; Jiffy Ball Kleen vs. Veas Belting.

COLONELS MAKE IT 3 STRAIGHT OVER BEARS, 8-3

Newark, N. J., Oct. 10 (AP)—The Louisville Colonels tonight whipped the Newark Bears, 8 to 3, for their third straight little world series victory. The American association team rapped Frank Hiller and Jack Farmer for 13 hits. Score:

Newark	001	100	100	3	5 3

Batteries—Terry and Walters; Hiller, Farmer, and Van Grofski.

U. S. G. A. Heads Confer on 1946 Tourney Dates

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The executive committee of the United States Golf association met today to determine the dates and sites of the 1946 National Open, National Amateur, and Women's National, all of which were suspended during the war. President Morton Brogue said no announcement would be made until next week.

Grissom, Former Major Leaguer, Gets Discharge

Denver, Colo., Oct. 10 (AP)—Lee T. Grissom of Red Bluff, Cal., former big league pitcher, received an honorable discharge from the army air forces today at Lowry field. Before entering the service, he pitched for Philadelphia, Brooklyn, and Cincinnati in the National league and New York in the American.

TIGERS WALLOP CUBS, 9-3; WIN WORLD SERIES!

but not enough of them. Stan Hack led off with three strikes and Don Johnson, after ignoring one pitch that was wide, doubled into left center. He remained at second while Newhouser was kicking a roller long enough for Harry Lowrey to reach first safely. Cavarretta worked the count to 2 and 2 before singling to right, Johnson scoring and Lowrey scooting to third. But the remainder of the inning was wiped out in a hurry by Andy Pafko's double play grounder to Webb.

Derringer progressed nicely in the second inning until he retired two batters and then went into the spin that carried him to his clubhouse locker. Cramer launched this slight flurry by singling to right for his second hit, whereupon Derringer lost control to such extent that he walked Greenberg, Cullenbine, and York in succession, forcing Cramer to score. Vandenberg stepped in and in and tossed out Outlaw to conclude the inning.

Cubs Get a Gift Run

The Cubs crashed thru with a run in the fourth, making the score 6 to 2. With one out, Cavarretta singled to center for his second hit and Pafko paddled a fly deep into dead center. There was ample room for the 40 year old Cramer to make the catch, but he lost his bearings and the ball dropped for a triple. Cavarretta scoring. Nicholson tapped harmlessly to Newhouser and so did Mickey Livingston for the third out.

Erickson, who came into the game in the sixth after Vandenberg retired for a pinch batter, escaped damage despite Cramer's single and steal in that inning. But he met up with Richards in the seventh and things happened. Big Paul started the seventh by walking Cullenbine, after which York looked at a third strike and Outlaw lined to Pafko. Then Richards came up with his second two bagger—a drive to right center—Cullenbine scoring the Tigers' seventh run.

Passeau Runs Into Trouble

The first batter faced by Passeau in the eighth was Webb, who walked. Mayo, with the count 3 and 2, lined a double over third, Webb scoring. Mayo moved to third while Johnson was throwing out Cramer, and registered the last Detroit run on Greenberg's liner to Lowrey.

With one out in the home eighth, Lowrey arched a single into left and sprinted to third on Cavarretta's line single into center. Pafko put a crimp in the proceedings by fanning and Nicholson, who previously hadn't hit a ball beyond the infield, doubled to left, scoring Lowrey. Newhouser tightened up again and fanned Livingston.

The only delay thereafter was a single with which Roy Hughes opened the ninth but Newhouser knocked off the next three men, one of them being Pinch Batter Clyde McCullough, who was Hal's 10th strikeout victim.

Lack of Reserves Biggest Wisconsin, Purdue Problem

BY WILFRID SMITH

Purdue and Wisconsin, which collaborated last Saturday in serving up the best Western conference game of four played, share a common weakness. Each lacks reserve strength. This handicap should be apparent Saturday when Wisconsin plays at Ohio State and the situation will be duplicated the following week when Purdue meets the same team.

Ohio State can muster three back fields and the third group, playing in the late minutes against tired opponents, can be devastatingly effective as Iowa learned Saturday when the Hawkeyes yielded three touchdowns in 10 minutes to lose 42 to 0. Ohio State also has at least two competent workmen for each of the line positions.

Badgers Have Chance

Victory may not be out of Wisconsin's reach at Ohio State this week, but if the Badgers win, it should be marked an upset of greater proportions than Indiana's opening day victory over Michigan.

On the evidence of the Wisconsin-Purdue game, which the Boilermakers won, 13 to 7, the Badgers seem to have greater stamina than their conquerors had.

Purdue meets Iowa in Lafayette Saturday and while the Boilermakers' lack of reserves should not be glaringly noticeable because of the Hawkeyes' mediocrity in the line, there is the undisputable record that Purdue, in three games this season, has been a first half team. Purdue scored twice in the first half against Marquette and then won, 14 to 13, by the margin of Marquette's failure to add the point after its first touchdown.

Niles Leads Iowa Attack

At Great Lakes the next week Purdue scored twice in the first half and led, 13 to 6. In the final quarter the Boilermakers tallied again but the Bluejackets, beaten by Michigan, 27 to 2, and tied by Wisconsin in a rainstorm, do not measure to conference competition.

Iowa scarcely can penetrate Purdue's line consistently, but Clem Crowe, who succeeded Slip Madigan as head coach this season, possibly has the best Hawkeye team since the war cut down personnel. In Jerry Niles, Iowa has a forward passer who is as accurate as any in the conference. He will match Purdue's freshman, Bob De Moss, and against Ohio State he demonstrated coolness under more pressure than the Boilermakers may provide.

Only Two Conference Games

These two games complete the conference schedule for Saturday, the last hiatus before the stretch run for the title. Minnesota, Illinois, and Northwestern do not play. Indiana entertains Nebraska in what should be a pleasant afternoon for the home folk who will see their boys for the first time. Indiana has met Michigan, Northwestern, and Illinois on successive Saturdays away from home and is undefeated, tho Northwestern managed a 7 to 7 tie.

Michigan's steadily improving squad—as witness the 20 to 7 victory over Northwestern—plays the United States Military academy in New York's Yankee stadium Saturday. Army's undefeated national champions of 1944 should overpower Michigan, for many believe this Army squad stronger than last year's.

Dartmouth is Notre Dame's opponent Saturday in the second of three home games for the Irish. Notre Dame won, 64 to 0, last year in Boston and the Dartmouth Indians, beaten last Saturday by Pennsylvania, 12 to 0, scarcely should have any more luck against the Irish than Georgia Tech had last week. More and more it seems that Notre Dame may match last year's record of eight victories and two defeats. Navy and Army administered the 1944 lickings and still are rated stronger than Notre Dame.

104 REPORT AT NOTRE DAME FOR 1ST BASKET DRILL

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 10 [Special]—One hundred four candidates responded to Coach Elmer Ripley's first call for basketball practice this afternoon as Notre Dame started pre-season workouts for its first game, Dec. 8 against Camp Atterbury.

Among the group reporting were Capt. Billy Hassett, star guard last year, and John Dee, high scoring forward. Two more members of the 1944-'45 squad, George Ratterman and Frank Gilhooley, will report later in the fall.

that 12 inning thriller. The previous longest series game in time was 2 hours and 54 minutes, not so much longer than yesterday's 2 hour and 31 minute windup.

The world series just closed was the 15th million dollar event, the first of which was between the Giants and Yankees in 1923.

It was the 42d world series and the total gross receipts in this one lifted the all-time total to $29,899,717. A total of 8,301,215 have paid to see the fall classics between National and American league champions. In 136 games they have seen the American leaguers win; 104 times the National leaguers have been triumphant.

Cubs' Best Since 1908

The Cubs, by winning three games achieved their highest victory total since they took four out of five from the Tigers in 1908. In 1929 the Cubs won one out of five from the Athletics; in 1932 they lost four straight to the Yankees; in 1935 they too two out of six from the Tigers, then again lost four straight to the Yankees. So our boys are getting closer. Maybe next year?

Capt. Phil Cavarretta, National league batting champion with a mark of .355, played every inning of the series and made 11 hits in 26 times at bat for an average of .423. Phil tied four other players who have batted more than .400 in two series. He knocked the only Cub homer and two doubles. Stan Hack led all regulars in the series prior to yesterday's game with an even .400. Yesterday, however, he was stopped five times by Hal Newhouser, which cut him down to a still handsome .367.

Mickey Livingston, Cub catcher, also was one of the hitting stars of the series. Mickey was at bat 22 times and made 8 hits for an average of .367.

Bill Nicholson continued to suffer mental anguish over his hitting as he did all season, but managed to lead both clubs in runs-batted-in with eight, tho he batted only .214.

Other series items worth noting include:

Most chances by outfielder—Andy Pafko, 27.
Most earned runs off pitcher who has won two or more games in a series—Newhouser, 14; old record, 13 in 8 game series.
Hank Greenberg became the 13th player to bat more than .300 in three series.
Most runs by losing team in a series—29 by Cubs; old record, 28 in 1909 and equaled in 1940.
Most bases on balls, one club—33, by the Cubs; old record, 31 in 1926.

Bruins' Famous Line Will Play Hockey Again

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 10 (AP)—The famous Kitchener trio of Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt, and Porky Dumart—reunited as a professional hockey line after three and a half years' service with the royal Canadian air force—left tonight for Quebec to join the Boston Bruins of the National league in training.

Schmidt and Dumart returned last week from overseas service as physical training instructors. Bauer, a radio mechanic, returned several months ago.

WOMEN TO BOWL MAY 2

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 10 [AP]—Mrs. Emma Phaler of Columbus, O., executive secretary of the Women's International Bowling Congress, announced today that the international tournament would open in Kansas City May 2.

The $44 Hand-made Shoes—The $6.60 REGALS
This conservative town shoe was created by Oliver Moore, noted New York custom-bootmaker — who hand-makes them to sell at $44 the pair. Regal craftsmen reproduce them so accurately that experts are amazed. They're best quality black and brown calf — and mass production brings their price to just $6.60!
Get a good fit — with Regal's exclusive "Prescription Fitting" — which measures both feet in standing and walking positions.

SHIP CONTROL BATTLE HEADS TOWARD COURT

Ask Speedier Shift to Private Use

BY CHARLES GOTTHART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

New York, Oct. 10—Court action to force the early return of many privately owned ships taken over by the government was forecast today unless federal authorities expedite the shift back to private operation under "reasonable" financial terms.

Ship owners who wish to resume their regular traffic and develop new world trade routes said the litigation would be based on two factors:

1. Owners of vessels laid up while the government operates its own war built fleet are being deprived of their normal revenue and are asked to accept nominal fees from the war shipping administration.

Bigger Gains Not Shared

2. Frate rates in many instances are higher than they would be under private operation, even allowing for war time increases in labor and fuel costs, but there is no sharing of the increased income from government operation.

To halt the drift toward what one leading shipper termed "financial suicide," the industry has been pressing Washington for early action on the disposition of the war time shipping pool of allied and neutral nations, and on ship sales bills pending in congress.

WSA policy followed since the end of the war, to the dissatisfaction of many in the industry, is evidenced by its action in the case of the SS Colabee, owned by the Illinois Atlantic corporation, a subsidiary of the Tribune company.

Offer Nonuse Charter

On Sept. 21, the WSA notified agents for the ship that the Colabee was in excess of current requirements and would be laid up. Later, a bareboat charter was tendered, the WSA offering $8,830 a month, or $1 per ton of carrying capacity.

The tender was refused, for the reason that if the ship were employed in her former trade, that of carrying newsprint from Canadian ports to the United States, she would yield the owners far more revenue than the government agency offered.

Shipping men said under government operation, utilizing ships assigned from the united maritime authority pool, the cost of transporting a ton of newsprint has been $6, whereas the Colabee could handle the shipment over the same route at $2.55, altho the latter figure does not include depreciation and similar charges. All related costs, however, would leave the charge far below the government figure, it was said.

Would Test WSA Authority

The court action, in the instances of the Colabee and the owners of other ships in the surplus pool, was predicted as a means to test WSA authority to force acceptance of terms considered arbitrary. In rejecting the WSA tender, the owners of the Colabee pressed their demand to reacquire the ship for operation in its regular trade.

More than 100 ships already are tied up as surplus, and several hundred more may eventually be placed in the pool. Largely made up of war built Liberties, the surplus pool also includes many that were privately operated before the war. Government policy indicates a desire to scrap older ships and sell government built vessels to the former operators, but many, including the owners of the Colabee, prefer their own ships because of satisfactory performance in specific trades.

Railway Chief Backs Easing of Trust Law

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10—R. L. Williams of Chicago, president of the Chicago and North Western Railway, today urged congress to enact legislation to guide railroads "in carrying out the expressed purpose of our national transportation policy."

R. L. Williams

Testifying before a house interstate and foreign commerce subcommittee in support of the Bulwinkle bill, Williams said that the railroads are faced with a situation in which procedures they believe necessary to carry out the spirit of one law are held to be in violation of another federal statute.

Provides Trust Immunity

The bill provides that agreements among railroads to carry out transportation policy laid down by the interstate commerce act and approved by the interstate commerce commission should not be considered in violation of anti-trust laws. The policy calls for fast, efficient service, reasonable rates, and elimination of destructive competition.

"The act is clear as to the results we must achieve," Williams said. "Our rates must be just and reasonable, we must not extend to any community or person undue preference, nor unduly discriminate against them. Yet the law provides no adequate guide as to the procedure we may employ in accomplishing those desirable results. As the law now stands, we must proceed at our peril."

Only Courts Can Rule—Later

Under the present law, said Williams, only the courts can decide the legality of conference and coöperation procedures which the railroads consider essential to the nation's economic and commercial welfare. Such court decisions are made after and not before the procedures have been employed and do not provide a satisfactory guide for the entire railroad system, he asserted.

Enactment of the Bulwinkle bill would give the ICC authority to carry out provisions of the law it is required to administer, he said, terming this necessary to implement reconversion and rehabilitation of the railroads.

Williams said the experience and expert knowledge of the ICC qualify it to carry out the provisions of the law. In addition, he said, a uniform policy is necessary and can be achieved only thru placing authority in a single federal agency.

CATTLE, LAMBS CLIMB AS MEAT SUPPLY SHRINKS

Cattle and lamb prices rose yesterday and most hogs and choice steers sold at ceiling levels in Chicago. Underlying the market strength was a tightening meat supply in wholesale channels. Signs multiplied that a new shortage was developing, instead of the abundance expected when the seasonal movement of range cattle started. Supplies of all kinds of meat animals were below normal.

Buyers were on hand even before daylight bidding for volume. Eastern order buyers paid the $18 a hundred pounds ceiling for steers at 5:30 a. m., and by the end of trading more than 50 carloads had passed over the scales at this price. The average of all steers for the session reached $17.10, the highest since 1919, and a new October high.

Strong to 10 cents higher prices were paid for lambs, with best going to eastern buyers at $14.50.

Atlantic Plane Priorities Expected to End Monday

Bonham M. Fox, district traffic manager of American Airlines, said yesterday he had been advised that all priorities on trans-Atlantic air travel would be abolished Monday. The war department last month said domestic travel priorities would be abolished on that date.

N. Y. DIRECTORS RULE AMERICAN CAN OPERATION

Officers Far from Main Facilities

Fifty-seven manufacturing plants of the huge American Can company are directed from main offices at 230 Park av., New York City, far from the nation's food capital. All 15 directors of the company, largest maker of metal food containers, list New York City addresses.

In the immediate Chicago area the company operates six plants and in the central states region, most important of the company's three divisions from a manufacturing standpoint, it has 16 plants.

Among the largest of the company's customers are the meat, vegetable, and fruit canning industries. The company turns out millions of tin food containers, a substantial portion of which are used to pack food produced in the Chicago area. But not a single resident of the middle or the far west has a voice in the board that directs the company's affairs.

Big Laboratory in Maywood

Other than the six plants in the immediate Chicago area the company operates factories in Indianapolis, Terre Haute, and Austin, Ind.; Cleveland and Toledo, O.; St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo.; St. Paul, Minn.; Newcastle, Pa., and Hoopeston, Ill. Machine shops are operated in Waukegan, Ill., and Cincinnati, O.

The company maintains a large research laboratory in suburban Maywood, on the staff of which are some of the foremost authorities on food packing. Of a total of 25,000 workers about 10,000 are employed in the central states' operations.

As the food packing center of the nation, Chicago is the market for much of the company's production. It is also the center of the agricultural region that produces a large part of the food that goes into the company's containers. As a steel making center it supplies the tin plate from which the metal containers are manufactured.

Chicago Head Not on Board

Chicago is the headquarters of the company's central division operations, which are in charge of Gordon H. Kellogg, vice president. The Chicago vice president, however, is not a member of the board of directors, the chairman of which is Maurice J. Sullivan of New York. President of the company is D. W. Figgis of New York.

Like other large manufacturing companies put together and financed in another era by New York capital, the company's board retains its strictly New York flavor. Whatever advantage may once have existed for locating near the big New York financing institutions and electing only New York directors has ceased to exist in the opinion of observers. Adequate banking facilities exist elsewhere in the country to finance business of the companies. New capital can be raised by such enterprises even if the directors and officers do not have daily social or business contacts with partners of New York investment firms.

Insurance Group Lends St. Regis Paper 15 Million

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—The St. Regis Paper company announced today it had sold to a group of insurance companies 15 million dollars of 3 per cent 20 year debentures at an interest cost of 2.90 per cent. Participating in the loan were the Metropolitan Life, John Hancock, Massachusetts Mutual, and Aetna Life. Proceeds will finance an expansion program.

Clarify Wage, Price Policy, Snyder Urged

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Reconversion Director Snyder was under increasing pressure today to declare a new government wage and price policy to stem the tide of labor unrest.

Two officials of the office of war mobilization and reconversion disclosed in interviews that economists and advisers in that agency are almost unanimous in the belief that action by Snyder or President Truman is imperative. The two officials requested that their names not be published.

They hold that a wage increase of about 15 per cent, on the average, could be allowed with no appreciable inflationary effect on price levels.

Seek to Avoid Strikes

They contend the general level of factory wages would rise about that much—perhaps more—if the issue were bargained out by unions and employers or battled out on the picket lines.

But in the meantime, they say, the return to high output of civilian goods would be slowed by more strikes, which might be avoided if the government took the leadership in providing a wage-price pattern.

A government declaration would carry the assurance that employers could get office of price administration consideration to cover their wage boosts up to the 15 per cent or other prescribed level. For wage increases beyond that point, there would be no assurance of price relief.

Price Rise Would Be "Safe"

In the opinion of government economists, an average increase of 15 per cent would increase prices about 2 or 2½ per cent—a supposedly "safe" rise in living costs.

"We cannot go thru the reconversion period sitting on the wage lid," one of the interviewed officials said. He admitted there was "much commotion and confusion" in the government on the issue.

"I believe the government has made a serious mistake in adopting a negative or hands-off policy instead of a positive one," he said.

The government should either lay down a new Little Steel policy, he held, or, in handling some test case, declare that a wage increase is possible to offset workers' loss of high war time pay.

Dr. Harley L. Lutz

Dr. Harley L. Lutz, professor of public finance at Princeton university and director of research for the committee on post-war tax policy, will address a group of industrial and business leaders at a dinner tonight in the Chicago club. He will discuss the committee's recent recommendations to congress for extensive revisions of federal taxes.

Appointment of Clifford G. Strote as purchasing agent for the H. C. Frick Coke, United States Coal and Coke, and their associated companies, was announced yesterday by Harry M. Moses, president of these United States Steel corporation subsidiaries.

Crop Outlook Good Despite Bad Weather

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP)—Crop prospects deteriorated slightly in September, but aggregate production is expected to equal record outputs of 1942 and 1944, the department of agriculture said today. Food grain output is the largest on record and feed grain the second largest.

Total farm production of live stock and live stock products this year likely will fall about 5 per cent below the 1943 peak. However, it is expected to about equal last year.

Milk Output to Set Peak

The department predicted the production of all meat animals and poultry will total about 45 billion pounds, live weight, compared with about 51 billion in 1943. Milk promises to establish a new record of about 123 billion pounds.

The department said a few crops were adversely affected by wet weather, some drouth, extremes in temperature, and early frosts.

On the basis of Oct. 1 conditions, production includes record crops of wheat, oats, rice, soybeans, peanuts, tobacco, peaches, pears, early and midseason oranges, grapefruit, and truck crops.

Corn Estimate Raised

Prospects for another 3 billion bushel corn crop were strengthened. The Oct. 1 estimate placed the crop at 3,078,126,000 bushels, compared with 3,069,055,000 a month earlier. Reflecting the fact that killing frosts caught some before maturity, the department estimated that about 87 per cent will be harvested for grain compared with 90 per cent last year. The remainder will be diverted to silage, forage, or pasture.

U. S. Steel's Shipments Decrease in September

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Shipments of finished steel products by subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation in September totaled 1,321,576 tons, compared with 1,332,180 in August and 1,733,602 in September, 1944.

AVIATION CORP. AIR LINE RULE UNDER ATTACK

Opposition of CAB Is Explained

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10 (AP).—The civil aeronautics board today ruled the Aviation corporation had acquired control of American Airlines, Inc., and that such control is not consistent with the public interest. Aviation corporation by Oct. 15 must show cause why the board should not order it to give up control of American.

If the order is adopted Aviation would be directed to reduce its ownership of American voting stock to a maximum of 4 per cent by July 31, 1946. The board held that Aviation owned about 287,538 shares or approximately 22.28 per cent of American's outstanding common stock and that this constitutes the largest single holding.

[In New York Victor Emanuel, chairman of Aviation corporation, said that the company does "not exercise any control over American Airlines and has no representatives among the officers or directors of the air line."]

Also Ruled a Producer

"By reason of its ownership of such stock, the Aviation corporation has acquired and holds control of American Airlines, Inc.," the board ruled.

Aviation, which the board said also controls Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation, produces aircraft, aircraft engines, and aircraft parts.

The board said the existing arrangement might deprive American and American Export Airlines, Inc., which American controls, "of their property and necessary freedom of judgment in the selection, purchase, and use of aircraft and equipment and might raise conflicts of private interests which would be inconsistent with the public interest in air transportation."

STOCK ACQUIRED IN 1941

Aviation corporation's present holdings of American Airlines stock were acquired in 1941 thru conversion of the transport company's debentures, after the corporation had once divested itself of all interest in the line. In 1934, Aviation, then controled by E. L. Cord and associates, organized American Airlines as a wholly owned subsidiary.

In compliance with the air mail act of that year, requiring separation of domestic air mail carriers from any other aircraft organization, all American Airlines stock was transferred first to trustees and in 1935 was distributed to Aviation stockholders in partial liquidation. The present holdings were deposited with a trustee under an agreement which does not permit voting of the stock and which expires six months after the end of the war.

TERMINAL RAIL BONDS WON, SOLD BY FIRST BOSTON

A new issue of $40,312,000 of Terminal Railroad Association of St. Louis refunding and improvement mortgage bonds due Oct. 1, 1985, yesterday was awarded to a group headed by the First Boston corporation at 101.829 for a 2¾ per cent interest rate. The group, which won over others headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. and Morgan Stanley & Co., reoffered and sold the bonds, subject to formal award, at 102.53.

A group headed by Harriman Ripley & Co. today will offer at par 89,408 shares of Murray Corporation of America 4 per cent $50 par preferred stock, the unsubscribed portion of 104,500 shares offered common stock holders.

Submit Plans to Nationalize British Bank

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Britain's new Labor government moved in commons today to convert the Bank of England into public property.

Nationalization of the 250 year old institution was made the first major measure in Labor's far reaching program of social legislation.

Hugh Dalton, chancellor of the exchequer, presented a bill designed to bring the bank's capital stock into public ownership, place the bank under public control, and determine relations between the treasury, the Bank of England and other banks.

Payment Plan Disclosed

The bill provides that holders of bank stock would surrender their shares for 3 per cent government stock. This stock would be issued in an amount sufficient to assure an annual return equal to the average annual gross dividend declared in the 20 year period ended last March 21. Gross dividends have been 12 per cent since 1923.

The measure also provides for putting the bank under the administration of a governor, deputy governor and a court of directors, appointed by the king. Members of parliament and other government office holders would be ineligible to serve.

Capital Is $58,212,000

The bank's capital is 14,553,000 pounds [$58,212,000], a level to which it was raised in 1816, almost a century and a quarter after it came into existence in the reign of William and Mary.

The Labor majority is potent enough to carry the bill thru commons, but in the house of lords the Conservatives hold a four to one majority. The key to action there lies in whether the bill is termed a money bill or non-money bill. The lords can hold up a non-money bill for two years, but may not delay a money measure.

GRAINS HIGHER AS CCC ENTERS WHEAT MARKET

All grain futures prices rose yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade on buying attributed to the announcement the Commodity Credit corporation was in the market for cash wheat for the first time in more than a month. The CCC was bidding the prevailing price, or about 11 cents a bushel more than it paid earlier in the season.

All deliveries of wheat sold at new seasonal peaks with December at a new 20 year high of $1.78 a bushel, up 1¾ cents from Tuesday before profit taking caused a reaction. Distant deliveries of corn and oats sold at new seasonal peaks as did December and May rye. Closing trades in wheat were at net gains of 1 to 1⅝ cents. Other gains were: Corn, ⅛ to ½, oats ⅜ to ⅝, rye ⅜ to 1⅛, and barley ¼ cent.

Ceiling prices plus permissible markups were bid by the CCC for spring wheat at Duluth for shipment to the Atlantic seaboard,

STEEL, RUBBER STOCKS LEAD IN NEW ADVANCES

Childs Issues Rise on Court Ruling

MARKET HOLIDAY

The New York Stock and Curb exchanges and the Chicago Stock exchange will close tomorrow in observance of Columbus day and remain closed Saturday. Commodity markets, including the Chicago Board of Trade, will close tomorrow, but will be open Saturday. Banks will be closed tomorrow.

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Stock market prices again moved to new 8½ year peaks today under the leadership of rails, steels, rubbers, and selected industrials.

Most groups closed at the highest levels with gains of fractions to about two points registered in retail stores, farm implements, aircrafts, chemicals, oils, specialties, and some utilities.

New highs for 1945 and longer were liberally sprinkled thru the list and included United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Goodrich, United States Rubber, Western Union A, Dow Chemical, Pullman, and Childs.

Trading Volume Increases

Of 999 issues dealt in, 538 advanced, 249 declined, and 212 were unchanged. The Associated Press 60 stock composite rose 0.2 to 72.6—high since March 17, 1937. Transactions totaled 1,700,000 shares against 1,640,000 yesterday.

Childs issues were spectacular gainers after court permission to distribute 25 per cent on the principal amout of all allowed claims against the concern. The common rose 1⅛ to 8½ on the big board and the preferred soared 14½ to 130 on the curb.

CHICAGO LIST ADVANCES

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday as transactions fell to 53,000 shares. Actively traded issues included Miller & Hart, Standard Dredging, and Asbestos Manufacturing, each unchanged, and Chicago corporation and Commonwealth Edison, each up ⅛. Among nine issues at new 1945 highs were Republic Steel, up 1⅛, and Standard Oil [Indiana] and Yates American Machine, each up 1.

RAILROAD BONDS CLIMB

New York, Oct. 10 (AP)—Selected rails advanced fractions to 2 points in a more active bond market today as industrials and utilities held about steady. Further evidence of investment demand was given by the market's quick absorption of more than 80 million dollars in new issues offered.

E. J. BRACH & SONS

I wish information concerning E. J. Brach & Sons. What is the dividend record?—S. U.

Primarily the company is a manufacturer of candies sold in bulk, but packaged sales are important. Brach in recent years has made progress in the candy bar field. Sales increased each year from $9,174,000 in 1939 to $25,348,000 in 1944, including a substantial volume for the government and Red Cross.

A rise in profit last year to $6.19 a share on 198,860 shares from $3.13 in 1943 is regarded as partly a result of abnormal war time marketing conditions. Since 1934 the company had shown relatively stable earnings. They were $1.90 a share in 1937, $2.80 in 1939, $2.26 in 1940, $2.24 in 1941, and $2.29 in 1942.

No interim financial reports are issued by the company, but this year's sales are not expected to equal last year's peak. At present sugar consumption for civilian candies is limited to 50 per cent of 1941 use, but raw material supplies are expected to improve soon.

The Brach business was established in Chicago with a capital of $1,000 in 1904, and its plant now has a weekly capacity of more than 3 million pounds. Common dividends have been paid yearly since 1926. Payments in recent years were: 1944, $1.87½; 1943, $1.50; 1942, and 1941, $1.20; 1940, 70 cents. Three quarterly payments of 37½ cents each have been made this year.

Net working capital at the end of last year was $3,781,000, with no funded debt or preferred stock. Book value was equal to $31.21 a share.

Organized Labor Wins Wage Boosts

30 Troop Sleepers Lost

Since the walkout started last week, the company estimated, the strikers have lost $60,000 in wages and production has been reduced by 90 troop sleepers.

A strike at the Vogue-Wright Studios, Inc., 459 E. Ohio st., was terminated, but 14 other Chicago area employers were still affected by disputes which prevented 9,008 employes from working.

The Vogue-Wright strike, which started Sept. 20, dwindled until only 25 persons were out. Local 2, United Commercial Artists and Photographers' union [AFL], ordered them back to work, Capt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, said.

Altho 400 members of local 44, United Packinghouse Workers' union [CIO], employed as stock handlers for the Union Stockyards and Transit company, have served notice that they want a strike vote, the NLRB said it has not received notice from Washington.

15 Cent Raise Refused

The stock handlers voted recently to strike because the company rejected their request for a 15 cent hourly wage increase, Joseph Kinch, district representative of the union, said. The strike vote petition was filed last month and the union expected to vote about Oct. 14.

Thomas Canty, president of local 16, International Typographical union [AFL], which has been carrying on a strike in commercial printing plants since Oct. 3, said that 1,990 members have qualified for strike benefits, which will be paid today. Married members on strike will receive $26.35 a week and unmarried strikers $16.45.

An official of the Harlich Manufacturing company, 1417 Jackson blvd., where 495 employes struck Tuesday, said the company is negotiating with local 182 of the Bindery Help and Specialty Workers union [AFL], for a settlement.
